Society Takes Over

Coliseum Will Be Controlled By Fair Board

The Marion County Agricultural Society Wednesday night decided to assume immediate active management of the Veterans Memorial Coliseum.

It did not, however, dissolve the board of governors of the Coliseum, which it created to operate the Coliseum when it was opened.

The action followed discussion of a state examiner's special audit of the Coliseum. The examiner charged mismanagement and declared his belief that the Coliseum board of governors was an illegal body, since two of its members were not members of the agricultural society.

In its first move to straighten out the tangled affairs of the Coliseum, the agricultural society decided to call a representative of the Ohio Sports Service, Inc., of Buffalo, N.Y., to a meeting with the society to iron out problems pertaining to the Coliseum debt to that organization.

THE MEETING will have as its purpose the determination of exactly what course of action the corporation plans to take with regard to a debt of approximately $70,000 owed by the Coliseum for ice machinery and equipment installed there. Officers of the society had no records at hand last night on how much has been paid on that account to date, nor have they learned what action the corporation plans to take in view of the state examiner's report.

Coliseum affairs were discussed at a meeting in the county commissioners office attended by members of the Coliseum board, the Agricultural Society, the commissioners and Marion County Prosecutor Robert O. Stout.

The meeting was called by Joseph Vogel, president of the society, to enable Mr. Stout to outline the courses of action open to the society with regard to the report on the state audit of Coliseum books.

AT THE OUTSET of Wednesday night's meeting, Mr. Stout reported that he had been to Columbus last week seeking a reason for the state auditor's delay in getting a printed copy of the audit to Marion. He noted that spokesmen from the auditor's office had informed him that the audit was in the hands of the printers and would, in consequence, not be available for at least several weeks.

The prosecutor said he had, however, posed several questions to authorities in the state office, one of which was whether there was any evidence whatever of criminal action in connection with Coliseum board activity. "I was told there was none," Mr. Stout declared.

HE ADDED that he also had asked specifically whether there was evidence of any illegal dissipation of public funds. "I referred, in particular, to the possibility of embezzlement," the prosecutor asserted, "but was told again there was no such evidence."

"In fact," Mr. Stout pointed out, "I was informed that funds handled by the board had been accounted for but that proper records simply had not been kept."

The prosecutor noted that a big point in the audit appeared to be the question of the legality or illegality of the Coliseum board. He explained that there is conflicting opinion on this subject, making the problem "one which can only be settled by a court opinion."

Mr. Stout told his listeners they could either carry on as they had been doing, assuming the Coliseum board to be a legal body, or they could disband the board

President Orders Study

Ike Would Reduce Federal Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is trying to slow down the rate of government spending in an effort to keep living costs from rising still more.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that his lingering cough now has developed into a cold in the head and that he is having difficulty hearing.

At the same time, however, Eisenhower said the cough which has been bothering him for several weeks is better.

Voice Husky

Eisenhower's voice was quite husky and he coughed a couple of times during the meeting with newsmen. He had a piece of cotton in his left ear.

Asked about reports that he might go to a warm, dry climate like Tucson, Ariz., in an effort to shake the cough and cold, Eisenhower noted that both Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles are out of the country at this time. For that reason, he said, it would be rather awkward for him to leave Washington.

As for federal spending and prospects for cutting the administration's $71,800,000,000 budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, Eisenhower said he has ordered a study to determine whether the rate of government spending can be reduced. He made that statement after a reporter reminded him that the cost of living, as reported by the government, still is on the rise.

Slow Up May Help

Eisenhower said at this point he knows of no program in the budget which should be abandoned, but that slowing up the rate of spending might help to keep prices from going up more.

Eisenhower said the living cost situation is being watched carefully by the administration. He added that a cut in the rate of spending would serve to take just that much pressure away with respect to inflation.

Eisenhower opened the news conference, his first since Feb. 6, with a request that any of the 228 reporters present who asked questions should speak out distinctly because he was having some trouble with his hearing.

The first question put to him dealt with his cough and whether he might be planning a trip to a warm, dry climate.

Eisenhower ignored the inquiry about his cough but did say it would be awkward for him to get away at this time.

Korean Bonus Blanks To Be Here Monday

Korean War bonus application blanks are scheduled to arrive at Marion's Veterans Service Center at 126½ S. Main St. Monday noon, Chester W. Goble, director of the Korean Conflict Compensation Fund, said today.

National Guard trucks and personnel, escorted by elements of the state highway patrol, will complete deliveries to all of Ohio's 88 counties by noon Monday, Mr. Goble said.

Mrs. Madeline Tatham, manager of the Marion veterans center, said today her office will be ready to release the forms by 1:30 p.m. Monday. In addition, the office will be open from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. both Monday and Wednesday, in order to accommodate veterans who require assistance in filling out their applications. The center's regular hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Points and times of delivery of the bonus blanks in Marion's surrounding counties are as follows: Hardin, Kenton courthouse, 10:30 a.m.; Wyandot, Upper Sandusky courthouse, 10 a.m.; Crawford, Bucyrus courthouse, 11 a.m.; Morrow, Mount Gilead courthouse, 11 a.m.; Delaware, American Legion Home, 12 noon; and Union, 417 W. 7th St., Marysville, noon.

Soviet Subs Increase

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—U. S Adm. Felix B. Stump said today the number of Soviet submarines has been increasing at a rapid rate in the Pacific, and there are indications "of their extending the scope of their activity."

Trouble Area Occupied by U.N. Forces

Israelis Leave Aqaba, Gaza Strip; Operation To Be Finished Today

GAZA (AP)—The blue and white flag of the United Nations was raised over the Gaza Strip today, replacing the blue and white flag of Israel.

All but a small contingent of Israeli soldiers left the troubled Mediterranean coastal area before dawn after 125 days of occupation. The rest will complete the withdrawal later today.

Withdrawal moves also got under way in the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba. Equipment and supplies for the small garrison there were loaded on ships and started back to Israel. The Israeli army said troops would be pulled out and 'administration of the area turned over to U. N. units Friday.

No Major Incidents

The departure from Gaza of the victors in the October-November invasion went off without any major incidents reported. Some shots were heard in Gaza City during the early morning hours, but the cause of the firing was not immediately known.

The withdrawing Israeli convoys were protected by armored patrol cars as they crossed into Israel.

Norwegian soldiers of the U. N. Emergency Force set up a sentry post and barrier at 6 a.m. at the Israeli frontier, two miles from Gaza City on the northern end of the narrow strip.

Israeli border guards again manned their own sentry posts, which had been abandoned after the Israeli push into Gaza and the Sinai Desert.

Operation Moves Swiftly

Throughout the strip, Israeli and U. N. forces moved swiftly to accomplish the historic changeover, virtually completing it 15 hours before the 24-hour deadline set by the Israeli command.

Advance elements of 2,600 U.N. troops moved into the strip at 7 p.m. from the Sinai Peninsula. Despite a drenching rain, their jeeps and trucks rapidly deployed the soldiers from Denmark, Norway, Sweden, India and Colombia over the 26-by-8-mile stretch of coastal land.

By 4 a.m. the bulk of the Israeli troops had pulled out, leaving the U.N. in control. The telephone connection linking police headquarters in Jerusalem and Gaza City was broken.

The withdrawing Israelis left behind them in prison some 300 suspected Fedayeen (commando) raiders. Their fate was up to the U. N. command. The Israelis had said they seized Gaza to wipe out the bases for Arab raids into Israel.

UNEF headquarters was established in the large police fort in Gaza City — built by the British during the Palestine mandate and used by the Egyptians and the Israelis in their occupation.

Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli army chief of staff, was on hand in the main square to greet the first elements of the U.N. force.

"Is everything going all right?" Dayan asked the U.N. unit commander, Danish Col. Carl Engholm.

"Everything is going well," Engholm replied.

"I wish you good luck," Dayan said.

Local Youths To Act as Legislators

MAYOR GALE D. IRELAND (seated) hands these YMCA members official commissions designating them delegates to a mock Ohio General Assembly which will meet as part of the sixth annual Youth-in-Government program at the Capitol building in Columbus April 26-28. Students are (left to right): Sandra Leech, Charles Zeigler, Nancy Byrd, Max Carroll, Janet Hunter, Richard Kibbey and Sue Montgomery. James Lightner, also a delegate, is not shown.

Elected from the city's Junior and Senior Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs, these students will fill seats in the House and Senate normally allotted to this district. "Y" groups from Tiffin and Bucyrus will fill remaining district seats.

Seats of local representatives are: Carroll, alternate senator; Ziegler, Miss Leech, Lightner and Miss Montgomery, representatives, and Miss Hunter, Miss Byrd and Kibbey, alternate representatives.

Delegates from throughout the state will make the final selection of persons to fill the executive offices such as governor, House speaker, chaplain and clerk. Outstanding delegates in the state are being nominated for these positions.

Before attending the conference the local students and others prepare bills to be submitted to the mock legislature. They follow the same procedure as the real General Assembly. Committees in both houses, composed of student delegates, discuss the bills before they appear on the docket.

The Marion delegation has prepared a bill to change the time and method for renewing drivers licenses. This bill would make it mandatory for everyone to take a driving test and physical examination each time his license expires.

The expiration date for a license would be changed from three years, as it now stands, to five years. Purpose of the bill is to provide a check on persons operating autos to insure proper vision, physical fitness and good driving habits.

Youth-in-Government is a cooperative program sponsored jointly by the YMCA and the state. For the last five years Gov. C. William O'Neill has headed the committee in charge of the three-day session.

Rescue Work Is Slowed by Snow Storm

Craft Collides With Freighter; Captain, Deck Crew Trapped

NEW CASTLE, Del. (AP) —A violent midships explosion tore a Navy tanker apart following a collision with a freighter in the Delaware River early today. At least 10 crew members of the tanker, including the captain and most of his deck officers, were missing and feared dead.

The captain of the freighter, the S. S. Elna II, reported several hours after the collision that all 23 members of his crew had been accounted for. The tanker, the U.S.N.S. Mission San Francisco, sank almost immediately in shallow water near Pea Patch Jetty three miles south of here.

Twenty six of the 45 members of the tanker crew escaped in one of the Mission's boats and 9 others were pulled out of the water by fishing boats and vessels from nearby refineries.

Storm Hampers Rescue

Rescue efforts were hampered by a sudden snow storm which blew up over the river at dawn, and fire broke out anew on the stern of the tanker which jutted out of the water and burned fiercely. Rescuers said it was doubtful that any of the crew members still aboard who survived the blast could be alive.

The 26 survivors who were transferred to the Coast Guard cutter Zinnia and later to an Army tug were put ashore at New Castle. None appeared seriously injured.

One of the survivors said the captain and those on the bridge must have been killed by the tremendous blast which tore the superstructure into bits.

Manned by Civilians

The tanker, owned by the Navy, is assigned to the Military Sea Transportation Service. It is manned by civilians and operated by commercial shipping firms under contract to haul oil for the Navy.

One of the tanker's survivors said that the ship, which has a capacity of 20,200 tons, was empty and had not been "defumigated." This concentration of fumes, he said, was what caused the terrific blast, the force of which was reported as far away as 30 miles.

The first survivor from the Mission San Francisco, William C. Bausch, 35, Miami, Fla., first assistant engineer, said the captain, four mates, the purser, a steward and a radio operator were on the bridge at the time of the blast. "The bridge was blown to bits.

House Speeds Final Action on Mideast Policy

Debate Is Limited to One Hour; Passage by Big Margin Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed and sent to President Eisenhower a resolution declaring the United States is willing to fight if necessary to resist Communist aggression in the Middle East.

The House acted by quickly adopting the Senate version of the resolution which Eisenhower sought on an urgent basis two months ago. The Senate finally passed the bill Tuesday night, 72-19.

The measure also gives Eisenhower greater leeway in spending 200 million dollars in military-economic aid to the troubled area between now and July 1.

The House, which originally passed it in administration - requested form Jan. 30 by a 355-61 count, stamped final approval on the resolution as modified by the

Senators Hear Charges

Rackets Probers Investigate 'Bribe'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets investigators were to explore in public hearings today what one called "an alleged bribe of an Oregon public official."

The official was not named.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel, called this a new tack in the hearings on allegations that gamblers and some Teamsters Union officials from Seattle tried to "muscle in" on vice and other rackets in Portland, Ore.

The special committees conducting the inquiry under chairmanship of Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) is seeking evidence of racketeering in labor and industry.

Denies Allegation

Big Jim Elkins, a onetime king pin in Portland's underworld, told Wednesday of giving $20,000 in "protection" payments and of a big money double cross which he said squeezed him out as the man "who ran the town."

Kennedy said protection payments by Elkins for an afterhours drinking place also were the source of $500 "alleged bribe."

He said it had nothing to do with Elkins stories of payoffs to William M. Langley, Democratic district attorney of Multomah County (Portland).

Elkins, who said he often planted hidden microphones in rooms and even carried midget recording devices on his person, testified he has "more than 70 hours" of tape-recorded conversations to back his words. Kennedy says some of these will be played into evidence, but declined to say when.

Tells of 'Protection'

Elkins denied vigorously that he ever demanded $10,000 or any other sum from Langley as the price of silence about the recordings.

The hearing erupted in many directions, including:

1. Elkins' testimony naming Frank W. Brewster, president of the 11-state Western Conference of Teamsters, Clyde Crosby, union organizer in Oregon; and Langley as men who were to get part of his $20,000 protection payments. Brewster is to testify next Tuesday. Langley and Crosby may be heard today or Friday.

2. An affidavit from Portland's former Republican mayor, Fred L. Peterson, swearing that Crosby had informed him in December 1955 that if he failed to fire Police Chief Jim Purcell Jr., "we will have to find another candidate for mayor to support."

Highway Bill Passes Ballot Of Ohio Senate

Action Seen as Way Of Speeding Road Programs for State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Senate scheduled a vote today on a bill to give councilmen in Ohio's more than 750 villages the power to set the pay of all officials—including their own.

A Senate vote on another bill — repealing the provision that, in the absence of Ohio's chief justice, the elected judge with the shortest term to serve shall act in his stead—was scheduled to wind up the ninth work week of the legislative session.

On Councilmen's Salaries

The bill on pay rates of village officials would remove the ceiling on salaries that councilmen may determine. As originally proposed, the bill would have permitted councilmen to get from $3 to $25 a meeting depending on the size of the village's annual budget. Present pay scale is $3 to $5 a meeting.

It has the backing of the Ohio Municipal League on grounds it would give villages greater "home rule" powers.

As the Legislature settled down Wednesday after the storm of 357 bills introduced Tuesday to beat the introduction deadline, there were these major developments:

The Senate passed unanimously and sent to the House an emergency bill to permit the Ohio Department of Highways to hire, without competitive bidding, private negotiators to buy rights of way for interstate highways and their extensions in cities.

School Board

The House passed, 121-9, and sent to the Senate a bill to allow a motorist to take possession of a deer killed by his car—providing the car was damaged in the accident.

The House passed unanimously and sent to the Senate a bill to control Bang's disease in cattle.

Gov. C. William O'Neill said legislative leaders have failed to agree on proposals to substitute a smaller, appointed board for the present 23-member elected State Board of Education.

Will Be Made by Brown

Survey of Local Interest In OSU Branch Planned

Another step in the consideration of Marion as a potential site for an Ohio State University branch program was taken Wednesday when Robert S. Brown, superintendent of Marion public schools, was authorized to conduct a community survey to ascertain interest in establishing a branch here.

The assignment came during a luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding with Kenneth Airsman, professor of education and guidance at the university, who is conducting the branch study for the university. Representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, Marion Board of Education, and St. Mary and public school officials attended the session.

According to Mr. Airsman, Marion is one of 16 possible Central Ohio sites being considered for branches. He explained that probably more than one site will be chosen if the university undertakes such a program.

The university representative is visiting all potential communities as a second phase of his study. He expects to return to Marion for continued study in the near future, it was revealed. Mr. Brown reported that work on the community survey will begin as soon as possible.

He indicated that the board

Open House Is Slated by Red Cross Chapter

The Marion County chapter of the American Red Cross today invited local residents to inspect its new chapter house during a three-day open house March 22-24.

The invitation to visit the 14-room Red Cross center on Mt. Vernon Ave. was extended by Louis B. Conkle, president of the local chapter, and all staff members.

On Friday, March 22, the open house will run from 7 to 10 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday, March 23 and 24, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The building located at 297 Mt. Vernon Ave., formerly housed the Axe Funeral Home, and was purchased recently at the cost of $45,000.

In addition to providing a blood center with snack kitchen in the basement, the house offers classrooms for first aid and home care of the sick instruction, a Junior Red Cross room for work meetings, three offices, a waiting room and an assembly hall, among other features. Parking facilities are offered in a spacious lot at the back of the building.

Mr. Conkle reported that p'

Bucyrus May Boost Hospital Service Rates

Survey Shows Need For Hike; Employes Given Pay Increases

BUCYRUS — A hike in room rates and other services at Bucyrus Community Hospital is now being studied following completion of a survey, which resulted in wage increases, totaling about $23,000, being granted by the hospital's board of directors.

The hospital was turned over by the city, Jan. 1, to the newly-formed Bucyrus Community Hospital, Inc., which is operating the hospital as a private, non-profit institution.

The salary survey was conducted by Drosey Reeser, an industrial engineer for the Timken Roller Bearing Co., which recently made a $50,000 grant to the new hospital association. Russell Fowler, manager of the Timken Bucyrus plants, is president of the association.

The increases range from 5 to 10 per cent. New salary of Supt. James B. Mitchell is $500 a month. His raise was approved last month. He was paid about $400 a month by the city.

The survey engineer indicated room rates and rates for special services are now under study. He said they are somewhat below those in other area hospitals. Present room rates are $16 for private rooms, $14 for semi-private and $9 in wards.

The hospital, which participates in Blue Cross hospitalization benefits, has received clearance from Central Hospital Service to go ahead with plans for rate increases, it was reported.

Pastor of Cadle Tabernacle at Indianapolis, he speaks on a daily quarter-hour radio program over Station WLW, Cincinnati and on a half-hour telecast over WLW's TV channels. In addition, he is engaged frequently in evangelistic and other religious services and activities. Rev. Jerry D. Worthan of the Richwood community is the Youth for Christ director.

Corn Storage Payment Is 16 Cents Per Bushel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers can make an extra 16 cents a bushel for storing nearly 350 million bushels of surplus corn another year.

The Agriculture Department is offering such a storage payment on that quantity of 1955 and 1956 crop corn stored under seal on farms under price support loans to farmers. Rather than foreclose on the loans and take over the grain as full payment, the department prefers to leave the corn on the farms and to pay farmers for caring for it, because of inadequate government storage facilities.

No Skimpy Pies

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — The City Commission has drawn up a law to fix the minimum quantity of cherries in cherry pies served in restaurants and hotels here.

A seven-inch pie, for instance, must contain at least 16 ounces of drained cherries.

Commissioner Loren Bensley said, "Traverse City, the cherry capital of the world, has a reputation to maintain. I know of nothing more detrimental to tourist relations than to serve a piece of cherry pie containing sometimes as few as a half-dozen cherries."

JOSEPH

"... the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost."

—Matthew 1:20

Little of Joseph's personal history is told in the New Testament. He is described as a "just man," who resided in Nazareth. He was of the house and the lineage of David.

We know him as a quiet man, who understood and believed the message of the angel who warned him of danger to the Infant Jesus, and kept him constantly alert to the snares woven in the minds of the Child's enemies.

He comes to us in the role of the protective father, the tireless watcher over his Charge, the careful provider of His early physical needs.

Scriptural history of Joseph ends with the account of the Holy Family's journey to Jerusalem for the Passover, when Jesus was 12 years of age.

But it is evident by implication that he died before the trial and crucifixion, since Jesus upon the Cross gave the care of His mother into the keeping of the beloved disciple.

There is an apocryphal story told of Joseph and his carpenter's shop, where he is said to have taught Jesus his trade.

He was showing the young Boy how to carve wood with the grain. Jesus watched closely and then duplicated the operation with understanding and skill.

"You can always know a wood by its grain," Joseph told Him. "And knowing the grain, you can mould it to the form you wish."

"It is like the nature of man. Know this, and you can anticipate his thoughts, and direct these as you wish, if you have a reason that is good."

Jesus understood this parable, the story goes. He told Joseph:

"I am aware of the Time ahead. And I will meet it."

Schools in U.S. Urged To Emphasize Aviation

WASHINGTON (AP) — L. G. Derthick, U. S. commissioner of education, suggested today that America's schools stress aviation in their educational programs.

"We must study our educational system with an eye to making certain that our children grow up aware of the air potential of our world," Derthick said in a talk prepared for a conference of educators.

"Aviation is no longer a toy. It is big business, mighty weapon, and pleasant pastime rolled up into one great science."

Youths Held by Patrol

Two Cleveland area youths were arrested by local state highway patrolmen Wednesday on suspicion of auto theft after the front wheel of the car they were driving came off and the auto was abandoned in Morrow County on Route 19 at 9 a.m., three miles south of Mount Gilead.

The two boys riding in the car, both 16, were later picked up and held at the Morrow County Jail in the juvenile detention ward. Patrolmen said the car they had been driving was believed to be stolen from Cleveland.

World's Biggest Job

The man holding down the biggest job in the world is causing one of the biggest discussions in U.S. history by streamlining it.

His predecessor, Harry Truman, said it needed to be streamlined. Mr. Truman's predecessor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, said it needed to be streamlined. Mr. Roosevelt's predecessor, Herbert Hoover, made an intensive study of streamlining it.

But when Mr. Eisenhower puts his own ideas into effect, the question explodes like a political firecracker: What is he trying to do to the presidency?

There never has been any secret about what he would try to do; his intentions were clear from the beginning of his first term.

He intends to reorganize the tasks of the White House— the executive department — along the lines of military staffwork.

In a military staff, routine duties are delegated to officials who are responsible to the head of the staff. The head of the staff concentrates on coordinating the department heads under his authority and on formulating policy.

He does not busy himself with routine but with the efficiency of the men directly involved in administrative work. He is concerned with men not with the problems they work with, unless the problems require personal attention, as happened in the Middle East crisis.

President Eisenhower, himself, was a staff officer before World War II. He was chosen to be the head of the staff which planned and carried out the campaign in Europe. His performance in that job was recognized as one of the outstanding accomplishments of the war.

This was the reason why he became the obvious choice of both political parties for a presidential nomination; he chose to take the Republican nomination instead of the Democratic nomination.

He is continuing to do in his second term what he started in his first term. It is his aim to show how the biggest job in the world can be organized so it is neither a man-killer nor an administrative shambles.

That is all President Eisenhower is trying to do to the presidency—to bring it abreast of the burdens that his three predecessors said had become overwhelming.

In the Running

Although no decisions have been made, Marion apparently is still very much in the running for an Ohio State University branch.

Wednesday's informal meeting involving local school officials, Chamber of Commerce officers and Dr. Kenneth Airsman of Ohio State University produced no startling developments.

However, Superintendent Robert S. Brown of the Marion public schools was asked to make a survey of community interest in the project.

Previously Marion had been designated as a potential site of the branch, largely as the result of quick action by the Chamber of Commerce and Supt. Brown after the possibility of branches was first announced.

If such a branch were established here, it would operate in public school buildings for the foreseeable future. The branch would offer two years of college, with one course preparing the student to complete work toward his degree on the Columbus campus and another providing vocational type of instruction.

Marion is an ideal place for such a branch and we certainly hope Mr. Brown's survey will reveal the degree of community interest required to qualify for selection as a university site.

Last Invitation

After two tedious months, the Senate has approved the Eisenhower doctrine for the Middle East.

The next time President Eisenhower thinks it might be a good idea to invite Congress to join him in a quick no-trespassing warning, he will think again.

The House of Representatives can be counted on to go along, but the Senate will assert its advise-and-consent prerogative in foreign relations.

The curious thing about the senatorial debating this time, however, is that its net effect was to remind the White House that it alone has authority over the armed forces; that Congress has no right and no need to define in advance the authority of the commander-in-chief.

The Eisenhower doctrine will tie Mr. Eisenhower's hands, not free them. He is theoretically limited to ordering military intervention to keep the Soviet Union from moving into the Middle East only if intervention is requested by a Middle East government.

Moreover, he is limited to economic assistance on a request basis. Had there been no Eisenhower doctrine, he could have used his full executive discretion in both military and aid decisions.

All of this was clear to the Kremlin throughout the debate. The wallop in the Eisenhower doctrine was intended to be the impact of its quick approval by Congress. By taking out that wallop, the Senate delivered a haymaker on its own kisser.

It will be a long time before it gets another invitation to share the historic authority of the commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the U.S.A.

Moral Force Civilized Way To Secure Peace

Once upon a time a former President of the United States, William Howard Taft, Republican, proposed that there be established a league to enforce peace. This was during World War I. Subsequently the League of Nations was created. But it did not "enforce" peace and World War II followed.

Lawrence

Today the United Nations is struggling with the same problem —how to "enforce" peace.

There are three ways of doing it—by military force, by economic force and by moral force.

A Soviet veto can prevent military force from being ordered by the United Nations Security Council. The U.N. Assembly itself cannot order any military measures to be used to "enforce" peace.

Only the major powers acting collectively can take effective military action and they can do so on their own, with perhaps a resolution of recommendation from the U.N. Assembly to give it moral backing.

Economic force can be exerted by the U.N. only through the Security Council and the Soviets have a veto on this, too. Individual nations, however, can join together and impose "sanctions" or punitive measures of an economic nature but the U.N. Assembly cannot order these steps.

MORAL FORCE is the only force which needs no previous approval by the Security Council and which can be utilized by the U.N. Assembly or by the individual member nations in the assembly acting collectively or in groups and blocs.

It is moral force which is winning battles in the world today. It is moral force which is "enforcing" peace in the Middle East, though back of it may be the awareness that military force and war could be the consequence of a failure of moral force to be successful.

Criticism of the failure of the U.N. to exert moral force in the part is necessary and desirable.

To attempt, for instance, to squelch expressions by Sen. Knowland, Republican or Sen. Humphrey, Democrat, who are members of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations—but who also have a right to speak in their capacity as individual senators on matters of foreign policy—is to discourage the process of constructive criticism which helps so much to build the moral force of the United Nations itself.

Certainly in the United States, where the Congress is a coordinate branch of the government, it is most helpful to send delegations to the U.N. which comprise members of both houses.

IF THESE SENATORS or representatives were to be gagged or to be made to feel that, by becoming a part of the U.S. delegation to the U.N., they must refrain from expressing outside the U.N. sessions their own opinions, it will be difficult in the future to get members of Congress to serve on the U.S. delegation.

Moral force is dependent on public opinion not only in this country but throughout the world. Moral force means free debate of all the issues.

Moral force at the moment makes it incumbent on Egypt to determine whether its government will find any more pretexts to hold up work on the reopening of the Suez Canal and thus risk the condemnation of the United States and the other countries which have just striven so earnestly to persuade British, French and Israeli troops to withdraw from the areas they invaded last October.

The American government is placing its reliance on both Egypt and Israel to keep the peace in the Middle East.

This does not mean that the settlement which President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles successfully persuaded Israel to accept can be regarded now as the final chapter in the controversy.

IN A SENSE, the work of "enforcing" peace in the Middle East has only begun.

There are economic aids which can help to stabilize all the countries of the Middle East that need help and there are disputed legal points, like the right of navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba, which, as Mr. Dulles suggests, may have to be left to the World Court at The Hague to decide.

In the meantime, however, the American position is that there must be uninterrupted access to the ships of all nations not only in the Gulf of Aqaba but in the Suez Canal till any legal points are finally resolved by a court of justice—unless of course, direct negotiation can do the job more quickly.

MORAL FORCE calls for the orderly way—the civilized way. It is the willingness of the President and the secretary of state of the U.S. to bear tolerantly the brickbats that came to them from the British and French press last autumn and yet fearlessly champion moral force, which stands out as a great step forward in the world today.

Comparable, too, is the courage of Prime Minister Ben-Gurion of Israel in daring to risk too much in placing his reliance on moral force even though it earned him inside Israel bitter political opposition and possible downfall of his regime.

Ben-Gurion is relying on the good faith and moral position of the United States government to help him secure justice in the current disputes when they are debated in the court of world opinion.

Moral force is effective when it is applied on the side of not just who is right but what is right. It is a great advance in the long search for a way to "enforce" peace.

Republicans Adopt New Look

By David Barnett

The administration's "New Republicans" are launching a vigorous drive for recruits to stem the decline in the congressional influence of President Eisenhower.

The new GOP national chairman, Meade Alcorn, will direct the operation. Mr. Alcorn is expected to criss-cross the country during March and April, talking to local Republican leaders, the men who name the candidates.

His message: Make sure all candidates given GOP support measure up to the Eisenhower standard as "new" Republicans.

Clearest public evidence of slippage in the Eisenhower holdover congressmen was the widespread and outspoken opposition on Capitol Hill to the administration's intention of supporting United Nations' sanctions against Israel.

BUT MUCH MORE Republican balking can be seen behind the scenes on domestic affairs. On some issues, such as federal aid to school construction, the Eisenhower program is in for extremely tough going despite support from a large number of Democrats.

Before last November's election, it was widely predicted that Eisenhower's influence on Congress would decline during his second term because an end to his role in political life would be fixed, by the Constitution, for 1960.

But there have been other factors that have contributed to the crumbling Republican support given the President in Congress:

1. Executive - branch remoteness. Republican congressmen, even of the "new" type, complain that they are unable to see the President, that they do not have access to the administration leaders who can help them.

The problems that congressmen are most eager to discuss with the executive branch are those which directly affect their home districts. The President has turned most of his attention to foreign policy. Domestic issues are left to assistants and the power relationships among the assistants is changing. As one Republican put it

"Who can you see who can do you some good? Gov Adams (Sherman Adams, presidential assistant) would be fine but he's too busy. My old friends, Sinclair Weeks (secretary of Commerce) or Arthur Summerfield (postmaster general) would be fine except they can't seem to get to the President any better than I can.

"THINGS PROBABLY would be better if I were a long-time buddy of Arthur Larson (director of the United States Information Agency) of Fred Seaton (secretary of the interior) or Steve Mitchell (secretary of labor).

"I know Seaton pretty well and he's a good fellow but he's never in town."

2. A growing fear that the "new" Republicans are out to purge the Republican right wing, even those who have cooperated with the administration.

This has gone so far that some right wing Republicans in the House are circulating privately a list purporting to contain the names of those slated for "purging."

3. A "tradition" of opposition that was pushed to the front by the President's budget. Many Republicans made a habit of screaming about the high budgets during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. The budget proposed for the next fiscal year is the biggest yet—so big, in fact, that the legislators have been receiving an unusual amount of economy mail from their constituents. Many rank-and-file Republicans in Congress pulled out their anti-New Deal speeches.

4. A FEELING that the congressional Republicans haven't yet—even after a full term in Control of the executive branch—been given the fruits of victory. Holdover Democrats, they complain, still run the State Department. It was this feeling that prompted the outburst among Senate Republicans against the naming of a Democrat, David Bruce, to be this country's representative at Bonn.

5. A vague feeling that the personal popularity of the President may be slipping. This contention is not supported by any type of scientific evidence. But one Republican put it this way:

"Ike went to the people on the Middle East thing. The speech did not change a single letter, as far as I could tell, in my mail."

Foreign Aid Problems

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It's raining ideas on what to do about foreign aid. When the rain's over, you can be sure Congress will go right on voting money for foreign aid

Congress had voted more than 50 billion dollars in economic and military assistance to other countries since the Marshall Plan began in 1948. But this year, as in years past, the two main points are still these:

1. How much money will Congress approve?

2. Will it still vote it on a year-by-year basis only? Or will it this time change and agree to long-term commitments to permit long-range planning — like water development — among nations getting American money?

THERE HAS BEEN growing hostility in Congress to continuing foreign aid at all. This shows it: Only seven senators voted against start of the Marshall Plan nine years ago, last year 30 senators voted against foreign aid

And last year Congress cut a billion dollars off President Eisenhower's foreign aid request. He got $3,800,000,000 This year he has asked for $4,363,000,000. That will probably be trimmed too.

Already some members of Congress — particularly Eisenhower's own Republicans—are talking of lopping up to seven billion dollars off his total budget request for $71,800,000,000.

BECAUSE OF THE criticism of the foreign aid program—the opposition to it and the questions raised about — at least 23 seperate studies of foreign aid problems have been made in this capital since last summer.

All should be finished and made public by the end of March. Not one study so far released has suggested ending foreign aid. Some suggested it be put on a long-range basis.

Those 23 studies fall into three main groups:

1. The House Foreign Affairs Committee, after months of examination, issued last December a report which said foreign aid should be continued, but cut, and that the economic part of it should be in loans, not gifts, even though some of the loans are never paid back.

The idea was that countries which had to pay back the money, or thought they would be expected to, would be more careful how they spent it

2. Last summer the Senate voted $293,000 for a special committee to make a study. It hired 11 research organizations to study separate problems of foreign aid and sent 10 prominent Americans to various areas receiving American help.

The reports from these groups and individuals are now being released in a steady flow.

3. Meanwhile, Eisenhower last September created a special seven-man commission of distinguished citizens — headed by steel executive Benjamin F. Fairless— to study foreign aid and report to him.

MEMBERS OF THIS commission traveled around the earth and Tuesday its report to the President was made public.

The President's commission reported: The mutual security program must be continued for "years to come." It urged more loans, fewer gifts It suggested drastic cuts in the number of foreign aid projects, but didn't say the total amount of money for foreign aid should be reduced.

One of the Senate committee's study groups — the Center for International Studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology— said development-assistance programs, if they are to have good results, should cover at least 5 to 10 years.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Court and the Camera

The American Bar Association will poll its members on the issue of broadcasting and telecasting courtroom proceedings.

Its present code of ethics says, "The taking of photographs during sessions and broadcasting or telecasting proceedings distracts from the essential dignity of the court, degrades the proceedings and creates misconceptions in the public mind."

Many lawyers hold otherwise. They contend that the lady with the scales of justice is the most important girl in American life and see no reason why she should be denied TV appearances while the bathing beauties, models,, oft divorced characters and self-exploiters get coast-to-coast glorification.

THIS CORNER, too, holds that it is more important for Americans to see how their courts perform than to see how our buffoons, ventriloquists, puppet show artists and emcees do their stuff. The people are entitled to know more about what goes on in the courts.

Certainly, say we, the ways of justice are more vital to them than the routines of the cooking hour starts, lipstick program notables and brewery operators.

FOR ONE THING, televising would make it easier to get jurors. It would probably create a waiting list and introduce the juror who will ask the judge just before retiring for his deliberations, "Yerroner, may I wave to my wife and kids?"

We are all for the telecasts, up to the point where the cross examination is interrupted by a commercial. (It would be tough on a fellow, charged with homicide, to have his trial sponsored by a rope corporation or an electricity company.)

STUDYING THE CODE of the Bar Association, we fail to dig the theory that airwave coverage distracts from the essential dignity, degrades a court or creates public misconceptions.

The camera doesn't lie. Furthermore we scent hypocrisy. Lawyers as a class are not opposed to being photographed and we think many a jurist's reaction to the "essential dignity" danger would bring a stern, "You take care of your dignity, and I'll take care of mine."

THE ANCIENT THEORY is that our courts are open to the public and a complete picture guaranteed by pen and ink. What's wrong with a camera? Yes, there could be some unfortunate consequences.

There might always be a judge who is at heart an actor and would seek a high TV rating. Also the ham lawyer who is bad enough under present conditions and might, with TV cameras on him, argue his case in song and sum up through tap dancing or by giving imitations of Al Jolson.

In some of the lower courts a judge might so far forget himself as to say, "The question is are you guilty or not guilty? Do you wish to go ahead or come back next Tuesday night?" (There might even be the jurist who would let the prisoner be tried under any category he chose, selecting a trial for smoking in the subway instead of murder in the first degree. Who can tell?)

You never can tell when a bad break turns out all to the good, as for example, in the case of Jack Barry. He was dropped from "The Big Surprise" where we thought he was tops, but almost immediately scored tremendously with the sensational "Twenty-one" TV jackpot show. In our book he has few equals.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — Fortified with the opinion of the attorney-general that he had the right to arm merchant ships, President Wilson made the decision and planned to continue sending ships on their voyages, despite submarine "barred zones" and other obstacles which the war had placed in the path of American commerce.

The English parliament faced a grave situation with Ireland reopening its crusade for home rule, this time with determined fervor. The Irish party decided to oppose further any attempts to compromise and to go into opposition to the government at once' if their demands were rejected.

20 YEARS AGO — A Delaware County man from Radnor was killed and eight persons injured in Marion County traffic accidents. The increase in mishaps was attributed to the spring-like weather which Marion and the area had been enjoying for the last two days, increasing the volume of road traffic.

Two Marion homes were burglarized and an attempted burglary was made at a third residence. In each case the burglar gained admittance to the basement of the house and worked his way to the first floor through a clothes chute. In the third home, however, the intruder was unable to get from the basement to the first floor, city police said, so apparently left without his loot. All three homes entered were located in the eastern section of the city.

The State Utilities Commission granted the city a time extension for a hearing of the water company's appeal The appeal on a water rate ordinance which city council had adopted the last June, asking for a 12½ per cent reduction in water rates for the city, was rescheduled for May 11. City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart had asked for an extension of the 30-day period provided by the commission on Feb. 15.

10 YEARS AGO — Robert Wilson Jr., 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of 290 Waterloo St. was rushed to University Hospital in Columbus by the state highway patrol after a peanut lodged in his esophagus. The trip to the hospital was made in 35 minutes and the nut dislodged.

John L. Lewis told a Senate labor committee that he had no suggestions on how to prevent another nation-wide coal strike. Many officials felt, however, that with the Supreme Court ruling, a spring strike was unlikely. The Supreme Court had upheld the contempt conviction against Lewis under which he was required to pay $10,000 fine.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Mrs. Albert Vanek

UPPER SANDUSKY — Mrs. Frieda Vanek, 81, died Wednesday morning at the Wyandot Memorial Hospital here. She had been a resident of the Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church Home for the Aged here since Jan. 12.

Born Sept. 2, 1875, in Mecklenburg, Germany, she was the daughter of Louie and Dorothy Fischer Schrieber. She was married in Cleveland to Albert Vanek who preceded her in death.

Survivors include a son, Alan Vanek of North Royalton, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Leibsla of the Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church Home for the Aged at Upper Sandusky and Mrs. William Schiser of Cleveland.

Mrs. Vanek was a member of the Fourth Evangelical and Reformed Church at Cleveland.

Funeral arrangements are not completed.

Ralph T. Cline

FOREST — Ralph T. Cline, 44, native of Forest, was found dead Tuesday in his car in the garage at his home in Columbus. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

District manager for the Ohio State Journal circulation department since 1953, Mr. Cline had been employed in the same capacity previously by the Columbus Dispatch 11 years. He apparently died Monday night after driving his car into the garage.

His parents were Ralph and Birdie Dubbs Cline of Forest and he was a graduate of Forest High School.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Julia Cline, who with her sister, Mrs. Rose Gross of Columbus, discovered the body of her husband; four sons, Robert, John Mike, Jefferson and Larry; three brothers, Arthur, Daniel and William Cline, all of Columbus; a sister, Mrs. Naomi Bailey of California, and an aunt, Mrs. Charles Neiswander of Columbus.

Funeral services will probably be Friday. Funeral arrangements have been delayed to permit time for the sister to come from California.

Appeals Court Reverses Rule In Airline Case

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appelas in Chicago announced its decision Wednesday upholding North Central Airlines' contract for the purchase of Lake Central Airlines (LCA), the North Central Co. reported today.

This reverses a Sept. 20 finding of the U. S. District Court at Indianapolis, Ind., in which the court declared that North Central had breached its contract made in 1952 for the purchase of 96 per cent of the LCA stock.

The purchase now awaits approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB). The CAB, which must approve airline mergers, had deferred its decision pending outcome of the appeal. Following public hearing and other board proceedings, CAB Examiner Paul N. Pfeiffer last July recommended approval of the purchase.

The judgment to declare the contract breached was sought by a group of LCA employes who had entered into a secondary agreement to purchase the stock, subject to the prior rights of North Central. The group charged that North Central had violated its contract by unduly delaying CAB proceedings and by filing an application, apart from the purchase contract, for LCA routes.

North Central contended there was no time limit specified in the contract and that, except for two or three requests for "brief, inconsequential" postponements, it did not delay the case but rather moved on five separate occasions to expedite proceedings.

In response to the LCA employe group charge that North Central filed separate applications for the LCA routes, whole or in part, North Central claimed this action was expressly authorized in the contract and, since two other airlines had filed for the LCA routes, North Central was forced to file to protect its interests. As it developed, none of the other airlines' applications for the routes was heard, all other carriers were excluded and the merger case was heard exclusively.

The systems of Lake Central, headquartered at Indianapolis, and North Central, headquartered at Minneapolis-St. Paul, are contiguous, and the purchase would add some 2,000 miles and 28 cities to North Central's present 3,240-mile 51-city system.

Hardin Swine Raisers To Meet Next Tuesday

KENTON — Hardin County swinemen will meet at the Wolf Creek Grange hall on March 18, at 1:30 p.m. The Grange hall is located three miles south of Kenton on Route 31. Problems of interest to producers, breeders and marketmen will be discussed. Herbert M. Barnes, Extension Specialist, OSU, will discuss the meat type hog and work being done at the Ohio Swine Evaluation Center. A question and answer period will follow. Plans for other swine improvement activities to be held throughout the year will also be discussed.

Tractor-Trailer, Auto In Collision in Crawford

BUCYRUS — An accident occurred on Route 98 just north of Bucyrus at 10.45 p.m. Wednesday when a jackknifing tractor-semitrailer conbination whipped around to strike the side of an auto, patrolmen of the Bucyrus post reported.

Patrolmen said a car driven by Naomi Sargent, 30, of Bucyrus, had slowed for a railroad crossing when the combination driven by Russell J Olson Jr., 27, of Coulter, Ia., began jackknifing behind the auto.

The combination, after swerving to the right and striking the side of the car, knocked down a railroad flasher. Olson was cited to appear before Mayor J. L. Sullivan of Bucyrus on a charge of unsafe operation March 16. Moderate damage was done to both vehicles.

Miss Sansotta, Mr. Carr Repeat Marriage Vows

A nuptial high mass in St. Mary Catholic Church Saturday morning solemnized the marriage of Miss Maryann Sansotta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Sansotta of 411 Summit St., and David L. Carr.

Officiating at the ceremony and celebrant for the 10 o'clock mass was Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, pastor. Gold vases on the altars held white carnations and blue iris and singing the mass were members of St. Mary Choir with Miss Suzanne Shambaugh, organist.

A FLOOR-LENGTH gown of nylon tulle and Belgium lace was worn by the bride who was given in marriage by her father. The bolero was of lace with long, fitted sleeves and a wide band of the lace trimmed the tulle overskirt. Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of iridescent sequins and seed pearls and she carried an orchid on a white satin-covered Bible. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. David L. Carr

Mrs. Otis Stone, of Mount Gilead, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. Her floor-length gown of spring taffeta was in an ice blue shade. The princess-styled bodice had a portrait neckline and tiny cap sleeves and the dome skirt was accented with three wide bands of lace extending to a V in the back, each topped with a bow. A circular face veil matching the color of her gown fell from a halo of iridescent sequins. Her bouquet held white carnations.

Best man for the bridegroom who is the son of Mrs. J. H. Carr of 427 Olney Ave. and J. H. Carr of Geneva, was Joseph Tinnerello, and ushers were Allan J. Sansotta, brother of the bride, Daniel J. Merchant and David L. Jackson.

The reception for 150 guests was at the Highway Hotel where hostesses were Misses Claire Needham, Dorothy Fetter and Frances Jackson. The four-tiered wedding cake was encircled with white carnations and greenery.

THE BRIDE'S mother wore a silk shantung costume of pussywillow and charcoal gray, and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a black and white silk dress with matching accessories. Their corsages were orchids.

When the couple returns from a wedding trip they will be at home at 437½ Cherry St. For traveling the bride wore a beige tweed costume with fur trim, black and white accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride was graduated from St. Mary Parochial High School and attended Mount Carmel School of Nursing in Columbus. She is employed at the Marion General Hospital. Mr. Carr attended St Mary High School and served two years with the armed forces. He is associated with G & G Homes, Inc.

Guests were from Cleveland, Columbus, Geneva, Mansfield, Newark, Condit, Coshocton and Mount Gilead.

The rehearsal party was at the home of the bride's parents at which time the couple presented gifts to their attendants.

Pre-nuptial parties complimenting Miss Sansotta included a kitchen shower at the Dixie Tearoom given by Mrs. Walter J Merchant, Mrs. William Ring and Mrs Stone; luncheon at Hotel Harding at which Mrs. D. J. Sansotta was hostess; linen shower given my Mrs. Carl Hindman and Mrs. James Hamilton at the home of Mrs. Hindman and a pantry shower at the home of Mrs R H Schweinfurth with Miss Irene Ring as an associate hostess.

SCALED TO THE MODERN MANOR

In Modern there is a greater variation in size than in any other style of furniture. This is due to the fact that Modern is designed and planned to follow function and need. As there is a wide variation in the size of today's living quarters — from tiny one-room apartments to large rambling mansions — it naturally follows that there is a need for furnishings scaled to fit these homes of varying sizes. Modern meets this need — intelligently and beautifully.

Scale is one of the most important elements in successful decorating. Furniture should be in scale with the size of the room, and pieces used in close relation should be similar in size.

In the past, there has been a tendency to confuse elegance with size. Today we're wiser. We have developed a better sense of fitness and balance.

Note how all the furnishings in the Modern room sketched above "go together" — how no one piece dwarfs all the others. Also, see how space has been left free for easy movement . . . no obstructions in traffic lanes.

A symphony of browns and yellows gives a warm, spicy feeling to the entire setting.

We offer you a large assortment of floor coverings appropriate for Modern settings. Wool, rayon, wool-and-rayon, nylon, rayon and nylon and cotton. Choose wall-to-wall carpeting, room size, or standard size rugs from a wide range of weaves and colors. Values that must be seen to be appreciated.

New paraments in the liturgical color of violet were dedicated during the morning service at St. Paul Lutheran Church at Prospect as a memorial to Edward F. Lauer. The gift was presented by his family. Other paraments in their proper liturgical colors will be dedicated in their appropriate season as the year progresses, the pastor, Rev. Paul E. Dobberstein, announced. To house them, a cabinet was built and donated by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Seiter, members of the congregation.

In keeping with the Lenten season, the color of violet is associated in the church with repentance. It is explained that in ancient times this color was worn in mourning for the death of a king. The Christian altar, lectern and pulpit are dressed in the color at this season to commemorate the "death of the King of Kings who died because of man's sinfulness."

To remind passersby of the significance of the season, a cross has been erected on the lawn of the church. Made of a construction material six by four feet in measurement, it is the work of Elwood Almendinger and printing of a message, "Jesus died for us that we might live with Him," was by Robert Wilcox.

Officials of the Prospect Street Methodist Church met for the fourth quarterly conference of the conference year Friday night with the district superintendent, Rev. Harold F. Kellogg of Lima, presiding. He commended the church on its "continued progress in evangelism, education, missions and stewardship giving." In turn, Fred P. Haas, chairman of the official board spoke in appreciation of the work of Rev. Kellogg who will leave as district head in June at the end of the six-year term which he has served in office.

Stewards elected for terms expiring in 1960 were Walter Bender, Charles Chestnut, Ray Cox, Earl Fleming, Joseph Franey, Mrs. D. E. Lusch, Dwight Martin, Mrs. J. A. McCullough, Earl Mehaffey, Mrs. Marian Sperling, Mrs. Minnie Rowland, Mrs. Ernest Sieder and A. R. Shipe. New chairman of the stewardship and finance committee is Robert Wanner. Reports of various officers and organizations were heard. It was decided a young person will be elected at a special quarterly conference to represent the church as a youth delegate to the annual conference in June at Lakeside.

At the beginning of the meeting, devotions were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Fletcher E. Shoup, and a discussion on "Christian Questionnaire" based on the Ten Commandments and compiled by Rev. W. L. Stafford, was held.

Particular note was taken of the Youth Fellowship Christian Witness Mission, visitation and rally which has increased attendance and interest of the young people in the church. Listed also was "greater sharing of work and enlistment of more leaders" in the church's program and increased giving in the field of finances was noted. Reports covered the period from June 1 to date.

A potluck supper preceded the meeting when the Wesleyan Service Guild of Prospect Street Methodist Church met Tuesday night at the church. Tables were decorated in keeping with St. Patrick's Day. On the committee were Miss Ruth Schott and Mrs. Howard Fetter.

Miss Marie Bender presided for the meeting and the devotional service was in charge of Miss Della Owen. A candlelight meditation on "The Lord's Prayer" was given by Miss Schott and Mrs. Kenneth Hecker after which a recording of The Lord's Prayer was played and it was prayed by the group. Scripture was read by Miss Owen.

Various committee reports were given and a report on a district meeting for officers held recently at Kenton was presented by Miss Bender. Named to serve on a nominating committee were Mrs. Otis Mercer, chairman, Mrs. William Bomberger and Miss Patsy Toombs.

Following the meeting, supply work was done by the members with Mrs. Charles F. Lewis, Mrs. Bomberger and Miss Mary Ellen Mahaffey of the recreation and supply work committee in charge. Favors for Easter were made for the Marion County Home and the Waddell Ladies Home.

A guest was Miss Sue Huckaba. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Josephine Ruth on Elm St.

Mrs. Lewis Hughes of Marion entertained the Sunshine Circle of the Prospect Methodist Church Monday night. Mrs. Robert Gabriel was in charge of the meeting which opened with a hymn. Devotions were by Mrs. Dallas Cornett on Lent. Mrs. George Orhood introduced the guest speaker Mrs. Rachel Inselberg of Marion who talked on the Phillipines. The contest was won by Mrs. Myron Halley. Assisting the hostess in serving refreshments was Mrs. Kenneth Davids. Guests were Mrs. Edgar Leeson, Mrs. Norma Hetzner and Mrs. Deloris Jerew.

Circle 2 of the First Presbyterian Church Women's Association met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. S. McNeal on Vernon Heights Blvd.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Edwin Kinter. A map talk introducing the study of Burma, the topic for the meeting, was presented by Miss Mabel Wheatley.

A talk concerning Burma, its people, the country and the work being done by Presbyterian missionaries there was outlined by Mrs. Carl Schell.

Mrs. Chester Roberts presided as assistant leader during the business meeting following the dessert lunch.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Grant Hinkamp, Mrs. T. L. Hufert, Mrs. Fred Zeisenheim, Mrs. E. G. Seifert, Mrs. S. G. Mills and Mrs. Rasey Turner.

Galion Music Units Enter Competition

GALION—Galion High School vocal and instrumental groups are participating in the District No. 2 Solo and Ensemble competitions at Heidelberg College, Saturday.

Herbert Krichbaum, director of vocal groups, and Marvin Fogt, instrumental instructor, have entered 28 contestants. With Mr. Fogt will be a cornet trio composed of Tom Pace, Barbara Carter and Larry Cline; and Everett Stewart, cornet soloist.

The vocal groups with Mr. Krichbaum include six voice pupils of Mrs. W. W. Koppe who will have solos; Janet Sautter, Beverly Spears, Ida Waldo, Iris Glasener, Katherine Goshorn and Barbara Sherer

Three ensembles, the Choral Belles, the Tigerettes, and the Boys' quartet, will be heard. Personnel for these groups are: Janet Sautter, Sally Rausch, Carol Brush, Ann Bosler, Paula Anderson, Jane Weber, Carol Mountz, Sandra Pickering, Cheri Kirtland, Chrissie Nicholls, Carol Balliett, Jeanette Clark, Carol Kightlinger, Roger Ralston, Fred Meeker, James Kirtland and Edward Gray.

Mr. Krichbaum will play accompaniments for several of the numbers. If any of the students or groups receive a grade of One, or Superior, they will be eligible for state competition.

Truck Suffers Most

ASHLEY, Ill. (AP) — An oil truck struck a horse on U. S. 460 near Ashley and it appears the truck suffered the most damage.

The horse ran off through a field. The truck had to be towed away. State Policeman Andy Muzzarelli said Wednesday damage to the truck was estimated at $250. The driver, Clark Richards, 22, was not injured.

Bloodmobile Will Make Visit Here Next Wednesday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit will be at the local chapter house at 297 Mt. Vernon Ave. next Wednesday, it was announced today by John Arter Jr., chairman of the blood program. The hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

"Desperate" describes the need of blood at the center, those in charge say. Blood is the difference between life and death for a young wife undergoing surgery, a baby bleeding internally, a 10-year-old hemophiliac, a seven-year-old with leukemia.

To insure aid in emergencies it is most important that blood be available at a moment's notice. It is to the volunteers they look to provide this priceless gift.

Whole blood and its derivatives are needed daily for patients in the hospital. Whole blood, which is useable for only 21 days, must be supplied in a steady flow, not in tremendous volume one day and in a trickle the next.

There is no danger in giving blood, Red Cross officials point out. Doctors and nurses make a thorough check on the physical fitness of the donor, and after the donation, the blood renews itself within a few days.

When you give blood, you do not donate it to the Red Cross, but to your neighbor, friend or possibly a member of your own family, the blood chairman explained, and the Red Cross is just the agent in collecting and distributing it. The blood is provided to patients without charge. For appointment call the Red Cross Chapter House, 2-1653.

Darling, I'm having the most extraordinary experience
I'm head over heels in DOVE!
No, darling—DOVE. D—like in delicious.
I told you, sweet. I'm in the tub. Taking a bath. A DOVE bath—my very first.

And what a positively gorgeous time I'm having! It's just as if I'd never really bathed before!
No, dear, it isn't a soap. Soap was never like this! So wickedly creamy. That man on TV said that DOVE is one-quarter cleansing cream—that it creams my skin while I bathe—and now I really believe him.
Just imagine, darling, I'm all over cream. Cream tip to toe. Arms. Legs. All of me!
And clean! I'm simply smothered in suds. Oodles of suds! Oceans of. I don't know what I ever did to deserve DOVE!
And you know how soap leaves your skin so dry? That nasty stretched feeling? Well, DOVE makes me feel all velvet and silk, all soft and smooth. Just the most pampered, most spoiled, girliest girl in the world. Darling, I'm purring.
And did I tell you DOVE is sort of me-shaped? That it's curved to fit my hand, so it doesn't keep slithering away in the tub? Soap is soap, but a bath with DOVE is heaven!
And just think, darling—tomorrow night, I can do it again.

DOVE creams your skin while you bathe
NOTE TO EAVESDROPPERS
You can buy the remarkable new bath and toilet bar called DOVE today. DOVE is a completely new formula. DOVE makes rich lather in hardest water. DOVE leaves no bathtub ring. Lever Brothers guarantee that DOVE is better for your face, your hands, all of you, than regular toilet soap. If you don't agree, we'll give you back every penny you paid.

House Battles Predicted for Grain Subsidy

Wide Split Develops In Farm Bloc; City Members Resentful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for new corn and feed grain subsidies appeared headed today for a stalemate in the House

As the House prepared to start final voting late in the day on rival proposals, a widening split among farm state members lessened chances of agreement on any immediate program of help for the Corn Belt

Uncertainties over the cost of new farm price props, and resentment among city members over more farm spending, made passage of the legislation even more doubtful.

Calls for Rejection

Rep Smith (D-Va), chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee, called on the House during debate Wednesday to reject a bill backed by Agriculture Committee Democrats for expanded soil bank benefits to growers of corn and other feed grains

Under the present 750-million-dollar soil bank program, farmers are paid for voluntarily retiring some of their land from production of crops in surplus supply

The Democratic plan, among other things, would extend the program to growers of feed grains.

Smith said the taxpayers are aroused over the size of the budget, and that responsibility for cutting expenditures rests "right here in the House"

Labeled 'Monstrosity'

Republicans called the Democratic bill a "monstrosity" and a "raid on the United States Treasury." They contended it would cost from 500 million to a billion dollars, and predicted President Eisenhower would veto it, if it is passed.

Rep. Poague (D-Tex), who with Cooley sponsored the bill, estimated its top cost at 400 million dollars.

Republicans were backing a bill by Rep. Andresen (R-Minn). It would support at 75 per cent of parity — a price standard deemed fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Corn farmers also would be eligible under this bill for subsidies for placing 15 per cent of their cropland in the soil bank

Soil bank cost of the Andresen bill presumably would not exceed the 217 million dollars already earmarked for corn payments this year.

July 4th Group Meets

Eleven members were present at a meeting of the Marion Fourth of July Celebration Committee, Inc, Wednesday night in City Hall.

Plans were made to contact a fireworks company at Hudson, O, to provide displays for this year's July 4th show. It was announced that donations to finance the annual event are coming in steadily

A meeting April 4 will be highlighted by completing additional plans for the July 4 festivities Ralph White is chairman in charge of arrangements.

Sandusky Baby Drowns

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Five-month-old Janet Marie Dorcey drowned Wednesday when she fell into a lard pail partially filled with water

Her mother, Mrs Lester Dorcey, had been called away from their trailer home for a few minutes. When she returned she found the child face down in the pail.

Coroner Jack Walker ruled the death accidental.

Ike

Senate only after a last-minute flurry of pros and cons.

Before the House convened Eisenhower told his news conference the Middle East situation looks brighter but fresh details must be dealt with daily.

House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass) said it is now up to Eisenhower to carry out the Middle East resolution

"It's his responsibility," McCormack said, adding

"The Democratic control of Congress has given to the country and to the free world leadership of an outstanding and courageous nature . Let us hope the President, who is the sole repository of foreign affairs under our form of government . will proceed affirmatively with sound judgment and with courage"

Denounce Senate Version

Chairman Gordon (D-Ill) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and Rep. Vorys (Ohio), a senior committee Republican, joined in denouncing the Senate version but said it would be better to accept it than spend more time in getting the resolution passed.

Overriding some last - minute complaints about "gag rule" and "foreign giveaway," House leaders opened today's session an hour earlier than usual and had a one-hour limit put on debate

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachussets predicted passage by a margin at least as wide as the 355-61 vote by which the House first passed the resolution Jan. 30 The House ap-

Later Eisenhower was asked how he was feeling generally. At that point he reported his cough was better but that he was having difficulty hearing.

Other Matters

The President also dealt with these other matters.

Middle East—Eisenhower said that beginning as early as 1948 he has never discussed Israel with anyone without saying that nation's existence is an historic fact and its problems must be dealt with

He made that remark when a reporter told him he was understood to have told King Saud of Saudi Arabia during their recent talks that Israel is here to stay

As for the situation resulting from Israel's withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the prospective pullout from the Gulf of Aqaba area, Eisenhower said the United States has taken the position that the gulf is an international waterway and that this country plans to so use it together with other nations

But to a question as to what an American shipper could assume would happen if he traveled through the gulf, Eisenhower replied he would have to consult further with the State Department .

Six Firms Bid On Sewer Jobs

Proposals Will Be Studied by Officials

Six contractors entered bids today on planned sewer construction in the city's east side

They were Frank Verderberger, Inc, of Toledo R H McManus and Co, Detroit, Tiffin Excavation Contractors, Inc of Tiffin, the Haddad Construction Co of Columbus, G M Scott Inc of Shelby, and Plumley Contractors of Marion

The sewer projects are a 24-inch line on Forest Lawn Blvd, a 24-inch line on Indiana Ave, and a 10-inch sewer on Forest Lawn

Three of the contractors bid on all three sewers One bid on two projects, and the other two bid on only one project

The bids were opened shortly after noon in the municipal courtroom in City Hall

City officials and consulting engineers planned to study the bids this afternoon to determine the lowest and best bidders for the various projects Because of the complexity of the various alternates it was not possible to determine the lowest bids immediately.

toward helping to finance the center have been gratifying, reaching $18,277 to date These constitute contributions of individuals, industries and civic groups

A down payment of $9 000 was made on the center from Red Cross reserve funds at the time of its purchase, Mr Conkle noted He indicated that the board of directors hopes to pay off the remaining amount with the help of subscriptions over a reasonable period of time

Four Join Police Lodge

State and city patrolmen were enrolled as members when the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 24 met Wednesday night They are State Patrolmen Larry Mikawitch, Donald Labe and Harry Alexander, and City Patrolman Donald Basler

Lawrence Cocherl, city patrolman, was appointed to serve on the board of trustees Other business included a discussion of further plans for the variety show to be staged March 30 at the Coliseum.

and operate with either a newly-appointed group or the society as a whole

"Since you created the board in question, it is in your power to dissolve it," the prosecutor asserted The key to what is to be done lies in your hands," he added

Other management possibilities he suggested were these the society could appoint a manager with the sole responsibility of running the building choose a committee for the job, lease the Coliseum to another group to operate, or vest the title back to the county commissioners giving them the responsibility on its operation

Mr Stout noted that under the Coliseum s present operational set up no tax levy could be made available to provide funds for its operation or upkeep 'As things stand now, the Coliseum has the benefit of only the $20 000 a year that the county commissioners are empowered to appropriate to the agricultural society to help with maintenance of buildings, beyond, of course what the Coliseum takes in for activities," the prosecutor declared

THE SPEAKER continually emphasized the fact that the agricultural society has sole control of the Coliseum "It is yours" he said, "and you must decide whether you want to keep it and if so, how you want to continue its operation Your indebtedness faces you in any event" he added

Mr Stout pointed out that in his opinion, the society should first ascertain how much it owes before any action be taken on how best to dissolve these outstanding obligations or to provide for future debts

"Use some sound accounting," he cautioned 'Determine what the fixed costs of the Coliseum are Arrive at some standard rentals Determine whether you want to rent your building for a fixed or a percentage fee" he urged

There was some question as to the legality of the procedure used in obtaining the ice making equipment, but Mr Stout said that the society, as such, was as a corporation "capable of acquiring things in and of itself' "You were wholly within your rights to sign contracts," the prosecutor declared

Mr Stout said it appeared to him the society's first step was to "determine who is going to run the Coliseum"

He added that while the legality of the present Coliseum board was a matter for the courts, the board was, in his opinion, "a rather far-fetched delegation of authority" He reiterated however that the society had the basic control of the Coliseum "You put the authority where it is now," he declared

Mr Stout suggested that the society might alleviate the question of legality by removing the three members of the board whose nonmembership in the society led to the original question of the board's status

Mr Stout concluded by reporting that he had written to the state s attorney general for his opinion of the board s legality Pending a report from that office the society members agreed to take over the active management of the Coliseum and to call the special meeting with the sports services representative

Ships

I don t see how they could have survivied" he added

Ship Engulfed in Flames

'The ship was covered with flames in an instant and listing to port as I went over the side I saw many members of the crew jumping into the water"

The survivors appeared in agreement that the Elna had struck the tanker amidships The Coast Guard said the Elna "with its bow stove in and afire, was aground at Channel Shoal' and that several members of the crew were fighting a fire on the vessel four hours after the collision which occurred in overcast rainy weather shortly before 1 a m

Scene of the collision is about 40 miles south of Philadelphia at a point where the river is about two miles wide

Tells of Collision

One of the survivors of the Elna, described as an Estonian ship under Liberian registry George Malvar, 19, said he was at the helm and taking orders from the river pilot, Capt Henry Rice, when the two ships struck

Malvar said the Elna was proceeding "normally down the channel when the pilot suddenly told me to veer to starboard

He told the captain (Alexander Kaare) to blow the whistle I turned the ship and the pilot told the captain to blow the whistle again The next thing I saw was this tanker crossing our bow I braced myself for the collision and the pilot ordered full astern

2-Inch Snow Covers Area; Fall Continues

Two inches of snow, which may be the last of the season, covered Marion and the area today as the March brand of blustery weather hit wide sections of the country

It was cold and windy in most of the north central section and there was rain and snow in many places

Highways throughout the state were reported wet and the Department of Highways said there were some slippery spots in an area east and north of a line marked by Sandusky, Upper Sandusky, Mount Vernon, Wooster and Youngstown

Temperature readings ranged from near zero along the Canadian border to the 20s through Kansas and Oklahoma and to the 50s in southern Texas

The mercury here climbed to a high of 42 Wednesday before the snow started about 5 o'clock in the evening and last night it dropped to a reading of 30, a cording to local weather observers A year ago the high for the day was 66 and the low 46

A few snow flurries were expected throughout today and the forecast for tonight and Friday is partly cloudy and colder Low tonight is to be around 20 and the high Friday will be 35

During the first phase of the study the Marion public school system, through Mr Brown, expressed interest in having a branch program set up here He was officially informed of the university s interest in Marion as a site through a personal interview with Novice Fawcett, president of the university, about a month ago

The branch plan under consideration would offer the equivalent of the first two years of college and would use present school facilities, Mr Brown said

Clinic-Lastrapes Hearing Planned Here on April 23

The date for the hearing in Common Pleas Court in the case of the Frederick C Smith Clinic against Dr Thomas S Lastrapes, formerly of the clinic's staff, has been set for 9 30 a m Tuesday, April 23 Judge Jay S McDevitt of Mount Vernon, will preside The clinics seeking a permanent injunction restraining the practice of Dr Lastrapes in Marion County

The hearing was originally scheduled for Feb 15, but was canceled when the law firm of Strehlitz, Halberstein and Mitchell, representing the clinic, withdrew that part of its petition asking for a temporary injunction In its petition, the clinic alleges that Dr Lastrapes signed an agreement with the clinic not to practice medicine in the county for a period of four years should he leave the clinic It alleges he left the clinic and began practice in violation of the agreement

The first hearing on the case in early February was adjourned when the attorneys for Dr Lastrapes filed a demurrer stating that the plaintiff's petition did not contain a cause for action and should be dismissed by the court. Judge McDevitt subsequently upheld the allegation of the demurrer

The April hearing date was agreed upon by both parties involved The law firms of Moore and Myers and Moloney and Kelly represent Dr Lastrapes.

Heat's On

By Victor Riesel

The heat's on, brothers — but don't get hysterical. Just tear off the top of your subpena and mail it on a two cent postcard. I'll tell you how to catch some cool, as my West Indian friends say.

VICTOR RIESEL

You might try for squatter's rights in Dave Beck's headquarters. There, on his desk you'll find some buttons. Push one and a huge curtain moves and shuts out the world. Another bit of thumb pressure and the sun's rays are diffused through the huge picture window.

Or, you might visit the union official who loves nature — and has an artificial waterfall in his living room.

Then there is a special list of the poorer class of labor chiefs who have swimming pools on their lawns, Florida estates, ranches, mountain lodges — and their own hideaways atop apartment houses they own.

IF YOUR NERVES are bad now, there are brothers with yachts, polo ponies, racing stables, boxes at the track and night clubs.

Obviously there's no reason for shattered nerves and sleepless nights. Relax until you have to testify. And that may not be so soon.

There are 75 witnesses to be heard by the Senate select committee on labor-management abuses and racketeering.

The next set of hearings won't resume in Washington until early in April — and then probably just the New York crowd.

The other 20 cities will just have to wait their turn. These may be anywhere from Kansas City to Philadelphia.

By that time all the lush livers, and I don't use the term entirely without its biological insinuations, may be easily persuaded to share or rent their cool establishments.

Several government agencies may want to know just how all this Thorstein Veblen-ism befell certain labor chiefs.

Incidentally, Mr. Veblen has not been around for some time, so don't name check him, fellows.

APPARENTLY THE Senate crime-busters under the Arkansas traveler, John McClellan, and that bit of Plymouth Rock, Bob Kennedy, have some ideas of their own. The next pattern of connivance on which they will center will be the use of the jurisdictional strike racket.

As my inactive mind grasps this, this gimmick works on the theory that once you get an employer in a vise between two so-called unions, you can squeeze thousands of dollars out of him.

This is how it works: First one union throws a picket line around a small factory. Then another union comes into the picture.

There's a great rehearsed wrestling match. Both unions are indignant, claiming this is their territory.

Finally one or both sets of so-called union chiefs send word to the employer that one or the other will go away for a certain sum.

-:-

SOMETIMES one union in the plant has a legitimate contract with the boss when the new union shows up and pickets for nuisance value. Sometimes there is no union in the shop and both show up at the same time.

But the point is that there is great opportunity for saying that so much money was spent on time, energy, pickets and planning for the little crusade that the boss should pay off. And he has been, according to considerable evidence now in the committee's live files.

This is just one of the patterns the Senate probers have encountered. But whatever the pattern, it adds up big money and lush living.

This is not unionism — and as it unfolds so will a running battle between the mobs and the honest folk inside labor. It was Jim Carey, at the Pennsylvania CIO State Convention the other week, who laid it on the line:

-:-

"THERE IS SUCH a thing as venal corruption. There can be crimes in the labor movement that are not illegal, but morally reprehensible. Venal corruption, I think, can arise when union officials are men who view their organizations not as a sacred trust, not as a brotherhood .. but rather as a business enterprise, a coldblooded commercial undertaking.

"Venal corruption can arise when enormous gaps develop between the living standards of union members and .. . union leaders . . . Venal corruption can arise when union officials come . . to think of the labor movement as a means to personal enrichment, huge bank accounts, swimming pools in their front yards and artificial waterfalls in their living rooms.

"Those who either legally or illegally use unionism solely as a means to personal enrichment deserve to be hounded out of the American labor movement as fast, as furiously and as finally as we can find the means to do it."

That says it. And a top labor leader says it, at that.

Local Bank Cited For Sale of Bonds

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds at the National City Bank of Marion have passed the 20-million dollar mark, J. Quent Williams of the U.S. Treasury, Ohio Savings Bond Division, announced today.

In commending bank officials on their bond program, he said: "National City has one of the finest bond-issuing departments in Ohio, and this is particularly notable for a city of Marion's size. The mechanized facilities and experienced personnel accomplish the issuance of bonds in one-fifth of the time normally required."

Mr. Williams also noted that National City had recently been singled out by Secretary of the Treasury Humpherey for the Minute Man Award for outstanding achievements in the promotion and sale of the bonds.

The $25 bond pushing the bank over the record mark was purchased by Frank Bruno of 538 Vernon Heights Blvd., bank officials said.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

A Cardington area driver and two passengers in his auto suffered minor injuries in one of the two Marion County accidents investigated by patrolmen of the local post Wednesday. City police reported one injury in four accidents.

In an accident on Route 529 just east of the Marion-Morrow County line at 9:45 p.m., a car driven by Wilbur B. Schorr, 49, skidded off the left side of the road and struck a tree.

Extensive damage was done to the auto. The driver suffered a lacerated lip. Betty Schorr, 15, sustained lacerations of the right leg, and Edith Schorr, 44, a sprained ankle. All three were treated by a a local doctor.

Marion County Road 17, two miles northwest of New Bloomington, was the scene of a second accident at 11:45 p.m. in which a car driven by Samuel H. Oehler, 28, of near LaRue struck a power pole on the left side of the road, patrolmen said.

Moderate damage was done to the vehicle which went out of control when it hit a slippery spot on the pavement.

Boy Slightly Injured

A nine-year-old Marion youth was injured slightly in one of four accidents investigated Wednesday by city police.

Gregory Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin E. Bell of 216 W. Pleasant St., suffered a skinned right knee and left hand when he was struck by a car on Pearl St. south of W. Church St. at 4:26 p.m. Police said the car was driven by Roland A. Thomas, 49, of 217 Neil Ave. Mr. Thomas took Gregory home to his parents and told police he would see that he would receive medical treatment.

Each of the other three accidents caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleaningest" rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical as ½ gallon of concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Construction Program Is Begun at Institution

Construction of an honor dormitory and garage at the Marion Correctional Institution got under way this week as part of a $700,000 building program scheduled for completion next spring.

Lamoyne Green, superintendent, said the new two-story dormitory will be of brick construction and will accommodate 300 inmates. The garage, also of brick, will house institution vehicles.

A third phase of the program, construction of six new towers, is partially completed, Mr. Green said. Completion of all phases originally was scheduled for September. Because of a slow start this spring, completion is not expected before next April, he explained.

Contractor for the project is the Knowlton Construction Co. of Bellefontaine.

Plans Salvage Depot

Willard R. Johnson of 181 Superior St. said today the business he plans to operate north of the Williamsport Rd. and west of the junction of Routes 23 and 4 is an auto repair and salvage depot, rather than a junkyard, as reported in The Star Thursday.

A permit was issued for the business Tuesday by Dr. W. A. Ranck, Marion Township zoning inspector.

Traffic Cases

R. V. McGhee, 38, of Worthington, $15 and costs, speeding.

Luther Perkins, 35, of Findlay, $100 and costs, five days in jail, three years suspension of driving rights, leaving the scene of an accident.

Auto, Hub Cap Thefts Reported to City Police

Theft of a 1956 two-door sedan owned by Frank W. Eiseman of 433 N. State St. is under investigation today by city police. The car was stolen from its parking place near 130 N. Prospect St. between 9:30 and 10:45 p.m. Wednesday, police reported.

Police also are investigating a series of hub cap thefts reported Wednesday. Two of the thefts occurred in the same block on N. Seffner Ave.

Two hub caps were reported stolen from a 1955 sedan owned by W. C. Knell of 251 N. Seffner Ave. Jack Andrews of 202 N Seffner Ave. reported four hub caps were stolen from his car.

A Mr. Calvert reported four hub caps stolen from his car while parked in a downtown lot.

Pact Accepted By Switchmen

Wage Hike, 7 Paid Holidays Included

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Switchmen's Union of North America announced Wednesday its members had accepted a proposed three-year contract calling for pay increases totaling 22½ cents an hour, plus seven paid holidays.

The total vote was not announced, but about 10,000 switchmen on more than 35 railroads were involved in the wage dispute.

The union said this was the first time paid holidays for operating personnel ever had been negotiated with the railroads. It was estimated the holiday pay would be worth more than six cents an hour to the switchmen.

The new contract calls for 12½ cents an hour pay increase retroactive to Nov. 1, plus 5 cents an hour next Nov. 1 and another 5 cents Nov. 1, 1958.

In addition, the contract includes an escalator clause pegged to the cost-of-living index.

Switchmen represented by the union, which has its headquarters here, are believed to have been earning about $5,100 a year under the old contract.

Sen. Humphrey Says Huge Profits Cause Price Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) attributed rising prices today to what he called "enormous profits" by big corporations.

He called on the White House for "forceful action" rather than "pious admonitions" to halt the increase.

Humphrey said in a statement there is "growing evidence" the administration hopes to blame organized labor for increased living costs "by contending that wage demands have forced the cost of goods and services upward."

"It is a frightening prospect when the administration sits silently with its hands folded while corporate giants push for more and more despite record -breaking profits that are almost beyond human comprehension," Humphrey declared in a statement.

Of the dozen islands in the Bay of Panama only Taboga, an extinct volcano, is inhabited.

1957 City Bowling Tournament Opens Saturday

Five-Week Event Features Best of Marion's Keglers

The annual City Bowling Tournament will open a five-week run Saturday at the Marion Recreation center.

Team events in the annual tourney, biggest bowling event of the year in Marion, will get under way at 6:45 p.m. Saturday with action continuing every night next week and running through the weekend of April 14.

Ed Cheney, secretary of the Marion Bowling Association, reported this year's event will be the biggest ever staged at the Marion lanes. The entry list this year is just slightly under the record entry list from last year.

A TOTAL OF 136 teams, representing the cream of the crop here, will be shooting for the top prize in this year's five-week event. The doubles competition is expected to pull 275 two-man sets while 322 have registered to compete for prizes in the singles competition. In addition, 78 men will be rolling in the Class A all-events while 42 will shoot for honors in the Class B all-events. The 120 all-events entries is a new tournament record.

Last year's team champions was the Fraternal Order of Police team with a 3,075 total. Charles Stubbs and William Hartman walked off with the doubles crown with a 1,277 tally while Tom Blair captured the singles crown with a 708. Blair's 1,846 was good for the Class A all-events laurels while Sam Mehaffey took the Class B all-events action with a 1,625. The Power Manufacturing squad turned in the actual high score and was cited by the American Bowling Congress. Blair had the highest three-game tally, a 687 series, to tie him with Dick Dale for the highest series turned in in Marion during the entire season.

THE 9 P.M. SHIFT in Monday's team action will include one of Marion's bowling oddities. Two all-family squads will be shooting for the prize. Those teams are the Bibler Burial Co. squad with five Roseberry brothers, Joe, Darrell, Max, Dick and Ned, and the Mar-O-Del entry, made up of Pearl Owens and his four sons, Bob, Don, Dick and Kenny. The Owens group currently is leading the Palace League by a comfortable margin.

Cheney said copies of the schedule had been posted at both the Marion and Palace Recreation Centers. The following schedule is for next week's action.

SPORT PAYS OFF. Marvin Thompson, living south of Marion, is one hunter and trapper who goes after his sport with enthusiasim. In fact, Mr. Thompson has a grand total of 806 skins to show for this season's forays in field and stream. Shown above with the hides are (left to right) Carl, 9, Mr. Thompson, and Marvin Jr., 12. The two boys help their father by handling much of the skinning chore. In all, Thompson trapped 238 raccoons, 481 muskrats, 32 mink, two skunks and four opossums this year. In addition, he either shot or trapped 49 red foxes. While pleased with the return from his hobby Mr. Thompson notes that "there's plenty of work" connected with a haul like this.

SPORT SHORTS ... Off the Cuff

By JOHN SHORT

Stan Franks, a Marion sophomore at Miami University, has become the first graduate of the Marion YMCA swimming team to carve himself a niche in the collegiate swimming world.

SHORT

Today, Friday and Saturday the Marion youth will be trying to help his Miami mates dethrone Bowling Green as Mid-American Conference swimming champions in the conference meet to be held at Miami's Shaw Billings Natatorium.

Franks has become one of the team's top competitive mermen by sheer persistence. He is expected to perform in the 100-yard, the 220-yard and the 440-yard freestyle events for the Miami aquatics.

When Franks enrolled at Miami, he was just another hopeful with dreams of making the varsity. When he first reported he was threatened with obscurity among the many other aspirants. The big difference, according to Miami coach Raymond Ray, was an indomitable spirit that made him want to be better than anyone else

RAY WATCHED Franks working out, decided the youngster had something and gave him a chance

"He was a shy youngster who stayed in the background while testing his ability against the varsity swimmers as they worked out," the Miami coach reported "It seemed that every time he jumped into the pool he got better and I decided he was worth watching."

Stan started the season as a freestyler in the 220-yard event with a time of 2:35 and against Xavier he brought his time down to 2:28 to finish first. He swam the 100-yard freestyle in 60 seconds at the beginning of the season and against Xavier he lowered his time to 56 seconds for another first place finish.

"He took a first place against DePauw, too,!" Ray said. "And by this time I figured I had a pretty good freestyler on my squad. He's going to be my No. 2 man on the freestyle relay team as soon as we can get it organized."

SINCE HE'S just a sophomore, Stan has a lot of time to develop and already is expected to become one of the best swimmers in recent Miami history in a sport that is gaining in popularity on the Oxford campus.

"If he keeps improving the way he has and keeps cutting down his time in the 220 we have a chance of getting a championship team organized," Coach Ray enthused.

Franks received his early training under the watchful eye of Warren Foster, coach of the rapidly-improving Marion YMCA swim teams. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley K. Franks of 1020 Leetonia Rd.

ENDS CAREER. DeMont Sponseller, little 5-8 guard from Sulphur Springs, has wound up a brilian career at Heidelberg College in Tiffin. The scrappy little playmaker staged his final performance for the Student Princes Tuesday night against Wittenberg. This year will mark the fourth as a varsity letterman for the Crawford County star.

Freitas Quits Sandusky for Post at Lima

Jack Freitas, Sandusky High School cage mentor, will be making his last appearance as leader of the Blue Streaks during the district tourney play here Friday and Saturday.

The personable Sandusky coach has resigned his current post to accept the position as head baseball and basketball coach and assistant football mentor at Lima Shawnee High School. Announcement of his resignation was made Wednesday by Carl L. Mackey, superintendent of the Sandusky School system.

The Blue Streaks will meet the powerful Shelby Whippets in the nightcap of Friday night's program at the Coliseum. Mansfield and Tiffin Columbian will meet in the opener.

The Streaks and Tiffin qualified for district play by sweeping through the Sandusky sectional event last week while Mansfield and Shelby were survivors of sectional play here.

The district winner here will join the champions from Lima, Toledo and Columbus for regional action at Toledo on March 15 and 16 The winner there will move into the state tourney the following weekend at Ohio State University's St. John Arena.

Fullmer-Robinson Rematch Delayed

CHICAGO (AP) — Gene Fullmer's defense of his middleweight boxing crown in a rematch with Sugar Ray Robinson has been delayed a week until May 1 in the Chicago Stadium.

The International Boxing Club said the date was changed at the request of the sponsors of the telecast of the fight — a brewing firm and a soap company — to conform with an early May sales promotion campaign.

Pick Howard, Laughlin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's basketball team has elected Frank Howard and Jim Laughlin, both 20-year-old juniors, as co-captains for next season. They succeed Gene Millard.

Bill Casper Jr., Wesley Ellis and Robert L Kay qualified for the 1957 Masters golf tournament by finishing among the first 24 players in the 1956 U.S. Open at Rochester, N.Y.

Wertz Ready For Outfield Duty if Called

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Vic Wertz doesn't care how many home runs he hits for the Cleveland Indians this year as long as he drives in a run a game.

The bald-headed first baseman was the No. 2 home run hitter in the American League last year with 32. "RBI's (runs batted in) are more important," he said today. Wertz batted in 106 last year.

Wertz figures on being the Indians' first baseman again, but he'll play anywhere he's needed. Before he came to Cleveland he was an outfielder.

"I've heard rumors I might be needed in the outfield again, so I'm getting my arm in shape," he said. "If I'm needed in the outfield for a few games, I'll be ready. I'd even try third base if they asked me."

Tigers Talk Deals With Yank Brass

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers are ready to resume talks with the New York Yankees that could bring extra outfield strength to the Detroit club.

While scotching one reported trade that would bring third baseman Andy Carey to Detroit for centerfielder Bill Tuttle, the Tigers definitely are interested in two or three of the Yankee farm hands

Honors Justice Reed

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Court Street between West Second and West Third streets is to be renamed Stanley F. Reed Court in honor of Maysville's Stanley F. Reed, who retired last week as associate justice of the United States Supreme Court. The Maysville City Commission decreed it Wednesday.

Youngsters Bidding for Tribe Posts

By The Associated Press

Freshman Manager Kerby Farrell of the Cleveland Indians, already rich in pitching talent, has some eager phenoms on hand to keep the veterans on their toes Established performers include Early Wynn, Bob Lemon, Herb Score, Mike Garcia, Don Mossi, Ray Narleski and Art Houtteman.

Farrell also has an impressive rookie crop he brought with him from Indianapolis of the American Assn., which won the Little World Series last year.

One of Farrell's top moundsmen was Leo (Bud) Daley, who compiled an 11-1 won-lost record and 2.31 earned run average after being farmed out in July by former Cleveland skipper Al Lopez.

The 24-year-old southpaw thinks, he'll have a better chance to stick this season.

"Kerby knows what I can do," said Daley. "I can start and I can relieve. I can pitch every day. . . . Last year Lopez didn't want reliefers pitching batting practice. He wanted our arms fresh. But it doesn't bother my arm. Kerby knows that."

Other pitching prospects from Indianapolis are Stan Pitula (15-4) Hank Agguire (10-5 and then 3-5 with Cleveland) and Dolan Nichols (12-6). Two other promising hurlers, Ed Gasque (11-7) and John Gray (10-7), still are unsigned.

Another mound hopeful is Pete Mesa, who posted a 13-12 mark with San Diego of the PCL and then captured 14 in a row in the Mexican Winter League.

Elsewhere around the camps:

Pitcher Mickey McDermott of Kansas City and outfielders Jimmy Piersall and Gene Stephens of Boston came to terms Wednesday. . . . The Tigers shifted catcher J. W. Porter to the outfield. . . .

The Yanks' Bob Turley and Brooklyn's Don Newcombe, both hampered with arm ailments, worked out with no ill effects. . . . Pittsburgh Manager Bobby Bragan is hunting for a fourth starting pitcher behind Bob Friend, Ronnie Kline and Vernon Law. . . . Lew Burdette, 19-game winner of the Braves, is holding out for reported $30,000 contract—a raise of $7,500. . . .

Owner Hbrace Stoneham says Ruben Gomez will be subjected to daily fines if further absence from Giants' camp persists, but the Puerto Rican pitcher claims he's waiting for plane tickets from club.

Slated at Morral

Junior High School Cage Tourney To Begin Friday

The annual Marion County Junior High Basketball tournament is scheduled to begin Friday, with four first round games slated. All contests will be played in the Morral School gymnasium.

Four second round tilts are to be played Saturday, while the semifinal tilts are set for Friday, March 15, at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. The championship and consolation games will be staged Saturday, March 16, at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. respectively.

In first round action Friday, Claridon meets the Caledonia juniors in the opener at 6 p.m. Morral takes the floor against New Bloomington at 7 p.m., while Pleasant tangles with the LaRue five at 8 o'clock. The nightcap features Meeker against Prospect at 9 p.m.

Second round action Saturday night will find the winner of the Claridon - Caledonia game facing Martel at 6 p.m.; the victor in the Morral-New Bloomington battle clashing with Green Camp at 7 p.m.; the Pleasant;LaRue winner locking horns with Grand Prairie at 8 p.m.; and the winner of the Meeker-Prospect tilt playing Waldo at 9.

The tourney teams are made up of boys in each school's 7th, 8th and 9th grades under 17 years of age. All players must be scholastically eligible to play, under terms of varsity rules. Boys who have played either varsity or reserve ball are not eligible to compete on these junior high squads.

All games will feature quarters of six minutes duration, with both the winner and runnerup of the tournament to receive a trophy. Admission to all games will be 30 cents per person.

Dodgers Wait City Move on New Stadium

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Looks may be deceiving, but it looks as if the New York City Board of Estimate better get a move on if it doesn't want the Brooklyn Dodgers to start traveling.

This is the situation:

Los Angeles apparently has more than tentative plans for a ball park, but doesn't have a major league ball club. Brooklyn has a major league ball club, but not even tentative plans for an adequate ball park.

That's the way things looked today after Los Angeles officials had completed their one-day sales pitch to Dodger officials and went home smiling optimistically.

There is indication, however, that Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, would prefer to stay in Brooklyn — on his terms. That would mean a reasonably quick decision by the board of estimate and sports authority on some tangible plans for a new ball park.

Kansas Takes Title To Cinch Spot in NCAA

By The Associated Press

The Kansas Jayhawks, who won the 1952 NCAA basketball championship and advanced to the finals on two other occasions, were back on the tournament trail today after clinching the Big Seven title.

Led by All America Wilt Chamberlain's 24 points, Kansas defeated Kansas State at Manhattan Wednesday night 84-57 for its 10th conference win in 11 games. The nation's No. 2 team, with a 20-2 seasonal record, meets Southern Methodist March 15 in the NCAA regional tourney at Dallas.

20 Teams Qualified

With 20 teams already qualified for the NCAA playoffs, Yale clinched at least a tie for the Ivy League crown by downing Pennsylvania 60-54.

The Ivy League, and winners of the Southern and Atlantic Coast Conference tournaments starting this afternoon, provide the other three teams for the NCAA hoop whirl. North Carolina and West Virginia are favored in the two tourneys.

The National Invitation Tournament named Bradley and Utah to fill out the 12-team lineup that opens warfare in New York March 16. Bradley was runner-up to St. Louis in the Missouri Valley loop, while Utah finished second to Brigham Young in the Skyline.

St. Louis, assured of the title and a NCAA berth, had the pressure off Wednesday night and swamped Oklahoma A&M 74-56.

Yale can win the Ivy title if second-place Dartmouth loses to Harvard tonight. Otherwise the Bulldogs must defeat Harvard Saturday.

Two All American players will lead their teams into tournament frays as Len Rosenbluth and his North Carolina mates take on Clemson, and Hot Rod Hundley and West Virginia open up against Davidson.

Duke plays South Carolina, Maryland meets Virginia and Wake Forest tackles North Carolina State in other Atlantic Coast loop games. Other games in the Southern Conference tourney pit Furman against Richmond, Washington & Lee against The Citadel and Virginia Tech against William and Mary.

Forte Scores 34

Another All America, Columbia's Chet Forte, scored 34 points Wednesday night, but the Lions were defeated by Princeton 88-82. This left Columbia and Princeton tied for third in the Ivy League.

Notre Dame and Syracuse, both headed for NCAA regional tournaments, kept on winning. Notre Dame employed the regulars less than half of the game and trounced Marquette 94-55 for the ninth Irish win in a row. A second-half spurt gave Syracuse a 69-58 victory over Cornell.

Youngsters Given Braves' Hill Duty

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Manager Fred Haney has nominated three young righthanders for pitching duties when the Milwaukee Braves open their exhibition season Saturday night against the Brooklyn Dodgers at Miami.

After an intrasquad game Wednesday Haney said Joey Jay, Humberto Robinson and Don McMahon will see duty on the mound. Another trio of hopefuls will work in Sunday's game with the Dodgers. They are Corky Valentine, Carlton Willey and Dick Grabowski.

Bowling

Eaton and Business Men bowled at the Palace Wednesday night while Ladies All Stars and Mom and Pop keglers were in action at the Marian Center.

Highs for the Eatonmen were turned in by Robert Williams, 245—536; Clyde Schrader, 235—603; Don Penry, 224-204—599; William Gore, 206—526; Ed Snyder, 204—568; Addra Bright, 201—548; Dan Reams, 512; Joe Ferriman, 505; and Harold Thompson, 503.

For the Business Men, highs were turned in by Dick Jerew, 200-201; Howard Williams, 211; Dick Bayless, 227; Dick Burris, 210; Charles Bloomingdale, 225; Dick Kingsley, 207; Skeets Bumgarner, 221; Dick Moran, 201; John Spir s, 231; Ivan Spires, 200; Cloy Johnson, 218—582.

In Ladies All Star competition, highs went to Lillie Dalton, 195—495; Marge Krausz, 184—499; Opal Stroupe, 179—478; Marie Hamilton, 474; Katherine Bascos, 471; Virginia Keck, 178. Splits went to Sally Murray, 5-6-10; Hazel Clapsaddle, 4-5-7; Lois Free, 5-6-10; Joan Shirk, 5-6-10. Grell's had the team single game high of 758, while Davids St. took series honors with a 2130-pin effort.

Mom and Pop leaguers rolling highs included John Kayatin, 248—633; Lois Eshman, 192; Lucille Crock, 166—462; Chuck Reid, 222—602; Jim Jordan, 212—548; Floyd Johnson, 528; Dick Jones, 520; Bob Dripps, 200—513; Trudi Kingsley, 455; Harry Hammond, 204; Katie Reid, 190; Eve Bailey, 163. Splits were registered by Trudi Kingsley, 5-10; Ted Watt, 6-7; Lois Eshman, 4-5-7. Team 2 took the single high with a 744, with the series going to Team 4 on a 2157 score.

Indiana Aces Nail Honors in Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Indiana players, Archie Dees and Dick Nesd, chalked up this season's best Big Ten basketball scoring and accuracy records.

Official conference statistics released Wednesday showed Dees averaged 25.4 points in 14 league games to breeze to the scoring crown. Ohio State's Frank Howard was second with 19.9 and George Kline of Minnesota, third, with 19.1.

Two Illinois sharpshooters, Don Ohl and Harv Schmidt, shared fourth spot with 17.8 each. Joe Ruklick of Northwestern was sixth with 17.1.

Wisconsin's Bob Litzow, with a current mark of 16.7, has a chance to overtake all but Dees. Wisconsin has one game to play, against Iowa Saturday.

An appropriately named 2-year-old at Hialeah is Greentree Stable's Prank. He was sired by Tom Fool, horse of the year in 1953.

3 Clubs Interested In Talks to Rosen

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) —A lot of people still think that Al Rosen can be coaxed into another season of baseball despite his statement that "nothing in the world" could make him change his mind about retiring.

Hank Greenberg, Cleveland Indians' general manager, says that three American League clubs have made offers for Rosen in the past week.

"I presume they believe they can persuade him to play another season," Greenberg said.

"I intend to talk to him myself this week," he added. "Perhaps we can settle this matter once and for all."

Middies Bid For New Win Mark Tonight

By The Associated Press

Middletown may do tonight what no Ohio high school has been able to do for 16 years—and Middletown is an odds-on favorite to pull it off.

If Middletown whips Dayton Wilbur Wright in a Class AA district basketball game at Dayton, it will be Middletown's 47th victory in a row, a new all-time high, and just enough to wipe out the old record of 46 wins held by Dayton Stivers in the 1929-1930 and 1930-1931 seasons.

Middletown goes into tonight's game with a 21-0 record for this season and thus, at least statistically, has a better than even chance of defeating Wilbur Wright, which has a 12-9 season mark.

One man who'll probably be watching the results with more than casual interest is Floyd Stahl, head coach at Ohio State University.

It was Stahl who piloted the Dayton Stivers team to its record string of victories 16 years ago.

Middletown, last year's state champion, is, so far, at least, a repeater for the 1957 regional qualifiers. Middletown and six other qualifiers from last year are still eligible to compete in this year's regionals March 14, 15 and 16.

The other six are Cleveland East Tech, Canton McKinley and Columbus North, all state tournament qualifiers last year, and Tiffin Columbian, Toledo Macomber and Troy.

In the Class A division tournament, to be played the same days, eight teams that made the regionals in 1956 qualify, so far, again this year. They are Lockland Wayne, Marysville, Arcanum, Xenia Woodrow Wilson, Chagrin Falls, Willshire, South Zanesville and New Boston.

Arcanum captured the Class A crown last year and Chagrin Falls and Willshire were in the state tournament. Columbus St. Mary, a state tournament qualifier in 1956, is out of the running this year.

After tonight's activity, 56 of the 349 teams in the Class AA division will still be competing for a chance to play in the regionals. In Class A, 52 will remain from a starting field of 696.

By Saturday night, both divisions will have 16 teams ready to enter the regionals. Pairings are drawn Sunday, March 10.

The regionals will eliminate all but four teams in both divisions.

The four winners will be paired for the state tournament in drawings March 17, and the tournament itself will be played March 22 and 23.

Nuxhall Stops Redleg Power In Brief Stint

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) —Joe Nuxhall, Hamilton, Ohio's gift to the Cincinnati Redlegs' pitching staff just might be what the team has needed for a long time — a 20-game winner, says Birdie Tebbetts.

Twelve pounds lighter than last year, the big portsider held a parade of his teammates hitless Wednesday during a 12-minute batting practice stint on the mound.

"He's plenty tough," commented the team's manager. "This just could be his 20-game year."

Howard on Second Team

Forte, Thompson Awarded All-American Recognition

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP)—Who says there is no place for little men in modern-day basketball?

Chet (The Jet) Forte, at 5 feet 9 perhaps the smallest player in major college basketball, and Gary Thompson, a 5-10 bundle of dynamite, were two of the five players selected for the 1957 associated Press collegiate basketball All American.

Forte, of Columbia, in the Ivy League, and Thompson, of Iowa State in the Big Seven, thus duplicated the achievement of 5-9 Murray Weir of Iowa and 5-10 Ralph Beard of Kentucky, who made the 1948 AP All America.

Joining Forte and Thompson on this year's All America are seven-foot Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, Kansas sophomore; 6-5 Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina's top-ranked Tar Heels, unbeaten in their 24 regular season games; and 6-4 "Hot Rod" Hundley, the colorful "clown" from West Virginia.

The selection of these top scorers, rebounders and drivers were based in large measure on the recommendations of more than 272 sports writers and broadcasters from throughout the country.

Another sophomore, Elgin (The Rabbit) Baylor of Seattle, who like Chamberlain starred in Eastern high school competition before going West, was picked to head a second team that also includes Charley Tyra Louisville; Grady Wallace, South Carolina's national high scorer; Jim Krebs of Southern Methodist's Southwest Conference champions; and Frank Howard, Ohio State.

Guy Rodgers, Temple's star junior, tops the third team. Bill Ebben of Detroit in the Missouri Valley Conference; Jim Ashmore of Mississippi State in the Southeastern Conference; Archie Dees of Indiana's Big Ten co-champions and Larry Friend of California in the Pacific Coast Conference round out the third quintet.

Those selected for the first three teams will receive certificates from the Associated Press.

These Midwest players were among an additional list of 27 stars who received honorable mention: Barney Cable, Bradley; Win Wilfong, Memphis State; Harold Alcorn, St. Louis; Don Medsker, Iowa State; Mike Moran, Marquette; Vernon Hatton, Kentucky and Johnny Green, Michigan State.

BOTH BIG AND LITTLE PLAYERS ON ALL-AMERICA. The 1957 Associated Press All-America college basketball team includes three big fellows—Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas, Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina and "Hot Rod" Hundley of West Virginia—plus two short players, Gary Thompson of Iowa State and Chet Forte of Columbia.

Caledonia Cagers Take 109-68 Win

The Caledonia Merchants belted Wilson's of Green Camp 109-68 Wednesday night in a Tri-County League tourney contest at the Richwood Armory. The win moves the Caledonia squad into a quarter-final contest with the Wyandot Indians next Monday night.

Jumping off to an early lead the winners were never threatened as they steadily increased their margin. They held a 25-20 lead after the first quarter, were out front 55-27 at the half and led 77-46 going into the final period.

Six cagers broke into the double figure scoring column for the winners. Jerry Gorby pumped in 25 points to set the pace while Raymond Walker and Doug Whiteamire each collected 21. George Ray and Bob Hill netted 12 each and John Robertson finished with 11.

Rush had 20 for the losing team while Bish collected 14, Wasserbeck 13 and Finch 10.

Lopez Searching For Relief Hurler

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox, is scratching around for dependable relief pitchers who can qualify as "finishers."

He said during Wednesday's lengthy practice session that it is his bullpen rather than the starting staff that is causing him concern.

He needs relief pitchers for the late innings when a close game is at stake.

So far he lists only three who qualify — Dixie Howell, Paul LaPalme and Ellis Kinder.

Charles IX of France once ruled out tennis as a participant sport even though he played six hours of tennis a day.

Committee Requests Subpena Power in State Contracts Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways announced Wednesday it plans to tighten purchasing procedures and review purchases of the last six months

But even as this was happening, House Democrats demanded a legislative investigation of department purchasing practices to avoid what it termed "favoritism" in awarding contracts

A Democratic watchdog committee, headed by Frank M Gorman (D-Cuyahoga), said subpena powers were needed to learn why the department rejected bids on tire purchases he said would have saved the state $45,000

The department recently rejected a low bid by the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co , Findlay, and said new specifications would be drafted

In a press conference, Highway Chief Charles M Noble said new bids would be taken Monday He added that the department had drawn up specifications which are open and clear so that every one knows what they are bidding on "

Gorman said the $30 000-a-year highway chief refused to appear before his committee or to answer questions about rejection of the tires

The committee said Cooper tires were "not inferior" to those of other bidders The Findlay firm makes tires for the federal government and the Standard Oil Co of Ohio, the report added

It might be advisable to place highway department purchases under supervision of the state auditor, the committee said

Woman Charged

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Police said a woman who was driving a car involving in a collision Wednesday in which her mother was killed, was charged with second degree manslaughter Wednesday night. She is Mrs. Elinor A. Summers, 37, of Massillon.

The accident victim was Mrs. Bert Arnold, 68, of Canton, a passenger in the Summers car. Officers said the Summers car passed a signal light and collided with another car.

Marion Resident Hurt in Delaware County Accident

Charles Hawkins, 25, of 143½ Garden St. was reported in "fair" condition this morning at Marion General Hospital after suffering internal injuries in an accident Tuesday night on Delaware County Road 202.

Patrolmen of the Delaware post who investigated the mishap said it occurred about 2.6 miles west of Route 23 on the county road at 8 p.m. when a car driven by Robert Hinton, 27, of 111 Latourette St skidded out of control.

The westbound vehicle, in which Hawkins was a passenger, struck a fence owned by Ira Oswald of Radnor and went on to plow into a concrete bridge abutment before coming to a standstill.

The driver was uninjured. Patrolmen said moderate damage was done to the 1957 model car. Roads were wet from snow at the time of the accident.

2 New Patrolmen Join Bucyrus Police Force

BUCYRUS — Police Chief Arthur L. Stuckert today announced the appointment of two more patrolmen, bringing the force to 14, one short of its authorized strength.

The new patrolmen are Charles McDonald, 23, who began work today, and Jack Pressler, 25, who will join the force March 16.

Four Men Caught With 'Hot' Hams Now Eat Bologna

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Four Middletown men could have been eating high on the hog—instead it's bologna twice a day.

Patrolman Ronald Watson of the Hamilton police force said he noticed four men approaching customers in a cafe. One approached him and offered to sell him "some hams recently imported from Virginia."

The officer inspected the auto of the four and found the trunk loaded with hams. Notifying Middletown police, he learned the Mayer Meat Co., packing house had been burglarized of 35 hams weighing 15 pounds each.

Confined at city jail for investigation in the burglary, the four men will be on a bologna diet—that's all that's served there, seven days a week, while the jail cook is on vacation.

Guardsmen See Apparition

Lady Jane Grey Joins London Tower's 'Ghosts'

LONDON (NANA) — Two Welsh guardsmen on sentry duty at the Tower of London the other night say they saw a ghost One of them, scurrying to report to his sergeant-major, described it as "a shapeless white figure between the battlements"

The sergeant-major's reaction is not recorded, but the next morning's papers carried a fairly full account of the incident, speculating that the apparition might have been Lady Jane Grey, Queen of England for nine days. The speculation was based on the somber fact that this was the 403rd anniversary of her execution.

British papers take their ghost stories seriously, and certainly there was nothing in the treatment of this episode that might be construed as flimsy or vapor - like One commentator went so far as to point out that here was a most remarkable event, since the tower of London, despite its gory history of royal beheadings, has always been considered free of ghosts

This comment, as any student of ghostlore can testify, is grossly unfair The tower s apparitions may not be quite as ostentatious as spirit brethren elsewhere, but ghosts have lingered there for centuries Prominent, among them is Anne Boleyn, who as recently as Feb 17, 1933 made a notable appearance

The occasion was reported in the austere columns of the Daily Telegraph, which described how a sentry had been confronted by the luminous figure of a headless woman The sentry promptly fled, causing the newspaper to wonder if he would be court-martialed for deserting his post

He wasn't He was merely reprimanded because everyone knew what would happen at a court-martial Not many years earlier, another guardsman had challenged a headless woman, she failed to stop, he stuck out his bayonet—and it went right through a formless cloud This sentry fainted There was a court martial and he was promptly acquitted—even though no one was able to figure how he could recognize a faceless ghost as Henry VIII's hapless second wife

ROYAL PHANTOMS are fairly common in the London area One of Britain's best known authors on haunted houses Elliott O'Donnell, says that so far as he has been able to ascertain, the ghosts of at least two queens meander through Hampton Court palace One of these is Jane Seymour, Henry VIII's third wife

Once a year robed in flowing white gown, she is supposed to mount the main staircase, lighting her own way with a candle extended in her right hand It the conscientious researcher wants to dig into the illustrated Police News of Oct 7, 1893 he can find a detailed description by a nobleman who was much attracted to the apparition and who called Jane Seymour "amazingly beautiful"

Not so appealing is Catherine Howard, Henry s fifth wife who is the other ghostly queen of Hampton Court A tall woman, with dishevelled hair Catherine periodically tries to escape from her old room all the while shouting blood - curdling screams According to legend, she has been doing this ever since on the eve of her beheading, she appealed frantically to Henry for mercy

WHAT OF HENRY himself? He inhabits Windsor Castle He is heard occasionally uttering a groan or walking with faltering steps As he flounders up and down the less frequented and gloomier passages of the castle he sounds as though he suffers from rheumatism or old age (he would now be 466 years old) Sometimes three steps and three soft knocks are heard—and that is all To the non-cynical this simple demonstration confirms Henry's presence the number three has occult significance

But in fairness, it must be admitted that there is no evidence that the three knocks come from Henry They might come from Queen Elizabeth I, King Charles I King George III, or any one of a half dozen other notables, for Windsor Castle is reputed to harbor more royal ghosts than any other place in the world

Among the many people who testified they encountered Elizabeth were the Empress Fredericka of Germany and a grenadier guard officer named Glyn Glyn was browsing through some books in the library one evening, when he heard dainty footsteps approaching from the far end of the room Looking up, he was amazed to see the slately, heavily-jeweled figure of the queen She paused momentarily, smiled, and then vanished into space Soon after Glyn is rumored to have resigned his commission

Minstrel Show Set for Galion

Two Performances Slated at High School

GALION — The PTA Cotton Pickers' Minstrel which has become a tradition in Galion will be presented by the Galion Lions Club next Monday and Tuesday, March 11 and 12.

Popularity of the home - talent production for the last several years has been so great that it is presented annually. Curtain time is 8:15, and the place is Senior High School auditorium.

Dress rehearsal is slated for Sunday afternoon by James Scheiber of the Scheiber Dance Studios of Crestline and Mansfield who is directing the minstrel. A cast of 50 men and boys along with the Scheiberettes, a dance group of girls, will be presented in new songs, dances and speciality numbers.

William MacAdam is interlocutor for the show. End men are Jim Trumpower, Eddie Schultz, Don Taylor and George Joachim. An orchestral background will feature Dick 'Ness as pianist.

Some of the soloists to be heard will be Fred Barr, James Robinson, Fred Wilson, John Dougherty and Eddie Schultz. Two high school groups, the Tiger Trio and the Four Jacks, and Dick Wiener, accordion soloist are assisting the adult cast. James Robinson will be heard on his banjo and will appear with J. B. Staples, mandolin player, for a duo specialty.

Tickets are being sold at Quay's, J & H Shoe Store, Western Auto store and Don Taylor's Western Auto Associate store. Seats for the Monday show will be reserved Friday, and for the Tuesday presentation, Saturday at Seemann's Drug store. Seats will be available at the high school on the show nights.

Ohio Will Fall Shy of Goal in Corn Cutbacks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A farm revolt against federal crop controls appears to have left without takers, five million dollars in soil bank benefits set aside for Ohio corn growers.

J. E. Bradfute, program specialist for the Ohio Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, estimates that only 215,000 acres of normal corn planting will be signed up to be withdrawn from production by the deadline for corn agreements tomorrow.

This would represent about 10 million dollars in benefits compared with the allotted benefits of 380,000 acres to be retired from corn production.

Truck Crash Fatal

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Walter McName, 54, Wapakoneta, was killed Wednesday when his truck collided with another truck driven by George Fisher, 20, of Lima, at a county road intersection north of Buckland in Auglaize County. Fisher received serious injuries.

News of Granges

Serving on the card party committee on March 9 will be Mr. and Mrs. James Salyer, Mrs. Lowell Thomas and Wanda Klingel.

Upper Sandusky Man Falls Off High Bridge

UPPER SANDUSKY — Clyde Yentzer of Upper Sandusky is in fair condition in the Wyandot Memorial Hospital where he was taken following an accident east of Upper Sandusky Tuesday. Mr. Yentzer was at work on the Pennsylvania Railroad west of Nevada.

He was on the railroad's bridge across the Brokensword Creek when stones gave way and he fell approximately 30 feet down an embankment. He suffered a fracture of the left leg and crushed left heel.

Killed in Crash

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — David G. Leasure, 22, of Akron, was killed today when his car went out of control and struck a tree.

'Copter Pilot Charged

CINCINNATI (AP) — William H. Polley faced federal charges of "careless and reckless operation of a helicopter" today. Assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas Stueve said in an information filed in district court that Polley permitted the discharge of two passengers from the helicopter, and the boarding of another at a Cincinnati Airport, while the "whirlybird" was unattended.

Prison Escapee Apprehended At Barberton

Clevelander at Large Since 1953; Walked Off Penitentiary Job

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 58-year-old man who was serving a sentence for murder when he escaped from Ohio Penitentiary three and a half years ago is being held in the city jail at nearby Barberton.

The escapee, John Platzky, was arrested by Akron and Barberton police Wednesday as he was washing his car in front of his home here.

He was admitted to the penitentiary in January, 1920, for the murder of patrolman Robert T. Shelton of the Cleveland police force on Dec. 7, 1919. Warden Ralph Alvis said in Columbus that Platzky walked away in October, 1953, while working as an honor inmate doing plumbing work in a prison dormitory.

Chief Martin Seryak of the Barberton police said Platzky had been using the alias John Hoover and was married about a week ago at Angola, Ind. The chief said the bride, who was not at home when Platzky was arrested, apparently did not know of his past.

Seryak said he would question Platzky about several burglaries and safe crackings in Barberton before he is returned to the penitentiary. Officers found an elaborate set of burglar tools in the trunk of the escapee's car, the chief said. He added that Platzky could give no evidence of having been employed since his escape although he owned an expensive automobile.

Highway Improvement Funds Not for Garage, Court Decides

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled highway improvement money must be used for highway purposes and nothing else.

As a result, the state's Underground Parking Commission will have to look elsewhere for the $64,000 it needs to have preliminary studies made for a 4½-million-dollar parking lot under the statehouse yard.

The commission was authorized by the Legislature to take the $64,000 from highway improvement funds for the studies.

But Olen Grandle, a Columbus and Cincinnati parking lot operator, sought an injunction preventing the appropriation, contending that the state constitution limited use of the funds involved to highway purposes despite legislative authorization.

Lower courts denied Grandle the injunction, but the Supreme Court's 5-1 decision overruled the lower courts

"Under the constitution," the high court said, "the 'highway improvement fund' may be used only for 'statutory highway purposes' and use of the fund for the preliminary studies here involved is not for 'statutory highway purposes.'"

William Knepper of Columbus, chairman of the commission, said the commission now has to look elsewhere for money to finance the preliminary studies.

He said the Supreme Court action would not prevent the commission from going ahead with the underground parking project, but he added that if the commission cannot find the money, it might have to call on the Legislature to provide it.

Test Doesn't Count

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Middletown Hospital nurses thought they'd add a little color to a patient's convalescence by trading his white bed sheets for tinted ones—part of a limited supply of samples being tested for patient reaction.

They'll have to wait.

Questioning the bed occupant, nurses drew a blank—he was color-blind.

Scouts Plan Workshop

Members of Troop 4, Boy Scouts, sponsored by Trinity Baptist Church discussed the workshop program to be started in the near future in their meeting Tuesday night in Trinity House. John Jenkins, assistant scoutmaster, presided and the meeting was opened by Fred Ruhl leading in the Scout oath. Reports were given by Ellsworth Russell and Denny Hacker, patrol leaders. The Scout Law led by Waylan Masters, closed the meeting. The next meeting will be held March 18 at 7:30 p.m. in Trinity House.

Daughters of America To Meet Here

300 Expected at Yearly Rally of Councils In District 4

State and district officers of the Daughters of America will join councils of District 4 for the 43rd annual district rally to be held here Saturday afternoon and evening. Approximately 300 members from the 12 councils comprising the district will attend the two sessions to be held in the Masonic Temple. A banquet at 5:30 will be at the YMCA.

Here for the occasion will be Mrs. Mildred Renick of Columbus, state councilor; Mrs. Bertha Kelley of Galion, district deputy; Mrs. Hazel Anderson of Canton, state vice councilor; Mrs. Irene Porter of Tiffin, junior past state councilor, and Mrs. Flossie Wilson of Akron, state outside sentinel. Members of Mary A. Canfield Council 210 will be hostesses.

REGISTRATION will be at 12:30 p.m. and the rally will get under way at 2 p.m. with Mrs. Kelley presiding. The invocation will be by Rev. Clyde Wendell, pastor of Calvary EUB Church, and officially welcoming the guests will be Mayor Gale Ireland. The response will be by Mrs. Anderson. The welcome from the hostess council will be by Mrs. Essie Thompson, a past state councilor and the response will be by Mrs. Renick.

The afternoon session will include ritualistic work, exemplification of the ballot, memorial services, election and installation of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Gladys Barrett of Bloomville will serve as district councilor and Mrs. Leona Barnhard of Marion as district captain. Mrs. Cordelia Starner, deputy of Mary A. Canfield Council, and Mrs. Thompson are chairmen for the rally. Taking part in the work will be councils from Ashland, Tiffin, Galion, Mansfield, Leesville, Crestline, Shelby, Bloomville, Bucyrus and Marion.

MRS. MILDRED RENICK
State Councilor for D. of A.

MRS. BERTHA KELLEY
Deputy of District 4

THE EVENING session will open at 7:30 o'clock with the presentation of colors by the National Home Council of Tiffin. A short musical program and address by the state councilor will follow. Candidates from the various councils will be initiated and the session will close with the ritualistic ceremony.

District officers taking part in the work will be Mrs. Clara Close of Shelby, junior past councilor; Mrs. Helen Arbogast of Tiffin, associate councilor; Mrs. Gladys Barrett, of Bloomville, councilor; Mrs. Minnie Henry of Mansfield, associate councilors; Mrs. Florence Love of Crestline, vice councilor; Mrs. Ruby Bogart of Marion, associate vice councilor; Mrs. Dorothy Henthorn of Ashland, conductor; Mrs. Marie Block of Galion, warden; Mrs. Bess Lampton, inside sentinel; Mrs. Margaret Lusk of Galion, outside sentinel; Mrs. Mary Jane Smith of Tiffin, secretary; Mrs. Sadie Jackson of Ashland, treasurer; Mrs. Dessie Carpenter and Mrs. Edith Bailey will serve as color-bearers.

Serving as committees for the rally are: Mrs. Gladys Moes, Mrs. Elva Bryant, program; Mrs. Annabelle Ganson, Mrs. Sally Gilmore, Mrs. Esther Knickle, Mrs. Twila Gross, registration—badges and programs; Mrs. Bogart, Mrs. Starner, Mrs. Barnhard, Mrs. Beryl Foust, Mrs. Evelyn McCombs, reception; Mrs. Hazel Thomasson, Mrs. Susie Sharrock, banquet tickets; Mrs. Martha Bisdorf, Mrs. Edna Christ, decorations; Mrs. Barnhard, Mrs. Bryant, property.

Two Men Are Elected To Hardin Health Board

KENTON — Glenn Hanson of Alger and Frank Robinson of Mount Victory were elected to the Hardin County Board of Health when a meeting of the Harding County advisory council was held there Monday, according to Dr. H. R. Johnsson, County Health Commissioner.

Mr. Hanson was appointed for a five year term and Mr. Robinson was named to fill the unexpired term of John Sieg who had resigned. Mr. Robinson will serve until 1958.

Other members of the board are Glenn Clark, Stewart Main and Dr. W. D. DeWar. Mrs. Beth McKinley Slagle is clerk of the board. The Hardin County Health Department's report for 1956 was accepted by the advisory committee.

Bucyrus Asked To Pay For Street Resurfacing

BUCYRUS — The state highway department has requested the city to pay for resurfacing a 1,326-foot stretch of State Route 98 at the south edge of the city, city council here has been informed by Mayor Joe Sullivan.

The mayor said the estimated cost is $1,485. The resurfacing would be a part of the state's planned resurfacing of Route 98 from the Marion County line to the Bucyrus city limits. The land bordering the road is owned by the city due to annexation of an area around the Swan Rubber Co. plants.

Mayor Sullivan recommended that council take no action toward passing the proposed ordinance, submitted by the state, for the city to pay the entire resurfacing costs until "we see if there is any possible way to work out some other arrangement."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned irregular early this afternoon after making initial gains.

Declines became somewhat sharper following reports of President Eisenhower's news conference where he said he is trying to slow down the rate of government spending and he appeared with a cotton plug in one ear which he said was the result of a head cold.

The price pattern was converted from the early range of gains running to a point to one of mingled gains in that range as well as losses running to a point or more.

Leading steels and motors were mostly lower or unchanged while aircrafts showed some fairly sharp losses. Industrials and utilities were down on average but rails were ahead.

Boeing and United Aircraft both dropped well over a point.

Chrysler was down about a point after Wednesday's run-up of 3⅞ as the day's most active stock.

Aluminium Ltd. was down well over a point. Amerada dropped about a point.

Fairbanks-Morse, beset by a proxy fight, traded at a gain of around two.

Oils with big holdings in the Middle East were improved.

U. S. government bonds declined.

Classes Get Recognition At Evangelistic Service

For observance of Sunday School night at the evangelistic service of Calvary EUB Church Wednesday night, special recognition was given the Junior and Intermediate Departments and various classes of the Adult Department.

A trio composed of the song evangelist, Miss Gertrude Cooper of Findlay, and Mrs. Neil Kinley and Mrs. Irwin Jobe of the Calvary congregation sang, "Precious Hiding Place." In addition, Miss Cooper presented a solo, "He Died for Me" illustrated with a scene on felt background and illuminated by special lighting. Prayer was by Dwight Goff.

Friday night was announced as youth night. Children's meetings are held each afternoon at 3:45 in the Junior Room.

The evangelist, Rev. Walter Adams of Shelby, spoke of the need for "missionaries" in the local community.

Special Audit Of Dover's City Finances Due

Rhodes Acts Upon Examiner's Request In Wake of Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A "top-notch" auditor will go to Dover in the next few days to start a complete check of the city's finances, State Auditor James A. Rhodes said today

Rhodes said the audit would be made on the basis of a recommendation by a state examiner, John Cianfiona, to the chief of the Cities Division of the Ohio Bureau of Inspection

The state auditor declined further comment on the audit until the results are available.

Cianfiona recommended the special audit Wednesday and asked that it include accounts of insurance carried with an agency operated by Eugene Hanhart, former state Democratic chairman. Told of the recommendation, Hanhart said it was news to him Hanhart retired as state chairman last May.

Cianfiona held a hearing Wednesday, in Dover to check into the awarding of insurance contracts prior to Jan 1, under the administration of a former mayor, Harry Stucky, a Democrat Questioned at the hearing were Republican Mayor Clifford Froehch, City Auditor Arthur W Wagner, Service Director Edward Elgin and Walter G Weinsz, a Dover insurance man.

Hanhart was awarded a 1¼-million-dollar policy on the Dover light plant in 1955, Weinsz said, although Hanhart was the highest of four bidders Hanhart told newsmen, however, that the contract was awarded legally by the Board of Control. He also cited a taxpayer's suit which was filed in the matter, but later withdrawn

Nationwide Observance

World Day of Prayer Services Slated Friday

Uniting with "thousands of Christians in the United States and around the world," Marion County Council of Church Women will sponsor World Day of Prayer observance here Friday The service is set for 2 p m at Epworth Methodist Church Mrs Fred Dutt is chairman

Senior Major Lyell Rader, Salvation Army Territorial "revivalist," will speak and emphasize the theme, "Who Shall Separate Us?" He will be introduced by Major Mary Nisiewicz who heads the local Salvation Army Corps

Special music, "Prayer Perfect," Stensen and "Open Our Eyes," Macfarlane, will be presented by the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs sextet, Mrs Forest Flockencier Mrs J. B Holloway, Mrs S R Vermilhon, Mrs Henry Mickley Mrs L Harrison Ludwig and Miss Elizabeth Ammann Mrs C W Davis is the accompanist Mrs George Lane will be the organist

PRAYER PERIOD will be conducted by Mrs Perry Strine and Mrs Willard Ginder, council treasurer, will present the offering objectives Serving as ushers will be Mrs Don Augenstein, Mrs James Beverly, Mrs Floyd Arthur Mrs Paul Knauss, Mrs William Hutchman and Mrs W D McGee

Each year the program comes from a different country This year, it has come from behind the "iron curtain" in Europe In this country the observance is sponsored by the General Department of United Church Women of the National Council of the Churches of Christ

SENIOR MAJOR LYELL RADER
Will Address Local Service

Prayer in behalf of the peoples of the world will be backed concretely by the offering which will go to the council's division of home missions and division of foreign missions The money will be used to assist in this country agricultural migrants, low income farming communities and Indian Americans and abroad to provide education for Christian leadership, Christian literature for women and children pilot projects for village children rehabilitation and village improvement Christian broadcasting and friendly relations with foreign students

To avoid a situation comparable to last year when weather unfavorably influenced attendance lessening the offering and making it necessary to cut down on giving to mission projects those unable to attend this year may contribute by sending their offerings by others, who can attend, Mrs Dutt said

FROM HIS EXPERIENCE with the underprivileged in this country the guest speaker has seen first hand the great help missionary giving provides in advancement both material and spiritual, for needy people wherever they may be found

Born in Chicago, Ill, into the ninth generation of preachers, he has a family background of service in the field of spiritual ministry to men His grandfather was a pioneer Methodist "circuit rider" and two uncles were evangelists Rev Paul Rader of Chicago and Rev Luke Rader of Minneapolis Minn His father, Lyell Rader, was an industrial and research chemist who was known for his lectures on 'Science and the Bible" His own messages feature many illustrations drawn from nature and from science

After studying science at Taylor University at Upland, Ind, he became interested in the Salvation Army at the age of 25 and entered the army's officers training college in New York City from which he received his commission to officership He has worked with young people extensively His appointments have included command of the Times Square Corps in New York City, field posts in Middletown and Cincinnati and divisional secretary's position He was assigned as territorial revivalist in 1953

Cincinnatian Charged After Multiple Crashes

CINCINNATI (AP)—It didn't take long—just 10 minutes—for Howard Townes to rack up five autos, including his own, for three counts of reckless driving, two charges of leaving the scene of an accident and one charge of drunk driving Bond was $2,100

Police officers said that at 7 30 p m Wednesday, Townes' car hit a parked car He didn't stop

Five minutes later his car hit another car eight blocks away. He didn't stop

Another five minutes and Townes' car struck two moving autos near downtown This time his car was too battered to move and patrolmen Frank Allen and Ed Zieverink arrested him there.

Lady-Like Look Shapes Up in Spring Styles Here

FASHION relaxes and glorifies the slim line for spring '57. Attractive shaping and softened slenderness characterize the newest styles pointing up the importance of a look that's sometimes called "pretty," sometimes "lady-like" and then again, "feminine." By any name, the look is flattering, and this season it's the height of fashion.

Many significant trends emerge as ways of expressing this look. Outstanding—and charming—is the cape, which has just about taken over the fashion world. Dresses, costumes, separates, suits, coats and toppers display the cape influence in many forms.

There are cape-like flounces at the shoulder line — flirtatious as the flutter of a fan — cape collars, detachable capelets, cape jackets, and of course, three-quarter and full-length capes.

Pretty evidence of the trend to gently feminine fashions is seen in the spring liking for shirtwaist dresses. News here is the softening of classic styles — through the use of lantern-shaped sleeves, for example.

Appearing as another major trend is the softened skirt. Usually somewhat longer this spring, skirts move away from severe sheath lines to the pegged, pleated or draped styles.

Star photographers have captured the essence of spring fashions available in Marion stores on this and the following pages.

For information on where to buy these or other locally modeled fashions, telephone The Star Advertising Department, Telephone 2-1101.

SMART SPRING COAT. Rating a second look in town or country is the smart beige coat modeled by Mrs. Albert M. Mogg of 510 S. Vine St. Fashioned of soft mist fabric, the coat lends itself easily to style and comfort with featured detail centering on the slash pockets and smart side buckle. The coat is by Belson.

PERT AND PRACTICAL. Mrs. Marion McDaniel Jr. of 225 Kensington Pl. models a plain brown linen dress, brown and white checked spun rayon demi-jacket, white rayon Peter Pan collar with back trim of brown and white covered buttons. The dress is sleeveless with scoop neck, empire banded waist, hip pockets and self belt. A handbag by Haverfield complements this ensemble by Allyson Frocks.

FOR THE PERFECTIONIST. Dutch boy ensemble in navy and white is modeled by Mrs. Merle Hamilton of 671 Vernon Heights Blvd. The sheer wool crepe dress has a peg topped skirt and scoop neckline and is topped with a white wool flannel jacket. White Dachette chapeau is by Lilly Dache and completing the costume are white eight-button gloves, blue Ronay calf bag and matching shoes. Dress is by Abe Schrader.

SLENDER LINES EMPHASIZED. This navy blue gabardine suit is modeled by Mrs. Lincoln J. Spencer of 289 Summit St. The large embroidered Trapunta collar is topped by a layer of white bengaline and accenting the trim waistline is a flared peplum. White gloves and hat, navy purse and shoes complete this spring original by Lilly Ann.

Hats To Have Medium Tones

Men's hats this spring will be mainly in medium shades. Grey and brown colors will be dominant although shades of green are due to enjoy more popularity than in many a year. Mixtures will challenge solid colors for the favor of buyers.

Many novelties have come into the hat fabric picture, including a "crushable" fur-nylon blend felt number, but felts will not be budged out of their Number One spot.

The recent highly favored "flat-topped" model, however, may have passed its zenith and may be replaced this spring by the variation of the pork-pie model with the pre-blocked crown known as the "tight telescope" and the new dron-tip felts.

Hat shapes are growing narrower and narrower, with brims no wider than 1⅞ inches no longer considered a rarity.

It requires about 35 gallons of sap to make one gallon of maple syrup.

Several Versions Created

Prince's Haircut Copied In New Style for Spring

This is the season for a royal hairdo, hairdressers say, and though many a coiffure has been copied from royalty in the past, none has ever been so simple as the Prince Charle coif, making its debut for spring.

Anybody who has seen the hairdo of Madam Pompadour and of Marie Antoinette in history books knows these widely copied coifs were not easy to arrange. Certainly it was not a do-it-yourself project.

The Prince Charlie style may be worn by any young girl, its creator, M. Ruel, believes. He emphasizes, however, that "variations of it be determined by the shape of the face or the occasion"

There are several versions of the coiffure. The authentic Prince Charlie is a hairdo with bangs that sweep clear across the forehead from left to right. There is a straight bang style with fluffy sides, and another with a sharp part across the crown forming a demure Victorian style.

Full grown, luxurious bangs qualify for a Prince Charlie style. Ruel, stylist for Coiffures Americana, a trend-setting group of 50 salons across the country, predicts short hair will be popular this spring, perfect for shaping and tapering a Prince Charlie style. Ruel uses these as a variation of the wiz cut, popular short hair styles of past season, explaining:

"Bang coiffures give the perfect forehead interest for spring hat styles which feature deep crowns and brims turned off the face. A hairdo and off-the-face hat, however, call for a fluid-skin look, free of blemishes, silky eyebrows, cleaned of straggly hairs, to form that band-box appearance."

If you choose this hairdo, it must be kept neat and smoothly brushed. The tousled look may appear becoming to the casual type, but the average young girl needs a chic, shining appearance to maintain that schoolgirl charm, avoiding a timboy look. You can do it with the Prince Charlie style.

Dressmaker for Royalty Says 'Baloney'

Hemline Hysteria No Bother to Him

LONDON (AP) — Long skirts or short skirts for 1957 — it's all a lot of high-class baloney, madame. This year's styles, says Norman Hartnell, won't be set by anyone but you.

Hartnell, who dresses Britain's royal family, insists he's not getting mixed up in any controversy over the rise or fall of the hemline this spring.

"IT DOESN'T matter where we put it," Hartnell says. "The women who buy our dresses have the hemline fixed just where they want it.

"The designer presents, but the women decide. The ladies always have the last word."

Hartnell, who became Britain's first dressmaker back in 1923 when he was 22 and fresh out of Cambridge University, made the collection of clothes Queen Elizabeth took on her recent state visits to Copenhagen and Lisbon, as well as those planned for her visit to Paris later this spring.

Hartnell, now 55, prepared the dress collection for the Queen's mother in 1938 when she paid a similar state visit to the capital of feminine fashion.

"The Queen Mother had long dresses and large hats then," Hartnell said. "The present Queen prefers them more practical."

—:—

THERE IS LOTS of white, silver and gold among the royal colors for the Paris visit. "The Queen wears the bright scarlet sash of the Legion of Honor and her dresses must be designed accordingly," Hartnell said.

Daytime dresses of the royal spring wardrobe are similarly bright — "they must be of clear colors visible from a long distance" — but the materials must be able to cope with unsettled weather of April in Paris.

Hartnell recently showed a few choice items of his new spring collection to Princess Margaret and the Queen Mother. But he doesn't expect many orders for new spring clothes from Princess Margaret this year. "She took quite an extensive wardrobe on her African tour last year and her clothes don't 'date'," Hartnell pointed out.

HE HAS ONE stirring gown — a slick, classical creation called "Caesar's Wife," the lady beyond reproach — which is a highlight of the new collection.

It is a strapless white gown in what Hartnell calls "the Roman line" — the kind of dress that's certain to draw long, low whistles in even the best circles. It's drawn tight about the body so that the wearer has to take tiny steps. A thin embroidered band of gold runs down the front to lift the floor-length hemline to ankle length for a peek-a-boo inverted V in the center.

That old Roman effect, even in 1957, is pretty devastating.

Hartnell's salon is a fairyland setting of perfumed air, glittering crystal chandeliers, thick fiesta blue carpeting and dove grey walls. And all of Hartnell's young ladies, from the receptionists to the saleslaadies (they're called vendeuse in the expensive Hartnell bracket), wear individually designed dresses, all in dark Hartnell green.

HARTNELL GIVES afternoon showings of his new spring collection on a daily basis to a selected audience of British blue bloods. The prices, by normal haute couture standards, aren't terrific — somewhere between 100 and 200 pounds ($280 to $560) per dress would be about average.

Unlike the Paris fashion houses who sell mainly to dress manufacturers, most of Hartnell's customers are private buyers just picking up a thing or two.

Any dress chosen by the Queen or Princess Margaret, Hartnell says, is immediately withdrawn from the showing. The rule is that nobody in Britain wears what the royal women wear.

Little Furs Take New Shapes And Exciting Hues for Spring

There's nothing small about the selection of "little furs" available this spring. They appear in a greater-than-ever variety, in many styles and shades.

The cape, important everywhere this spring, is equally so in fur. There are elegant fur capes with slim lines that taper from rounding shoulders, straight - hanging capes and countless other versions.

Cropped jackets, another fashion signature of spring '57, also appear in many young and versatile variations, with white mink the most luxurious looking. Some are waist-length with decorative button accents, others are hip-length and bowed with a touch of satin or velvet.

Little fur briefs and boleros, in both casual and dressy styles, are highly favored for wear over the new softened skirts.

Coming into renewed prominence is the fur stole, sometimes reflecting a Spanish-shawl influence, or displaying the same tapered cocoon shape that capes make much of.

The color story is an exciting one, with a wide range of new shades, including such delicate spring pastels as pale pink and green, as well as the more traditional hues.

"Flat, not fluffy" continues as the theme for fur surfaces, and the emphasis is on light weight. Persian lamb, for example, is processed to be lighter, softer, more lustrous and drapable.

'Shoe Sheath' Big News in Spring Styles

'Closed-Up' Look Highlights Elegance In Newer Footwear

The "shoe sheath," the footwear counterpart of the basic sheath dress, is the big news in shoe styles for spring.

The closed-up look, fore and aft, highlights the new shoes. Showing your toes comes under the category of "indecent explosure."

Like the sheath dress, the shoe sheath is slim in silhouette, and it is crafted of leather thin can translate the figure-hugging qualities of the sheath dress into the foot-hugging fit of the elegant pump.

The shoe sheath, with its subtle details, has been designed especially to be worn with the soft, feminine styles that will characterize spring apparel.

When you shop for spring shoes you will want to look closely at the fine details, the small—but important—differences which distinguish this season's pumps.

Sidelines Straighter

Note the straighter sidelines. See how often you find a higher riding look created by tongue or peak details on the vamp. Feel the toe of the shoe. Not only is it more pointed than you have been accustomed to, but it is also softer. Examine the trimmings. See how they have been placed to enhance the overall design of the shoe.

Now try on the shoe sheath. See how its supple, soft leather has been lasted and shaped and detailed to enhance your foot, to make it long, slim, sleek and elegant. Look at the leather heel. See if it is slim, to balance the rest of the design.

Once you are pleased with the shape—and you will be—then you are ready to think about the other components of spring shoe fashions. This season textured leathers are making a strong entrance in fields dominated by either smooth or sueded leathers.

You will find textured leathers in surfaces and colors that will be right for dress wear, a host of others just suited to your around-the-house, sport or casual activities, and still others excellent in their traditional role in tailored shoes.

Sandals Are Closed

While pumps head up spring fashions, they by no means monopolize the scene. Closed toe sandals—particulary mules—are now a year-round favorite style with many women. You can find mules on medium heels as well as on the very high ones, and they are styled for streetwear, as well as after dark.

Closed toes are an added feature on the sling, another sandal style. Now women who like slings, but do not like open toes, can have their cake and eat it too.

Slings, whether with open or closed toe, have undergone a change in recent months. You will notice that the sidelines are dipped down toward the sole. Try on a pair of slings in one of the new leather colors and walk up to the mirror. You will see that the sides almost disappear, giving a very open look to the shoe.

If it is an open look you want, there are several other sandal silhouettes that will appeal to you. One is the T-strap and another the instep strap. Both are executed in smooth or textured leather.

Maternity Garb Displays Fashion

High style is good fashion for spring maternity wear. Newsmakers such as empire one-piece dresses and neckline focus suits with lingerie trimming characterize the season's waiting lines.

Luxury fabrics go along with this trend to up-to-the-minute styling in everything from dress-up costumes to casual separates.

The one-piece empire dress is wonderfully adapted to pretty concealment for the mother-to-be. Marked by sashes, bows or bands, the empire line draws attention upward as well as giving a youthfully sophisticated appearance.

The basic maternity suit has become more style conscious, too. Lingerie trims, such as white collars and large silk bows; chiffon draped necklines; back or front yokes and pleating are just a few of the fashion details which achieve top attention.

Back interest is developed by jeweled buckles, accenting bows and belts placed at empire height, as well as yokes and pleats.

For casual wear, shirts in stripes, solids or madras plaids feature bateau necklines or tab or mandarin collars. These combine with skinny trousers, bermuda shorts or pedal pushers, cleverly fashioned.

Unlucky Star

GAGES LAKE, Ill. (AP)—Robert B. Storening, a state highway patrolman, has had the worst luck since he joined the force last year.

He had been on duty only a few weeks when thieves stole his automobile which also contained his service revolver. Then recently his new home was destroyed by fire. His wife and two children narrowly escaped injury in the blaze.

Italian Designers Show 'Shockers'

GLAMOR IN MILAN. Here are two highlights from the spring fashion collection of Marucelli of Milan. Left, wide cape of beige faille over short evening dress of ivory organdie embroidered in beige and gold; right, long tubular white satin evening gown with wide blue Empire sash forming dramatic side panels.

Italian fashion designers in Rome, Florence and Milan are beating the drums this spring to steal the style spotlight from Paris.

With the growing importance of the Italian couture in international fashion, some industry leaders have adopted bandwagon tactics to attract the attention of American buyers and press. New silhouettes are given names worthy of the best efforts of Madison Avenue advertising tycoons — in Rome, the "vestal virgin" line, in Florence the strip-tease, in Milan the "corncob" silhouette.

Rome adopts the classic goddess theme, with intricately draped chiffons and statuesque satins. Florence features maximum exposure in casual clothes.

But classic or frivolous, the new Italian styles feature many innovations likely to show up in the American market come summer.

Lingerie Follows Eased, Full Lines

In keeping with fashion's eased slim line and fuller silhouette, spring lingerie features both slim slips and bouffant petticoats, and in both cases, fabric emphasis is clearly on softness.

Lightweight crepes and tricots are favored for their ability to adapt to the smooth flow of the over-all silhouette.

Cotton blends and silk blends, both shape-holding and non-clinging, play an important spring role for under-suit wear.

With fashions getting longer, lingerie too is inching its way downward. Under-cover ideas include snip-off hemlines and tucks that can be let out.

Soft violet tones and pearl grays join beiges, whites and pinks as spring lingerie colors.

Sleepwear runs the gamut from the feminine and frilly, with eyelet embroidered bodices and pretty jabot ruffles, to the classic, with Ivy League influences evident in stripes and button-down collars.

Robes range in length from short to long, with the shortie duster heading the list.

Spring Dresses Adorned With Pleats, Drapes

Gently does it for dresses this spring. The slim sheath silhouette is still a favorite, but now it is softer and rounder with a new look of ease in the waist-through-midriff area.

One of the biggest influences on this look is the "Dutch Boy" or peg-top skirt. Most often achieved by darts or tucks at the waist, it is sometimes carried through to full scale pleats.

Draping offers another highly favored way to ease the slim skirt. Skirts are draped to side or back, eased with harem hemlines or panels, draped with swags or modified versions of the hobble hemline treatment.

For more tailored dresses, pleats are preferred to drapery. There are many variations including down pleats, released pleats in sections and wrap-arounds.

There are also many pretty fuller-skirted styles, such as dresses with darts, pleating and back fullness.

Many empire-mood dresses have self - bands or pleated cummerbunds that circle the waist and lower part of the midriff. Often, a high waistline is suggested by tabs or bows.

Bloused-top dresses, with belts at the normal waistline, and shirtwaist styles both contribute to the increasing importance of belts in spring fashion.

MONKEYSHINES

LA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Charles Huckabey's husband told her there was a surprise for her in the garage. She went to look. A monkey leaped at her and started swinging on her arm. This was a surprise to Huckabey, too. His surprise was a packaged gift. The monkey was turned over to police, who started looking for its owner.

Slender Look Is Softened in Spring Styles

Sheath Lines Eased; Capes Prominent in New 1957 Dresses

Fashion relaxes and glorifies the slim line for spring '57. Attractive shaping and softened slenderness characterize the newest styles pointing up the importance of a look that's sometimes called "pretty," sometimes "lady-like" and then again, "feminine." By any name, the look is flattering, and this season it's the height of fashion.

Many significant trends emerge as ways of expressing this look. Outstanding—and charming—is the cape, which has just about taken over the fashion world. Dresses, costumes, separates, suits, coats and toppers display the cape influence in many forms.

Shoulder Flounces

There are cape-like flounces at the shoulder line—flirtations as the flutter of a fan—cape collars, detachable capelets, cape jackets, and of course, three-quarter and full-length capes. Cocoon shapes look newsiest.

Pretty evidence of the trend to gently feminine fashions is seen in the spring liking for shirtwaist dresses. News here is the softening of classic styles—through the use of lantern-shaped sleeves, for example.

Appearing as another major trend is the softened skirt. Usually somewhat longer this spring, skirts move away from severe sheath lines to the pegged, pleated, draped or paneled silhouette.

In th "Dutch Boy" or Flemish skirt for suits and dresses, pleats or gathers provide easy roundness just below the waistline and taper in at the hem.

Empire Line Lowered

Other attractive ways of developing skirt interest are tunics, harem hemlines, back or font fullness and attached, curving panels.

New interpretations of the basically-slim line provide a variety of bodice treatment. Rounding the top of the silhouette for symmetry with easier skirts, is frequently achieved by the use of dolman sleeves.

The blouson, or bloused top, looks refreshing in combination with bloused sleeves, and bloused or pleated backs continue important.

The high empire line is now lowered, placing the "artificial" waist at a point two or three inches above the natural waistline. Sometimes both the modified empire and the normal waist are defined.

Waistlines are marked by belts, cummerbunds or draping.

Necklines Softened

Necklines, too, get soft treatment. Scoops and bateaus are gentled by gathers, draping or bows. The high-in-front, low-in-back neckline often has a bow or streamer as a finishing touch.

Spring's varied styles are interpreted in a wealth of fabrics and colors. Significantly for the femininity of fashion, silk exercises a great influence, appearing in many textures and many blends.

Soft and drapable, too, are wools and knits in tissue weights. Tweeds often have an open, almost lacy weave, and even the boldest of tweeds take the lady-like touch of demure pastel colors.

Colors Make Spring News In Carpeting

The sense of elegance comes from the way a room looks at first glance, and then from how comfortable it is to live in. New carpets seem to be designed with both thoughts in mind.

New colors and patterns give the handsome first impression. Softer, richer texture provides the deep comfort. Behind-the-scenes practicality is also built in, for continuing good looks.

Color is the big carpet news. Brilliant jewel tones — sapphire, topaz, aquamarine and pearly white — provide exciting color on the floor.

More subtle, but lending a sophisticated decorating air, are muted tones such as olive green, nutria, a new rose hue and sandalwood.

Just as interesting are color mixtures in tweeds or bolder combinations. Uusually, two neutral tones are sparked with a bright accent color, so that the carpet can serve as a coordinator for the room decorating scheme.

For even easier color - planning, many fabric and carpet manufacturers have planned their new products together, so that the colors naturally go with each other.

In texture, the trend is toward a hand-loomed look.

CAPS GOING STRONG

Caps continue to show an upsurge in sales. Smartly styled in worsteds, flannels and tweeds, they reflect the Ivy influence with back buckles, belted with either leather or matching material. Wide and narrow stripes and solid colors predominate.

Elegance Is Theme of Spring Array of Fashions for Home

Elegance themes spring's array of fashions for the home—and appropriately so. Today, people of every age are dressing up more, for casual as well as party occasions; hence, modern life practically demands that homes, too, should be dressed up, for family living as well as company entertaining.

Happily, "elegant" doesn't mean "ornate" or "elaborately adorned." Spring's elegant—and charming—home fashions are basically simple. A richer, more luxurious look is achieved not by fussy details but by opulent fabrics and colors, fine woods and graceful designs.

The luxury look, incidentally, is not a matter of price. Increasingly, medium and low priced furnishings offer quality materials, good construction and design.

In furniture, the Provincials, both European and Early American, lead the trend to elegance. Modern joins in with such home fashions as the long, long sofa and sectionals in many new versions.

Even the practical convertible sofa takes to elegance, in modern or Provincial styling and lovely upholstery fabrics. Design-wise, the newest convertibles now look more graceful and "sit" more comfortably, because awkward high-off-the-floor construction has been abolished.

Constant improvement goes on in with the development of stuffing materials, so that sofas, easy and occasional chairs have a luxury feel as well as a luxury look.

Decorative fruitwoods and warm, rich mahogany and walnut are notable among the woods used for new spring furnriture.

A feeling of elegance prevails, too, in curtains and draperies, carpets, linens and tableware. Evidence of this is the popularity-gain of lace curtains and tablecloths, and the frequent use of metallic threads for an opulent touch of gold or silver in carpets and upholstery.

The home that's decorated according to this spring's ideas will not only look as if it's made for leisurely living, it will provide leisure, too, because it will be easier to keep clean and attractive.

"Dust catchers" are out. Contemporary furniture, though softened in appearance, retains its clean-cut lines, while the decorative details of traditional furniture have been modified in favor of elegant simplicity.

Elegance plus easy care also applies to home fabrics. Upholstery treated for stain resistance and quick spot removal is one important example.

Teen Hats for Spring Featured by Simplicity

Simplicity stars in teen hats for spring.

Lightweight straws, felts and synthetics flatter young heads in pastels, white or natural shades, and are seldom trimmed with more than a grosgrain band ending in a bow or streamer.

For dress-up, teen hats sometimes take a flower wreath or nosegay.

New Topcoats For Men Light In Weight, Hue

For chill spring days, a lightweight topcoat is a "must," and the leading styles for spring are the light, lightweight tweeds, with the lightweight wool gabardines next in line.

Roomy, but with a minimum of bulk, the loose - fitting raglan sleeves topcoats will be the choice of many men. But there's a style for every taste — singlebreasted with set-in sleeves, or the more formal tailored double - breasted models.

The color trend continues away from dark shades to light and medium tones, with gray the leading basic colors, except in gabardines, where it will be tan.

Away from the city, men will find many outdoor hours of warmth and relaxation in short outer jackets. You can find these "car coats" in plain colors or shaggy wool tweeds (some with convertible hoods) with distinctive wood or leather buttons and "railroad" stitching.

Spring rainwear offers a wide choice of models, including both single- and double-breasted styles, trench coats, balmacaan, knee-lengths and reversibles (dark on one side and light on the other).

It's Easy To Make

Skirt Made of Plastic Is Housewife's Best Friend

Messy or splashy household jobs such as polishing silver, washing windows, sudsing out stockings and scrubbing floors play havoc with your clothes unless you protect them.

Local sewing center experts suggest making a washable plastic skirt to be worn over your housedress. This skirt will save your clothes from getting soiled and will keep you dry as well. It's easy to stitch and any simple flared skirt pattern may be used. Plain seams will do because plastic doesn't ravel or fray.

REMEMBER to "baste" plastic with transparent tape, as pins will leave holes that may tear. To sew on plastic, use a fine needle and light tension on your sewing machine.

The fastening is no problem, for you can make it a button-all-the-way-down-the-front skirt by merely stitching on strips of ready-made snap-on fasteners. A double-fold strip of plastic will serve as a waistband, and the skirt needs no hem. Just be sure to cut the skirt several inches larger than your dresses for adequate protection even while seated.

This type of plastic cover-up is easy to slip on right over your party dress, in case you think of any last-minute kitchen duties before your guests arrive.

COVER UP. Plastic skirt is a breeze to make at home.

SPLASHES OF furniture polish, wax or grease are easily washed away after each wearing. Dip the skirt in plenty of warm soap or detergent suds, squish it up and down in the water, rinse well and hang it up to drip dry.

You'll be amazed at the way this cuts down personal laundry. You'll avoid being soaked to the skin when washing windows or washing the baby's clothes, and you'll find it far easier to clean silver or brass right in your lap, where you can get a good grip on the articles without fear of smearing polish on your clothes.

Cape Influence Predominates In Coat Design

Whatever the color or fabric, and whether the style be slim, or full, coats generally are cut on easier lines, for more wearability over spring's newly rounded dresses and suits.

Most importantly, this is a season when a coat is often a cape—or at least, cape-conscious in design. The full, full coat comes into its own, either as a real cape, sleeveless and with armhole slits in its graceful folds, or as a pyramid shape with cape sleeves or back.

The real cape appears in straight-flowing or cocoon designs, in topper to full lengths.

Slim coats, too, show the pretty and prevalent influence of the cape. Wrap or clutch styles look relaxed but regal with cape-effect dropped shoulder lines or cape-like dolman sleeves and full backs

Betwixt - and - between coats, neither slim nor full, get new impetus from the cape. These coats have flat, slim fronts, often with little neckline ties, and cape fullness in the back.

Then of course there's the cape collar, topping a full coat or lending width to many an otherwise slender silhouette. Conversely, full-flaring capes sometimes have only the dauntiest and tiniest of collars.

Continuing in the news is the coat, with high-placed detail, front or back. Generally, the back of the coat gets the softening detail, while the front stays slender.

Blousing, panels, martingales, pleats, yokes and V seams all help to provide back interest and ease

Coat fabrics and colors are notable for the way they combine a demure look with a dash of daring—for instance, lacy tweeds, pale pastel in hue but boldly plaid in pattern.

Handbags Are Good Matches For Costumes

Handbags are perfect costume coordinates this season. They're flat, for becoming wear with full capes and cape-like fashions, and soft in look, for harmony with softly pleated, tucked or draped costumes.

Shapes are simple, with the elongated square or elongated rectangle predominating

"Trim is planned to emphasize the shape. This means a simple frame in gold, silver or leather, and a simple closing. Small tabs, bands or insets of contrasting leather texture and trapunto work are also in order.

The range of leather textures for daytime handbags is wider than ever. There are deep-grained broadtail (especially new in spring colors), sofagrained or pebbly calf, fine fibered and petal-smooth calf with a high sheen and, for casual wear, an extra-plushy reverse calf.

Pale beiges and grays are leading colors

SURPLICE STYLED

Graceful newcomer among cashmere sweaters is a surplice style which buttons just at the waist, with three large pearl buttons. Cross-over front closing is outlined in a wide band of self cashmere

Costume Comes Into Its Own As Important Spring Fashion

The costume has really come into its own as a top fashion this spring, and costumes with capes are the newest and most important of all. Short jackets of all types and full-length coats, often with short sleeves or sleeveless, offer other popular variations of the ensemble look.

Capes for costumes range from the very brief to seven-eighths, three-quarter and full lengths. Of special interest are the cocoon shapes, narrower at the bottom than the top.

One of the most popular costumes is that of the semi-fitted jacket that just hits the top of the hipbone over a pegged skirt dress Another is the Eton or bolero jacket over a dress with printed bodice and cummerbund. The "complete look" through coordination of fabrics is highly favored.

In general, semi-fitted, short jackets over softened sheath dresses are the rule. Blouson jackets of all types are big favorites. Popular back treatments include cape backs and mock boleros. An interesting variation is the "capelero," a cross between the cape and the bolero Other boxy jackets come just down to the waistline or flare out above it.

Many of the companion dresses feature empire bodices of silk or chiffon in colors or prints to match the linings of capes or jackets worn over them. This idea also extends to woolen coats lined in chiffon to match companion chiffon dresses. Another favorite combination is pastel chiffon shirtwaist dresses under coats of matching pastel tweed.

The influence of capes is seen in ensembles with jackets that look like capes, little capelets or cape-back jackets and cocoon - like wrap coats. Capes add a costume look to suits and companion skirts and blouses, as well as dresses. Bloused-back boleros and seven-eighth tunics are further interesting new versions of the costume.

Trim Styling Noted in Men's New Clothing

Return of Interest In Patterned Fabrics For Suits Reported

Trim styling, heightened by a "silky" look, and a return of interest in patterned fabrics, will bring American men out into the spring sun this year looking smarter than ever, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

The continued slimming down of suit models casts an influence over all other parts of the male spring wardrobe, showing up in still narrower brims in new hats and Continental styling of shoes.

Spreading from coast to coast and from border to border, the trim look is even having an effect on California styling, which shows signs of adopting a somewhat more natural silhouette while still featuring comparatively broad shoulders.

Gray, Blue Popular

Major color preferences in spring suits will be medium shades of gray and blue. Navy blue is due for a big comeback. Brown and tan hues may be expected to take a back seat for a while.

Spring will find three - button single-breasted models coming into their own to rival the popularity of the two-button single-breasted suit.

Wider acceptance of Ivy League styling and three-button models has activated the interest of true Ivy fans in such features as seven-inch jacket side vents and welted or slightly raised seams, in their search for individuality.

This search for something slightly different will find four-button single-breasted models and a six-button treatment — three on each side — of the double breasted suit.

The majority of double-breasted models — which will amount to only a minor factor in the spring picture — will have slimmer lines, a smaller overlap and a higher gorge.

Novelty Effects

Sports clothes will follow the general characteristics of suit styling this spring, but some jackets will feature such novelty effects as side vents, collar tabs, sleeve cuffs and ticket pockets.

Ivy League slacks — slimmed trouser legs, without pleats and with buckled strap backs — find even greater popularity. Even pleated slacks will be cut along narrower lines.

The fabric picture this spring finds silk and silk blends in a position of great importance. Some fabrics, though containing not a silken thread, have been given the appearance of silk. But all silk and blends of silk and other fibers will be shown in effects ranging from brilliant, satin-like finishes to coarse, dull and tweedy types.

Comfort and economy will give wash-and-wear clothing more importance for late spring and summer. In light, medium and dark shades, wash-and-wear suits will be available in cords, seersuckers and imitations of regular tropical worsted.

Plaids, stripes and checks are back in the male fashion spotlight, although more subdued in the new tropic-weight spring models. Combined with more interest in patterns in spring shirts, the increase in plaids, stripes and checks will foster more restrained ties.

Young Set Has Eye-Catching New Footwear

Children's feet will be seen more and heard less this spring.

Their new shoes are styled to look more like the grown-ups', with eye - catching innovations that make them almost as individual as the youngsters who wear them. And they're made of lighter, softer leathers that are easier on young feet — and on everybody's ears.

Favored for school are the oxford and loafer, often in glove-soft smooth leather, buckskin and soft suedes, and sometimes in pigskin with both natural and buffed finishes.

Black and brown are popular color choices for boys' shoes, but some sport newer shades such as ivytone, camel and butternut.

For girls, there are many black and white combinations, some beiges and more all-white than in other years.

Styles show greater differences between boys' and girls' shoes. Boys' oxfords are cut more conventionally, and display mudguard effects and toe reinforcements, while girls' oxfords often have peaked tongues and dainty stitching.

Loafers are generally longer and slimmer, with gored sides and tassels for boys' styles, while the girls favor drapes and tucks on toes, insets of varicolored leather and scalloped tops.

For girls, too, are dainty black patent or white buck sandals with one strap.

Like their fathers', boys dress oxfords in conventional four or five eyelet styles are fashioned of shinier, more lustrous leather.

Navy Blue and Stripes

DRESSED UP FOR SPRING. Connie Wynn, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Wynn of 443 Olney Ave., models a Navy blue coat by Flo-Togs, with matching handbag and patent leather shoes. Her ensemble is topped by a Betty Ann straw hat. Phillip Haas, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dever Haas of Sunset Rd., wears an Ivy League sports coat and hat to match. His outfit, by Mr. Master, is of washable chino fabric.

Wash-Wear Togs Bigger Than Ever

Wash-and-wear togs are expected to be bigger than ever in men's wear, this spring and summer. Made in cords, seersuckers and suits resembling tropical worsteds, they will come in a wide range of light, medium and dark shades. Construction has been improved, and some blends weighing as little as 5½ ounces a yard are being used.

Newly introduced in this field are the "automatic wash-and-wear" suits for which it is said that the only effort needed to keep one trimly pressed and fresh is the energy it takes to place it in the automatic washer and modern tumble dryer.

Silken Touch Is Reflected in Sports Styles

Women's Fashions Go Feminine; New Pastel Hues Popular

Sportswear never looked prettier or more feminine than it does this spring. "Borrowed from the boys" styling and the "rough and ready" look have been replaced with newly lady-like fashions that feature softer silhouettes, luxurious fabrics and a lovely color palette.

Slim lines are still the most favored, but with a new look of roundness and ease. Casual dresses are no longer starkly tailored. They have a gentle look achieved through front or back fullness, draped necklines, more pleats, sashes and bows, peg top effects and tapered lines.

The big popularity of silk has done much to soften sportswear. Linens look fresh and pretty in such new patterned effects as lacy tapestry types, lattice designs and damask looks.

Cottons have a gentle silky look, and a lightweight cavalry twill cotton is newsworthy for separates. Those old favorites, white duck and sharkskin, are also making a big comeback.

Pale colors are the favorites, especially deepened pastel flower tones. Pink with a new mauve cast, grayish greens and blues, dull gold, vanilla and faint gray are all popular.

Dubonnet and wine colors look new and attractive with white, and white alone is favored for separates of doeskin, sharkskin and flannel. Hot tropical shades of yellow, orange, coral and apricot round out the color picture.

Off-beat prints add interest to separates of every variety, even to classic blazer jackets. There are India-inspired curry and black patterns, floral designs, staccato black and white combinations, racing flag prints, tweeds, stripes, blocks and soft plaids.

Embroidery appears on everything from dresses to silk or linen Bermuda shorts. There are many pretty jewelled buttons as well as gold or brass buttons for the "all-American" look.

The peasant influence shows up mainly in blouses decorated with embroidery and braid, on shirt backs and patio skirts.

Variety Spices New Suits for Easter

IN THE SPRING a woman's fancy invariably turns to thoughts of an Easter suit. She also dreams of hats and shoes, gloves and handbags and crisp new fripperies, of course, but the major objective usually is the suit.

This spring it will be a fussy customer indeed who can't find a flattering suit silhouette, because the new suits are easier to wear than they have been in years, and they come in many varieties.

Tall women will like the new tiered skirts, seen in many high-style suits, usually accompanied by a semi-fitted hipbone length jacket. For women who don't like the tubular look there are plenty of pleated skirts which look slim when standing still, but allow freedom for climbing in and out of taxies.

The new suits are notable for handsome, light-weight fabrics and soft, feminine details such as neckline bows, piping, tab trimmings and other dressmaker tricks.

Busy Girls Use Carryall

IN THE BAG. Big denim carryall lined in bandanna to match babushka holds everything from books to sweaters.

Every busy young girl needs a big carryall bag these days. Her schedule demands on unusual amount of equipment, such as extra sweaters, school books, date books and beauty essentials, so that a normal handbag just won't do the job.

The solution is to make a gay denim carryall, matched with a perky babushka. Expressstripe denim is a good choice, teaming well with rugged blue jeans. A red bandanna trim adds the correct finishing touch. Both fabrics are inexpensive and easy to sew.

The carryall is lined with clear plastic and faced with the center portion of a large bandanna. The points of the bandanna are used for the scarf. Both bag and babushka are constructed with heavy cable cord, threaded through large metal eyelets which are easy to apply with the aid of an instrument accompanying the package of eyelets. Metal drawstring tips, also available in packages and applied at home, keep the ends of the cord from fraying.

When sewing on plastic, remember to use a very fine needle, and use transparent tape for basting, as pin holes may tear the plastic.

ACCESSORIES TO STYLE

Spring accessories for men, generally smaller and neater, include many reproductions of links, clips and tie bars that were the classics of Grandpa's day. Designs will be more intricate and keyed to specific themes.

Teens' Styles Borrow Best Ideas of Adults

'Dutch Boy' Look, Capes Prominent in Fashions for Spring

Teen fashions have come of age. No longer merely hinting of grown up styling, this spring's teen-age fashions frankly borrow the latest and best of adult fashions.

Blousons, capes, the Dutch Boy look—all are appealingly adapted to compliment the teen-ager's youthful figure. All make up the teen-age spring look—the slim, yet soft, silhouette.

Suits and coats, in particular, notably reflect the fashion maturity of spring styles for teens. For suits, the box jacket is still a favorite, but this spring it is softened by back blousing and made more interesting by other back details such as self-fabric bows, banding, or tabs.

One of the newest suit silhouettes is the Dutch Boy look, featuring a slim but rounded skirt. Another popular teen style, the pleated skirt, is achieving more and more fashion notice—particularly for dressier suits.

Capes—small detachable shoulder capes or waist length capes, substituted for suit jackets—play a fashion-prominent role.

Like suits, the teen coat line is basically slim, but a softness is obtained by the new and important —and usually detachable — shoulder cape. The full-length cape coat is another fashion "steal" from the grownups, giving the teener a pretty, sophisticated look.

Adding to the grown-up charm of teen coat and suit fashions are the "silky look" fabrics—silk and wool mixtures and silky weaves. Important too are flannels and worsteds. Subtle colors—the beige and grey tones, navy and pastel tweeds—add further to the overall look of sophistication.

Teen dresses also lend themselves easily to the new spring styles. The line is slim with back blousing to lend a high fashion note of softness.

Topped by caraco jackets, blousons, shoulder capes, or dusters, the dresses add up to pretty teenage ensembles. A favorite—the classic or sissy shirtwaist dress—is now available in virtually every fabric and goes to any casual or dress-up occasion.

Silk and silky textures come into spring fashion prominence, joining such teen favorites as organdies and cottons. Pastels, particularly lilac, and beige tones are the color preferences for dresses.

SCIENCE SCORES AGAIN

Scientists have now developed processes which permit woolen sweaters and sport shirts to be washed with a minimum of matting or shrinking. Just be sure to read washing directions carefully and never use boiling water.

'Ethereal' Air Wins Favor in Bridal Gowns

The girls who marry this spring can look as ethereal as angels in airy gowns with full skirts, short sleeves and many pretty trims and back details.

The windswept back look and the domed silhouette with back and side fullness are the most popular. While the empire line is still a favorite, many of the new gowns feature peaked or basque bodices with gently rounded V-lines.

Back interest details include intricate cuts of material that unfold like huge petals, cartridge-pleated back folds, perky butterfly bows, trailing panels, ruffles, drapery and sashes.

Adding to the airy look are a wide range of lightweight, fragile fabrics such as filmy organdies, chiffon, lace, silk bombazine and taffeta. One of the newest is a sheer tulle completely reembroidered to resemble an allover lace.

Reminiscent of the romantic Old South are gowns of organdie and eyelet batiste with delicate floral embroidery. Scattered lace appliques and set-in bands of chiffon or satin are other favored trims.

Necklines are softer and more flattering with wide, shallow cuts replacing the high, covered-up types.

A very romantic look is achieved through such fashions as gowns with wide tiers, pleated satin midriffs, floral sprays, delicate beading and shirred or smocked chiffon empire bodices.

Sleeves 'Go Soft'

Sleeves have "gone soft" this spring in keeping with the generally softer dress silhouette of the season. One favored treatment is the bloused or balloon effect, achieved through lantern shapes with fullness starting directly at the shoulder line.

Fabrics Give Feminine Air To Millinery

Softness of line and texture are the keynote of spring '57 hats. Even the most symmetrically balanced hats often have a flattering lift above the brow, a softly cushioned edge or an unrolled brim. The toque shape, with its prominent crown, is prettily rounded, tapered, dimpled or draped.

The profile hat, with a dashing tilt of crown or a deep side dip of brim recalls the glamorous styles of the 30's.

Look Feminine

Fabrics contribute a feminine, milliner - made look. Chiffon, georgettes, organdy and "souffle" straw (a silky, sheer, ribbony braid) are intricately tucked, pleated, puffed and draped to make both small and larger hats look light and lovely as clouds.

Fine felts, supple as fabric, vie with real and artificial silks. Straws have a spongy softness and transparency in designs that interweave flossy souffle with yarn, ribbon, beads and braids.

Transparent hairbraid combined with straw has a frothy depth, while basketweave straws are often latticed with light. Balibuntals and linen-straws are intricately tucked and shirred, and even fine-sewn straw has a delicate three-dimensional air.

Add to Flattery

Spring flowers of fine silk and sheers further the light and feminine look, and the complexion - smoothing softness of lacy veiling often adds the finishing touch to flattering spring hats.

Trimmings are intricate, yet inconspicuous. Velvet ribbon, novelty ribbons striped with straw or satin, tiny tufts of feathers, touches of embroidery and jewelled motifs appear in matching or contrasting hues.

Hat colors are carefully coordinated with spring fashions.

Capes Prominent in Styles for Spring

Silhouettes of Suits Are Slim; Waists Given New Treatment

From Paris, Rome, Florence, London and Dublin comes news of spring fashions, as American buyers follow the international style trail in search of new fripperies for customers back home.

The top sensation of the European openings is provided, as usual, by Parisian Christian Dior, celebrating the tenth anniversary of his 1947 "new look" with his controversial longer skirts, panels and "Liberty line" providing grist for headline writers.

SOME AMERICAN designers point out that this is standard performance for the astute Dior, who usually manages to toss a bombshell in the midst of the fashion business twice a year, later modifying it for actual sale.

The Italian openings, which precede Paris showings, feature new treatments of the high-waisted silhouette this season, accenting front fullness starting under the bustline, balloon skirts narrowed at the hemline, lots of capes in all lengths, much attention to sheer, floating fabrics such as chiffon, novelty hemlines and ingenious use of panels to provide movement for the slim silhouette.

SPRING SUITS seen in all the European capitals feature many cape backs. Capes, as a matter of fact, seem the predominant theme of both suits and coats, being shown attached or separate, from jacket to coat length. Suits are slim in silhouette for the most part, although a few pleated skirts are seen. Jackets are hipbone length and semi-fitted, sometimes with a wide inset belt above the waistline.

London designers, as usual, show superb tailored clothes, a new note being ensembles with transparent white coats over dresses in high colors. One highlight of the British openings is Norman Hartnell's "turncoat," a voluminous reversible-coat with one side full enough to toss over the opposite shoulder.

Subteen Fashions Take Adult Flavor

Fashions for subteens this spring feature slim lines, a well-coordinated look and the influence of such adult styles as capes and blousons.

There is an almost endless variety of ensembles. One newlooking combination is that of a sheath jumper teamed with a matching cotton blouse and blending checked jacket. Many costumes consist of a duster coat with several coordinating dresses.

Coats are slim, but not too straight. Neutral tweeds and worsted flannels that can be worn straight through early fall are favored. Many have detachable capes. Bulky knitted coats, especially in red, are also popular.

Newsworthy in subteen suits is a poncho cape suit.

COAT CUES

Back interest details make this season's crop of young coats especially attractive.

Men's Spring Shoes To Have New Soft Glow

Men's shoes this spring are going to shine—but with a soft glow that comes from the leather itself rather than from polish applied to it. The gleaming leathers will harmonize with the luster in suits of silk and man-made fibers.

Lightness and trim lines in shoes will be highlighted in tropical leathers. These leathers which cut the weight of shoes by a third, made their first appearance last spring and their popularity reached landslide proportions by summer.

This year, since they fit in with the fashion trend by making possible a dressier, finer looking as well as more comfortable shoe, they are expected to be a practically unanimous choice in all types of men's shoes.

The gleam in the season's shoes will mean an emphasis on high-polished smooth leathers with a natural gloss accentuated by hand-rubbing. It doesn't mean, however, that textured leathers, which have won a deserved popularity, will now take a back seat. They'll be seen more than ever, both alone and in combination with smooth leathers, but they'll be soft-grained and will have a bright finish.

Tropical suedes, too, will continue in prominence. The suede and smooth leather combination for town may be rich and glossy or dull-finished for contrast.

All - suede casual and dress-casual shoes, on the contrary, will be rought-textured with a long, plushy nap.

In shoes for town, leading colors will be black, medium tan, teak brown, London tan, cardeu and dark maple. The mid-low oxford of three-to-four-eyelet height with a medium-broad toe will prevail.

OFFER BEAUTY

Purse size containers of perfume now offer beauty of design as well as convenience.

Leather Plays Important Role In Fashions for Spring Season

Softer and lighter, artfully draped, tucked and pleated, leather appears prominently on the spring fashion scene.

Full length coats, short jackets and car coats are crafted in a variety of ingenious fashions from both suede and grain leathers.

Brand new this spring are smart leather capes, as well as a cape-like appearance for coats, achieved by gentle fullness falling in gathers from a yoke, slant pockets and scarf-like ties.

Soft, velvety suede and smooth capeskin and cabretta share popularity as well as versatility. Suede is no longer exclusviely a country leather, nor are smooth leathers confined to the city. Both designed for either city or country wear.

New leather shades in the beige to brown range are in the lead, and make effective tone-on-tone combinations with knit, silk and linen.

There's interest, too, in bright colors such as hyacinth, peacock, bayberry and jasmine, in suave black and snowy white and in black leather with white leather piping.

Black and white contrasts, however, are usually achieved in large areas rather than by trim. For instance, a white cabretta jacket is lined with back tweed and has matching tweed shirt.

The "half-and-half" idea appears in leather coats, with front of smooth leather and back of suede in the same or another color.

Glove Note

The French glove making industry was established under a code of statues received from the king in 1190.

DECORATE SHADES

Many window shades now have rich textures and decorative cordings for both room and street sides. Those in multi-color weaves harmonize easily with a variety of room settings and drapery colors.

New Wallpapers Have Fresh Color

New fashions in wallpapers are beautifully vital.

Colors are clear and fresh. There are more light backgrounds brought into focus by the addition of a sharp accent color, used sparingly.

Textures show an international flavor. Some look like finely woven grass cloths; others, such as an Oriental Shoji screen effect, have a see-through quality; while still others give a woven wood effect or simulate silk-like weaves of the Far East.

Scenic-type wallpapers have a wider range of subjects — among them, Oriental effects, French Provincial cafe scenes, hunting scenes, seascapes, Pennsylvania Dutch and New England scenes. All are widely spaced on light backgrounds.

Florals have a livelier, more imaginative look than in the past.

Stripes in varying widths, often in one color and white or tone-on tone, make beautiful backgrounds for pictures and are so versatile they can be used with modern or traditional furnishings.

Small all-over wallpaper patterns, such as geometrics or neatly-spaced flowers and fruits, are liked.

Complicated Art Thrives

Tourists Spark Nassau Tortoise Jewelry Boom

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—The tortoise shell jewelry and accessory industry, almost dormant for years, is now coming back to life as tourists look with renewed interest for souvenirs to take home.

Making tortoise shell items such as combs, cuff links, tie clips, buttons, bracelets, necklaces, brooches, rings, pins, purses, and flexible watch bands requires both skill and patience.

THERE IS AN art to producing the glistening brown and golden yellow surfaces, and finding and fashioning matching pieces.

Tortoise shell, rarely as much as a quarter inch thick, is put through a laminating process using a combination of heat and pressure to bend several thin sheets together into a workable and lasting thickness.

It requires many tons of hydraulic pressure to laminate tortoise shell to the proper thickness for a compact or cigarette case.

Ten steps are necessary in the manufacture of tortoise handicrafts and each artisan has a separate part in the industry now flourishing on Nassau's Bay Street.

THE HAWKSBILL turtle is prized for attractive and durable tortoise shell. It usually has 13 plates—like large scales—on its back and 24 small bordering or fringe plates called "chimes." The four center plates, two on each side, have uniform thickness and are best for most tortoise shell items.

At the factory, the tortoise shell is scraped, marked out, cut, filed, sanded, polished, hand engraved, molded, given a final polish and assembled into the finished product.

A workman assigned to letters chooses either old English or block letters and traces one letter at a time from a metal pattern on a natural tortoise shell plate. He uses a jeweler's saw to cut out the letters and often must drill a tiny hole to insert the saw.

EVOLUTION OF A SHELL. Final touches are given to a piece of shell jewelry.

THE CUTTING of earrings, figured pins, bracelets and other items is slightly different. In many instances the design in the tortoise shell must match another piece. For example, a fish earring with a light streak running through its fin must have a matching earring with a similar streak.

After the piece is cut, the shell must be ground to an even thickness, edges filed and rounded off.

Ivy Leaguers Shaping Styles In Sportswear

Collegiate Preference Determines Patterns For Spring Apparel

The clothing preferences of Ivy League collegians are exerting a strong influence on the styling of male sportswear for spring.

In slacks, sport shirts and jackets, ideas that grow up on Ivy campuses emerge as even more important style factors than in past seasons. But even with the obvious dominance of Ivy styling, notes the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, sportswear this spring offers something for just about everybody — and the comfort and color of new sportswear will make going back out into the sun even more fun than usual.

Spring slacks show a definite Ivy influence, with a trend toward a slim line more obvious. Ivy models are expected to account for a much greater proportion of the slacks sold this spring.

In walk shorts, too, Ivy is important, running a close second to the more popular Bermuda length.

White and striped white slacks and shorts are another Ivy idea that has been incorporated in spring styling. Solids should remain most popular, but patterns—particularly plaids and checks—will be in greater demand.

Fabrics will be very diversified with interest extending through polished cottons, plaids of wool and the man-made fibers, flannels, gabardines, tropical worsteds and some silks and silk blends. Wash-and-wear fabrics will also come in for more attention.

In sports coats, there will also be a larger selection of fabrics. Silk and silk-cotton blends, all cotton, lightweight wools, linens and linen types, and many other blends will all help to make for a comfortable and fashionable spring.

Girls Dream of Triumph in Fashions

'Catarinettas' All Hope To Become Great Dressmakers

ROME (AP)—For every famous designer in Europe, there are a hundred Catarinettas, the girls with the needle and thread.

Young seamstresses in Italy are called Caterinettas in honor of St. Catherine (Santa Caterina), patron saint of dressmakers.

Behind the scenes of the glamorous dress shops there are workrooms full of these quiet, white-smocked girls, who do the tedious work that goes into fine dressmaking. Their ages range from 14 to about 23. They are rarely seen or thought of by the elegant clients who pay hundreds of dollars for a glamorous dress.

ONLY NOW and then does a Caterinetta bring a dress in from the workroom and enjoy the rare privilege of watching the dressmaker fit a customer.

One "little Caterina," whose real name is Renata Ierdi, is typical of all. She dreams of becoming as great as her mistress, Micol Fontana, one of the sisters whose Fontana dresses are known everywhere. Now she earns a tiny salary of less than $2 a day as one of Fontana's many sewing assistants.

But at 21, Renata feels that she has come a long way. The girls begin young. Renata had only a few years of elementary school before she wnnt to work. At 14 she was already an apprentice in a small dressmaking establishment.

RENATA'S EARLIEST, fondest hope was for a chance to learn her trade in an important fashion house. She made the grade two years ago. Fontana advertised for girls and gave Renata Ierdi a job.

CATARINETTA. Renata Ierdi, 21-year-old seamstress, watches her employer, Micol Fontana (right), check a model in workroom of the famous Fontana fashion house in Rome.

"What we are paid doesn't matter, it's the prestige," says grateful Renata, an attractive little brunette who is dedicated to her work. "It means everything to my career to say I worked for Fontana."

A few of the prettiest Caterinettas aspire to be models so they can wear the exquisite clothes they help to make. But most are like Renata. They want only to become good dressmakers. They know they can't all become great. Many will be satisfied to open little fashion houses in their parents' living rooms. But they dream of chic ateliers and rich, famous ladies to dress.

THESE GIRLS, like Renata, think about little else. At lunchtime they chatter about the latest fashions while they munch sandwiches at their worktables. After work, Renata goes straight home to design and sew for herself, her mother and sisters.

Sunday, her one day off, she speeds at the sewing machine. If she has a few extra lire or a gallant beau, she goes to the movie Sunday evening. Sometimes she's invited to a tea dance at the home of one of the other Fontana girls. She doesn't look for any other amusement. Sewing is her life.

Renata Ierdi has no fiance yet, but she knows she'll be a great asset to the lucky guy she marries. She has her trade, and she has a dream of future fame.

Wide Variety Is Highlight of Junior Gowns

Interesting Fabrics, Colors Employed in Spring Fashion Line

Junior fashions, always adventuresome and imaginative, are especially so this spring, with a wonderful variety of dresses, ensembles and separates in a wide range of interesting new fabrics and colors. Silks, blends, cottons, prints and navy crepes are favorites.

Both full and slim silhouettes are popular, with juniors definitely endorsing the new softened sheath. Treatments range from permanently knife-pleated skirts and controlled gored fullness to the slim, slow-fitting silhouette and pegged skirt.

Modified princess styles, semi-fitted overblouse dresses, blouson types and one-piece dresses with a two-piece look are other junior choices.

Have Raised Waist

Replacing the Empire silhouette is the new raised waistline which is not more than one and a half to three inches above the normal waistline. Its variations include pleated cummerbunds, set-in folds and bands, bows and tabs.

Capes are especially popular in cocoon shapes and hipbone or waist lengths, with the emphasis on narrow rather than voluminous types. Many dresses have detachable capelets.

Flannel, often in pearl gray, is the favored fabric for suits, with round lines and softened skirts preferred. Short, waist-length demi-fitted jackets teamed with peg pleated, four-gore or all-around pleated skirts are popular.

Fitted jackets look fresh with such interesting new details as soft back-blousing, bow trims or self-belts. Double-breasted closings and brass buttons are favored for both fitted and semi-fitted styles.

Skirts take on new interest through high-rise or cummerbund tops, wrap-around effects and buttoned-flap pockets.

Coats Are Youthful

High waistline effects, tiny stitched collars, narrow belts and small button closings give junior coats a youthful look. The favored silhouette is slim-to-moderately-full.

Dolman push-up sleeves, kimono and unmounted sleeves contribute to the popular rounded shoulder look.

Popular new cover-ups for junior ensembles include cutaway boleros, slim coats, blouson capes and jackets, drawstring jackets and tunic coats.

Designed for Brides

Brides who want a change from traditional white can chose from wedding gowns in combinations of pale yellow and white or gray and white embroidery on pink, as well as all-over pink or ice blue gowns.

French Designers Get in The Swim

THIS SUMMER American bathing beauties will have the international look.

They will go swimming in suits inspired by native arts of Africa, the South Seas and south-of-the-border countires, designed by famous couturiers of France, New York and California, constructed with American know-how in figure control.

The bathing suit business these days has become a field of international competition, with big-name designers all over the world getting into the swim.

Latest member of the French couture to enter the American swim-suit market is Hubert de Givenchy, under contract to Jantzen. Previously Christian presented by Cole of California, and Schiaparelli designs have been aavilable in this country under her own label for several years.

The Givenchy bathing suits are guaranteed to make a splash wherever they appear.

Slim Look Continued in Spring Suit Styles for Men

MEN'S SUITS FOR SPRING show a continuing trend toward slim styles, along with a resurgence of interest in patterned fabrics. Silk and silk blend materials are gaining popularity, and Ivy League styling is getting wider acceptance.

LEFT: A light tan wool worsted suit with a nub pattern is modeled here by Ralph Wilson of 687 N. Main St. Light in weight and color, this Richman Bros. outfit features a vent back and is topped off in the proper fashion by a charcoal brown pork pie hat.

CENTER LEFT: This lightweight all-wool Saxony plaid topcoat is modeled by Donald Watt of 996 E. Church St. Tan with gray plaid, the coat is by Varsity Town and features raglan sleeves and slash pockets.

CENTER RIGHT: White with black plaid, this all-wool two-button sport coat by Gentry is as comfortable as it looks. Completing the outfit, modeled by William Stauffer of 126 W. Farming St., are charcoal black flannel slacks, an all-silk black tie with white motif, and a steel-gray, narrow brim hat by Marathon.

RIGHT: Narrow lapels in a modified Ivy League style is popular with men this spring. Thomas Rohrer of 233 Peterson St. models this light gray worsted herringbone suit by Embassy-Rowe. A charcoal gray flat top hat by Resistol, and a blue wool tie round out his outfit.

Patterned Shirts Gaining in Favor

Patterned shirts will enjoy a big push this spring, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear.

Included in this group that will help men to be dressed up and dressed right will be some stripes —many with a bold, bold look— and checks and neat printed patterns such as pin dots.

Interest in the more elegant shirts will be confined chiefly to evening wear, not so much in the pleated bosoms as in the ruffled variety.

Although white will keep its high standing, the heavy promotion of patterned shirts should give a lift to solid colors, primarily light blue.

There will be few new collar styles but there should be enough variety to satisfy any man or woman shopper in the short point spreads, button-downs, Ivy button-downs, 'round pin types and several Continental ideas. A new collar idea is one with built-in stays.

Short-sleeved business shirts will account for neater and more comfortable men around conference tables during the warm weather months.

Eye Cosmetics Help

Purple Hard To Wear? Not if Makeup Is Right

"But I can't wear purple!" may well be the regretful wail of many a woman surveying this season's fashions in enticing purple hues.

"Yes, you can!" is the answer from make-up experts. Hard-to-wear colors are becoming colors with the help of the right cosmetics.

Both purple and black, for instance, have a reputation for draining the complexion. This "pallid look" can be overcome by careful choice of cosmetics and a complete and conscientious make-up job.

Powder base and powder should be chosen in a sister-shade to the skin, but a half-tone lighter.

Eye cosmetics, discreetly applied, do wonders to perk up the complexion. Suggestion here is to choose mascara in a shade to blend with the color of the eyes, and eye shadow in the same shade or a costume-coordinated color—such as lavender, orchid, blue-green or blue to wear with purple-hued outfits.

Eye pencil should be several shades darker than the hair.

Complexion - flattering lipstick and rouge colors are important.

LADY IN LAVENDER knows careful make-up, bouffant hair-do make her costume color most becoming.

Pure reds are usually a safe and becoming choice to wear with black and other neutrals, while pink and blue-red hues are harmonious with the purple family and many pastels.

Flower fragrances to go with flower hues give a well-groomed feeling that helps make any costume color easy to wear.

Slim Styles Will Demand Big Hats

It's only natural to have top width when we have body slimness—and fashion is doing what comes naturally when it approves wide lingerie collars on slim sheaths, squared off short jackets, capes, puff sleeves and, above all (literally), the bulkier hat.

More than a new hat, you'll have more hat this spring and you will wear it straight and level over your untroubled brow.

You will have more hair under it, the longer coiffure is definitely back. Your earrings will be larger, too. Good proportion is always one of the principles of good fashion.

OFFER BEAUTY

Ruffles, Tucks, Pleats Feature Girls' Dresses

Full Skirts Enhance Dainty, Pretty Look; Few Styles Are Slim

Pretty styles, aided and abetted by easy care fabrics, meet with fashion approval in this season's clothing for girls.

"Easy to wash, little or no ironing," cottons, blends and synthetics play a major role in everything from party to play wear, and give practicality to such spring-favored style notes as sheer or lacy overskirts, rows of ruffles for sissy shirtwaists and a wealth of appliques, pleats and tucks.

Full Skirts

Full skirts enhance the dainty, pretty look of both party-best and school dresses. Slim styles are a minority in girls' fashions, and appear mostly in dress-up ensembles or suits.

Like her older sister, the grade-schooler takes to capes for spring. Appealing young versions of this trend include the cape coat with cape collar, the cape-jacket suit and the coat with removable capelet around the shoulders.

One ensemble features a two-piece look dress with striped skirt, topped by a reversible capelet—one solid color, the other striped to match the skirt.

In addition to the cape influence, girls' coats frequently display high-placed back details—pleats, gathers, buttons, bows—or back blousing. Since most girls' dresses are bouffant, most coats are appropriately full. Both pyramid and princess styles are liked.

Favored among coat fabrics are tweeds, flannels and worsteds, with navy, gray and pastels among the outstanding colors. Dressy ensembles frequently include duster coats in cottons or blends.

Set Own Trends

While sharing the general interest in capes, back interest, shirtwaists and ensembles, fashions for grade school girls set some trends of their own.

For instance, nautical styles are noteworthy in day dresses and play wear. Middy collars, sailor ties, stripes and red-white-and-blue colorings all carry out the nautical theme.

Distinctively young, too, are Tyrolean or peasant styles, such as the suspender skirt or the jumper-effect dress. A Tyrolean influence shows up in provincial prints for separates and shirtwaist dresses.

Pleasantly surprising is the abundance of plaids appearing in girls' spring wearables. There are miniature and madras types, with special emphasis on spring-like pastel plaids.

Generally, lavender hues lead in popularity.

Fabrics for Home Display Richness

Accent is on color and texture. Light, clear tones, beautiful flower shades and iridescent colors are the most popular.

Gleaming metallic threads add interest to an almost endless variety of fabrics — linens, laces, ribbons, strawcloths, silks, burlaps, tweeds, cottons, sheers, blends and many more.

Floral prints are favored with new emphasis on fernery and leaves. There is a wide variety of contemporary patterns and provincials and many inspired by the splendor of the Orient.

Using fabrics as wall-covering is attracting new interest. There is also an increased use of matching wallpapers and fabrics, synchronizing fabrics with carpets, and companion cloths for "mix-match" decorating.

Girls' Dresses Today Easy To Clean

New Fabric Eliminating Tedious Washing and Pressing Tasks

Little girls' clothes have changed a lot in the last four centuries — and even in the last 20 years.

An exhibition of children's dress from the 16th to the 20th century at the Costume Institute of the Metropolitan Museum of Art pointed up the fact that modern mothers are the luckiest in history — at least in the east with which they can keep their small daughters well-dressed.

LITTLE GIRLS always have liked to dress up in pretty, frilly party dresses, even back in the 16th century, the exhibition demonstrates. But in former days it took hours of careful laundering and expert ironing to keep those party dresses crisp and fresh, with every ruffle and flounce in place.

The Metropolitan exhibition showed children's clothes from France, England, Spain and the United States. These included miniature dresses in rich brocades, lush velvets, silks, taffetas and those beruffled, lacy batistes and lawns that have been a standard for small fry party dresses for generations.

LOVING CARE went into the making of all the dresses shown. The dresses of past centuries were made, of course, by hand, with yards and yards of delicate lace frills and ruffles all stitched painstakingly, and hand embroidery added as a final fillip. They were charming and beautiful, but the observer cannot help thinking how many woman-hours of labor each entailed, not only for the making but for the laundering and care.

In contrast were the party dresses of today — just as dainty, just as frilly, just as delicate, but made by machine of new miracle fabrics that can be dunked in the wash basin, hung up to dry and worn without ironing, with every ruffle and frill crisp and fresh.

Sheath Lines Latest Styles in Spring Shoes

The shoe sheath—newest fashion trend in women's shoes since high buttons went out of style—dominates the passing scene below the ankle this spring.

It's an artfully designed pumps closed up front and back, with tapered toes for a slender look, and it's crafted in every leather imaginable—smooth, suede, grain, patent.

Shoe colors are light neutrals such as dove gray, sandbark and nougat beiges; new pastels such as primrose yellow and bubble blue; or strong rich shades such as flight blue, orange and turquoise.

Touches of white add a special freshness.

Textures show brightness, for grainy as well as smooth shoe leathers come in lustered or highly polished finishes, and suedes are short-napped with a rich gloss.

Guild patent, newly grained or familiarly smooth, is much in evidence, in black or color, alone or in combination with shiny calf or kid, or colored suede.

Casual shoes and spectators have taken to leather linings in checkered, striped, swirled, floral and lace-like web designs of many colors brighter than the shoe itself.

Toes are pointed in many different manners. Flats may have a blunted point or a point like a wide "V."

Most daytime shoes have moderately pointed toes of varying length, while late day and evening shoes come to a long, elegant, sharpened point.

Shape of the toe helps determine that of the heels, with points of varying degrees taking the sharp stiletto, the delicately rounded mid-heel or the low Louis.

Even stacked leather heels on flats are related to the elongated shape of the toe.

The classic pump silhouette is varied by such devices, as tongues in petal shapes, laced "weskits," straps over the instep (lower than last year), spat effects and new low-cut designs on the toe.

Aztec Look

MEXICO CITY — Will the next New Look be the Aztec Look?

It will if Mexican designers have anything to say about it. They're going back to Aztec days 10 centuries ago for "new" designs in dresses, textiles and colors. A dress fair late this year will feature the Aztec Look.

Foundations Meet Need Of New Slim Silhouettes

With the bascially narrow, eased silhouette in fashion prominence, new foundation garments are designed to make all the many variations of slender styles wearable and becoming to the majority of figures.

Long brassieres, high girdles and one-piece garments are the leading contenders for underfashion honors.

THE LONG brassieres, more often than not, fasten in front. This they're easy to put on, and afford the smooth back line required by many slim dresses and skirts.

The pegged skirt, seen in Flemish or Dutch Boy styles, observes this back slimness and eases softly in front. Since it starts from a flat midriff and tapers narrowly over the thighs, midriff and thigh control may be indicated.

Foundations meet the need, molding the midriff by extending two to three inches above the waist, and slimming the thighs by fitting long on the body.

Some girdles take special note of thigh control with panels of rigid fabric or doubled elastic from the fullest curve of the hip to the base of the garment.

THE CORSELET, a new-found favorite of the slender woman and the old standby of the mature figure, is seen more often in all-elastic versions.

Starting with sheer cup sections to lift the bosom, it molds midriff, waist, hips and thighs with one unbroken sheath of light yet persuasive stretch fabric. Backs are low and straps are detachable, to suit the dress neckline as well as the dress line.

A low backline marks many of the newest foundations, for both sheath and bouffant outer fashions now frequently have lowcut backs. These low back foundations are available with or without straps, in white, black or a pastel, and in the form of bandeaus, long line brassieres, bralettes and corselets.

Brassieres and corselets with rounded cups lift the bosom and shape it gently, for a definitive line under cocoon capes and other fashions that fit close to the figure. Lace, satin and embroidered fabrics make new brassieres pretty and feminine as well as functional.

Color also figures in foundaitons, with pastels favored.

LOW-BACK foundation garment cued to fashion has criss-cross back construction, zipper front, can be worn with or without straps.

Length Is Varied In Junior Formals

Formals for juniors display variety in length as well as style this spring. There's new emphasis on floor lengths and in - between lengths.

Juniors like the new look of slim skirted formals ending about eight inches from the floor. There's interest, too, in irregular hemlines, high waistlines marked with bands, roses and floating panels, and the back-moving overskirt treatment for slender formals.

Soft, lady-like styling in such light, airy fabrics as chiffon, silk organza, lace and eyelet are favored.

Many full-length junior formals are teamed with coordinating full-length capes.

Flower, Fruit Shades Used In New Styles

From vivid peony pinks to delicate lilacs, spring fashion is a garden of color. Purples are blooming in profusion — not only lilac, but violet, iris, lavender, wisteria, mauvé. New-leaf greens, geranium, larkspur, tiger lily, blues and pinks with a mauvy cast all add to fashion's flower-like look.

There are fruits in the fashion garden, too — luscious shades of melon, orange, peach, pear, lemon, apricot and lime ready for the picking. And, as in every garden, there are the hardy perennials — navy and black, both important this spring, both branching out in an important variety of ways.

Lighter - than - traditional navies are news, and so is navy that has a rich, almost royal-blue cast. Black, liked alone or touched with white, looks especially fresh in black - and - white patterns that give a gray effect.

There's a good crop of offwhite to brown tones.

Prints continue the garden theme.

SOAP AND SUITCASE

A sure way to keep your clothes from developing a musty smell when you are traveling is to place an unwrapped bar of soap in your suitcase.

Delicate to Elegant Is Range Of Jewelry for Spring Season

Jewelry displays two distinct spring looks, one light and delicate, the other bulky and elegant in the Edwardian manner.

Pastel colors are an important part of the delicate look. Mauve tints are popular, along with such flower shades as soft blue, pink, yellow and green.

Spring flowers inspire many new jewelry designs as well as colors, even to the use of more green foliage effects.

Also contributing to the delicate look are the increased use of crystals, frosty shimmering beads in iridescent tones, jet iris and aurora stones. White and gold combinations continue in popularity.

Rope necklaces are enjoying a revival and look especially new in crystals of varying sizes and combinations of clear and pastels.

Among the leading bulky and elegant styles are enamel bracelets shaped like wide cuffs, gold Edwardian - type chain bracelets and neckwear with pendant balls of flowers, chunky stones set in burnished gold and bead necklaces with center pendants and gold filigree.

FAVORED FASHION

Juniors favor Tyrolean separates in coordinated colors.

Silk Favorite Fabric in New Spring Styles

The look of fashion this spring is one of gentle, feminine elegance, and the new spring fabrics are very much in keeping with this trend. Silk is the overwhelming favorite — in all its many variations, in blends and as a strong influence on the textures, colors and prints of other fabrics.

Blends are more popular than ever, with silk-and-cotton leading the field. Synthetics have arrived in a big way to add to the general aura of quality.

Newsiest silks of all are the sheers, especially chiffon.

Going along with the success of sheers is the popularity of supple, lightweight, airy fabrics. Chiffon-weight woolens, tissue tweeds and fine worsteds are all favorites. Especially interesting is the revival of openweave etamine tweeds and fine meshes.

Another group of fabrics with a delicate air are the many woven novelties of Dacron-and-cotton.

Fabrics for coats achieve a new height of luxury in white cashmere and camel's hair. Richness is also achieved by blends of wool with angora or with such furs as opossum. Pastel coatings for burlap, strawmat and boucle are other favorites.

Shape Will Give Belts Dictinction

Narrow belts in unusual shapes and wider ones with decorative accents add drama to spring outfits.

In the first category are belts with scalloped edges and belts dipping from high in front to low in back. Others are interwoven bands of leather.

Girdle-like belts in suede or kid, for evening, are often draped, tucked or pleated, and usually have giant jeweled buckles.

Whither Hemline? Skirts Are Longer

Whither hemlines? Are skirts drastically longer this spring? What about lengths for day and late day?

Evolution, not revolution, is the answer. Fashion isn't shouting, "Down with hemlines!" but there is more than a whisper of change in the spring air.

Many daytime fashions are an inch or two longer than last season, while cocktail-hour and informal evening garb often reaches to ankle-bone length, a la Dior.

"How low" to lower the hemline is still a matter of individual taste and becoming appearance.

Height enters into it. The tall woman can wear 13-inches-from-the-floor lengths gracefully, while the smaller woman can wear somewhat shorter skirts and still achieve a lowered hemline look.

Middle East Defense Tough

Military Aspects of Ike's Doctrine Pose Problem

CAIRO (NANA) — The long, lean colonel put his feet on the coffee table and sighed:

"All we know out here are two things: we have a bear by the tail and we don't know where to throw it. And—it's going to cost us a lot more dough than anybody wants to say right now."

The officer was speaking of the military aspects of the Eisenhower Doctrine. Everything military connected with the doctrine is either "extremely vague" or "very hush-hush." He continued thoughtfully:

The United States, to be an effective policeman on the Middle East beat, needs a net of small, operational, local bases for ground-troop combat teams and as relay stations for fighter planes.

THIS CARDINAL theme colors all military thinking about the Middle East among responsible sources contacted here. Officers, discussing how the United States is going to carry out its commitment to defend the region against the Russians and-or protect nations in the area from local Communist-inspired aggression, add these additional thoughts:

So-called "massive retaliation" against the Russians simply cannot apply to snuffing out "brush fires." In effect, small nations can risk blackmailing big nations, knowing they can get away with minor aggressions without touching off the big thermonuclear bang.

Planes are not enough to stop the minor scraps. New-style combat (police) teams must be organized. They must be compact and versatile enough to force an enemy to concentrate his forces so he can be destroyed by small tactical atomic charges.

The "police" teams must be airborne units in constant readiness to intervene swiftly and hold the situation in check until United Nations forces or diplomatic means can stabilize the upset situation.

ILLUSTRATING the foregoing, an officer cited the air power of the U.S. Navy's Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean. Aircraft carrier planes can cover 1,000 to 1,400 miles, or virtually all the Middle East. But even after successful strikes, foot soldiers must police the political debris if peace is to be restored, he said.

Atomic field weapons pose the further vexing problem of devising "Marquess of Queensbury" rules for their employment, it was pointed out. Radiation fall-out probably can be eventually controlled. But no one knows yet what to do about radio-activized desert sand blowing in the desert winds. And extreme care has to be taken not to inflame Arab nationalism by singling out Arabs as atomic targets.

"Where do you start or stop? How far is up?" asked one military planner distractedly.

Double caution must be taken about the Russians, it was asserted. Free-and-easy tossing of tactical atom bombs might conceivably scare the Soviets into pushing the "panic button." The whole world would then be in the atomic soup. The Soviets have already warned the Arab nations against letting themselves be used as American atomic bases.

WHERE WOULD U.S. forces come from to serve as "police teams?"

That is the $100,000-question, according to U.S. Army attaches, already touchy about recent years' reductions in American ground forces. The 2,800,000-man U.S. Army is spread thin over the world. Five divisions committed to NATO in Germany take the cream of troops. The present total 19 divisions will soon be cut to 17. Missions to some 40 allied countries further drain manpower. Where is the "fat" for emergency assignments?

The only ground forces positively available for Middle East local action are in the U.S. Marine battalion with the Sixth Fleet. Theoretically available is the SETAF atomic combat team in Verona in north Italy and the 11th Airborne Division in Germany. The Verona force would take 10 hours and the German force 15 hours to reach the Middle East, logistics experts said.

Mobile reserves from the United States would take two to six days to arrive in the area in force. The European forces would have to be detached from NATO service in the same manner British and French troops were taken away for Suez and Algeria, respectively. Continental American forces could not be too far stripped because of Far East risks from Red China.

The picture is not pretty. The only light military sources out here can spot lies in the new 1957-58 Eisenhower budget. This provides for creation of six atomic combat teams: One or two of these could serve as nuclei for a Middle East task force, with possible sites in Greece, Turkey or Pakistan.

DOWN TO THE DOLOMITES. What appears to be a movie scene about the moon is really Italian parachute troops making a drop during maneuvers in Dolomite Mountains.

INTERURBAN ERA ENDS

WATERLOO, Ia. (AP)—An era ended here recently when Iowa's last interurban passenger train completed its run. Electric lines had a flourishing passenger business in the 1920's but it has tapered off since then.

Heavy Support Speeds Recovery

Reds Aid Nasser in Rebuilding Army

PARIS (NANA) — Colonel Nasser is rebuilding his shattered army and air force, with Soviet help, at a much faster rate than Anglo-French military experts had thought it would be possible for him to do, according to authoritative sources here.

He is said to be converting his whole army to Soviet and Czech weapons and methods, and even to have ordered use of the Red army drill manual which now has been translated for the purpose and is being printed in Cairo.

During the past few days, Egypt's swift military revival has formed the subject of talks between French and Israeli officials. Information gathered by Israel's intelligence agencies also has been passed along to the U.S. government.

The Israeli contention is that Nasser's fast job of rebeefing his battered armed forces — and Russia's readiness to dispatch further substantial shipments of arms after most of the Communists' earlier deliveries were abandoned in the Sinai desert — can only mean the Egyptian ruler has not dismissed the possibility of resuming a war of "self-defense" in the reasonably near future.

A CLIQUE OF Egyptian generals is said to be pressuring Nasser to more positive action, contending the struggle should be resumed in order to wipe out the suspicion which slowly has been trickling down to the Egyptian masses, through returning soldiers, that what happened in the desert was not a victory but a rout.

According to a well-placed Westerner who recently was in Cairo, Colonel Nasser has no great confidence the outcome of another conflict would necessarily be an improvement over the first. But, because of the myth which has been nurtured about Egypt's "victory," he cannot afford to admit this to any except his most intimate advisers and especially not to his Arab allies.

Western informants by no means accept all the Israeli conclusions. But they do not doubt the renewed stream of Communist weapons into Egypt. Russia reportedly has agreed to give Egypt 300 MIG-17 jet fighters — instead of the obsolete MIG-15's with which they were mostly supplied before Port Said — to replace the aircraft destroyed on the ground by the RAF. Big shipments of heavy tanks and weapons carriers are also steaming into Alexandria.

A LARGE MISSION of young Egyptian army and air force officers flew to Russia less than a month ago for intensive training. The presence of a considerable body of Soviet military advisers and instructors in Egypt is no longer questioned by any Western observer whose task it is to keep informed about such activities.

However, much uncertainty continues to surround the question of Soviet officers and non-coms who were supposedly with the Egypt divisions in the Sinai when the Israelis struck. Though there is little chance of ever being able to confirm it, it has been repeatedly reported a lot of them were there and were among the first to flee. Colonel Nasser is understood to have protested to Moscow about the sad example set by its representatives. Most of them are now said to have been replaced.

Nasser paid or pledged to pay for most of the Communist military equipment he received before last November. But, Western sources here said, recent deliveries have either been outright gifts or on a deferred payment plan. He and Moscow are reported to have signed an agreement last month whereby Egypt need pay nothing until the country's foreign trade is again normal and the Suez Canal is operating normally, with Cairo assured of all transit fees.

Polio Victim Becomes Topflight Needle Man

ISHPEMING, Mich. (AP)—Jabs from a hypodermic needle don't bring the usual yelp of pain if John Hill has put his fine hand to work on the needle first.

Hill, a polio victim, makes a living from his wheelchair by sharpening used hypodermic needles so they'll be better than new.

How much better? "Enough to add up to 30 per cent less operator effort, 60 per cent less pain and 100 per cent less plugging," says Hill.

He gets used needles from hospitals and doctors and puts them through a painstaking resharpening process. When he's done the needle can be poked into a pad of shoe leaher without a jar—or into a human without a squeak.

MILK TRUCKS FIGHT FIRE

ALBANY, Minn. (AP) — Eight milk trucks, each loaded with 2,000 gallons of water, provided firemen with water to fight a blaze at a railroad overpass. The trucks hustled back and forth with their sloshing caroges, keeping a supply of water available for fire engine pumping equipment until the flames were brought under control.

Ann Sothern Shows Her Wrath

As Ann Sothern always says, "I'm half Irish and half Danish, and I'm pretty easy to get along with, except when I get my dander up." Said "dander" is clearly soaring these days because somebody had the gall to treat the fair Ann "like a piece of merchandise" and sell her "Private Secretary" services — without her knowledge, yet — for less than she thinks she's worth.

TORRE

"Actors are not cattle to be bought and sold in a video stockyard," fumed Ann on letting associates know she'll not report for further "secretary" films. After four years and 104 shows, the series will fade out on CBS March 17, and its future is indeed cloudy on account of Ann's wrath.

-:-

THE FRACAS TOOK ROOT when her former producer, Jack Chertok, sold the series to Television Programs of America, a package firm, which has been distributing re-runs of the show. That was all right with Ann, but what she didn't know was that Chertok, along with the program, gave TPA his option on her services. And that's what stirred her ire.

"The thing that makes me so angry," explained Ann, "is that I was unaware my option could be exercised by TPA should Chertok not exercise the fifth option of the five-year contract he had with me.

"Since Chertok's deal with TPA was misrepresented to me, I feel I have no moral or ethical obligation to TPA.

"I have no kick against the company, and I think they've done a phenomenal job on re-runs. But, in order for me to continue as Susie McNamara, a new and amicable arrangement has to be made directly with TPA for first runs."

ALTHOUGH SHE'S holding out for an increase in ownership rights to "Secretary," Ann wasn't exactly forced to dine on hash under her old terms. Her original contract with Chertok gave her 25 per cent of the show for the first three years and 42 per cent the fourth year.

She says she was willing to go along with those terms at the beginning and live up to them with Chertok, but since PTA purchased a "hit property," she feels she's entitled to a new deal on the fifth-year option.

There's another hitch. Ann would like to produce the series if it isn't supervised by Chertok, against whom, incidentally, she has a law suit pending for an accounting of monies.

Ann, nevertheless, makes it clear she'll not sway from her adamant stand. In fact, she's prepared to fight the matter out, even "at the risk of a TV layoff" for a whole year.

"In all honesty," she added, "I would like to continue with 'Private Secretary,' if only for the reason I'm a coward. By that I mean it's much easier to stay with a hit than take a chance on a new series."

WHILE THE FATE of the "Telephone Hour" on NBC Radio remains under discussion among AT&T officials, the veteran show draws a temporary reprieve of 13 weeks, effective April 1. . . Jackie Gleason, who played a big part in the success of choreographer June Taylor, will portray himself in the "Climax" presentation of "The June Taylor Story" April 18.

Upcoming oddity: Shapely Monique Van Vooren discussing the importance of a college education on "Stand Up and Be Counted" March 16. Think what we may, Monique vows she's more qualified to discuss this academic subject than her glamorous facade would indicate. She says she originally came to America as an Exchange student from her native Belgium and majored in law at New York University.

IF THE MAIL is any indication, Charles Van Doren, our new national hero, is causing much concern among viewers who noticed that he exhibited an unusual amount of strain last time he was in the "Twenty - One" isolation booth. One of the many bits of advice for Mr. Van Doren's well-being hails from Paul Webb of Newtown, Conn., who asks: "How come Jack Barry never slips Mr. Van Doren a bottle of Geratol before he sends him to the booth? He always seems to have an extra bottle in his pocket and if I understand the commercial correctly that's just what this stuff is for. . .tired blood and exhaustion. Also, just for a switch. . .why not a short simple question shot to the fellow. . .like 'Why does the Saturday Evening Post always come out on Wednesday'?"

Bill Collectors Seeking More Impressive Title

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The men whose business it is to collect delinquent accounts don't want to be known as bill collectors. They would rather be thought of as "guidance workers" helping people who have mismanaged their budgets.

That was the opinion expressed by collection agents attending a central states conference of the American Collectors' Association.

"People need assistance to get out of debt and modern collectors try to help those people," said Paul A. Root, operator of a collection bureau at Ann Arbor, Mich.

PRECEDENT BREAKER

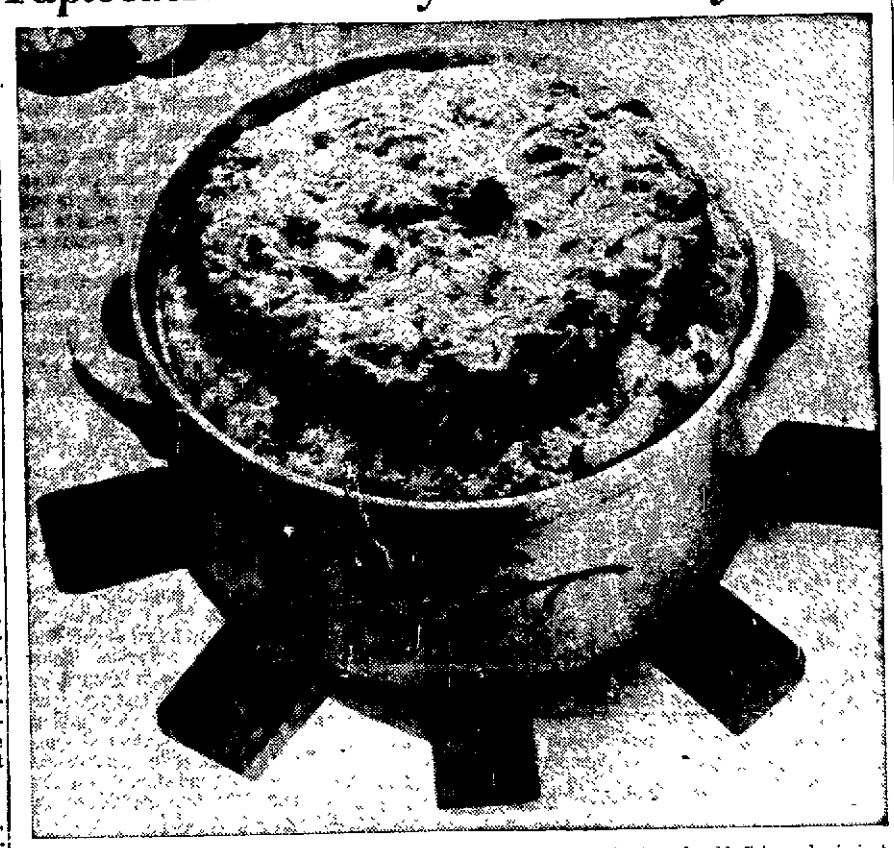
Tapioca Adds Stability to Tuna-Celery Souffle



Adaptable to lunch, dinner and supper menus is this delectable tuna and celery souffle.

Tapioca gives the needed stability for the souffle to stay high and moist to the last bite.

6 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 cup diced celery
1½ cups milk
1 can (7 ounces) tuna fish, drained and flaked
1 to 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
3 egg whites
3 egg yolks

Combine tapioca, salt, pepper, onion, celery, and milk in saucepan. Place over medium heat and cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add fish and pimiento. Allow to cool slightly while beating eggs.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add tapioca mixture to egg yolks and mix well. Fold into egg whites.

Turn into 2-quart baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour, or until souffle is firm. Makes 6 servings.

21 Pointers Offered To Help In Picking Out Used Vehicle

DETROIT (INS) — The used vehicle manager of a major automotive manufacturer has come up with 21 hints to guide the 12 to 15 million Americans who each year buy a used car.

S. P. Hutchins said customers too often are guided by price rather than quality while shopping for a used car, and not enough purchasers take a thorough demonstration ride when selecting a car.

The things a customer should consider, Hutchins said, include the following "21 Rules for Buying:"

1. Oil pressure: Should be in mid-range on the indicator and hold steady under acceleration.

2. Tire wear: Check outside outer casings for cuts and undue wear. Tread patterns should be even across the tire, indicating proper wheel alignment.

3. Upholstery and general apperance: Interior should not be unduly soiled or torn. Seat covers may be an indication of the previous owner's care and pride but can also hide bad rips and stains.

4. Brakes: Should have a firm pressure and be well up from the floor.

5. Steering: Car should travel straight ahead without weave or sway.

6. Clutch travel: In a standard transmission type car, clutch should engage in gear smoothly with clutch approximately halfway out. If an automatic transmission, performance should be smooth and quiet.

7. Engine starting: Should start quickly and easily when engine is cold. When temperature gauge shows warm, car should start more quickly.

8. Windows: Check all windows for operation and discoloration.

9. Radio: Play radio on at least two stations.

10. Foot pedal pads: Should not be unduly worn. Floor mats should be in reasonable condition.

11. Heater and defroster: Don't fail to check operation, even in summer.

12. Amp-meter gauge: Should indicate no more than three-quarter charge when driving and should discharge only slightly at engine idle.

13. Oil Filter: Check to see if car has replacement type filter. If so, this can save owner money.

14. Lights: Check lights in park, dim and driving ranges. Also check stop lights and tail lights for operation.

15. Rust: Very extensive rust will reduce pride of ownership, and can cost you money.

16. Oil: Pull oil stick for check for clear oil. Presence of water bubble in oil sample indicates probability of big repair bills in the near future.

17. Shock absorbers: Test by driving over reasonably rough road. Clanking noises accompany unsound shock absorbers.

18. Engine compartment: Lift hood and check for unusual amount of dirt, grime and caked oil residue.

19. Trunk: Open trunk for appearance check and examine spare tire for cuts and breaks.

20. Body: Rain gutter over top of doors should be straight. Look down the side of the car to make sure body metal is smooth. A wavy gutter or side panel are the result of reworking a car after an accident.

21. Battery: Check battery to make sure it does not have dried or cracked plates or that excessive acid deposits have destroyed battery frame.

SIGNALS ON

DETROIT (AP)—When the big walk-in vault at the County treasurer's office wouldn't open one morning recently, treasurer Harold E. Stoll chose six hefty linemen from his staff and set up a football-like scrimmage. With the six men putting their shoulders to the vault door, Stoll yelled "charge" and after 10 minutes of bucking, the door swung open. Settling of the building was believed to have jammed the door.

Search for Smithy Proving Fruitless

DETROIT (AP) — A blacksmith who has never shod a horse in the 53 years he has practiced his craft is having trouble finding a replacement to fill his job at the Department of Public Works.

James M. Ferguson, 67, wants to retire. The DPW has searched two years and hasn't found a smith or an apprentice to take over.

"We realized a long time ago that Ferguson would be retiring and we would have a hard time finding a blacksmith to fill his job," DPW Commissioner Glenn C. Richards said. "We started looking two years ago but it appears blacksmiths are becoming scarce."

Ferguson repairs hand tools used for street maintenance and makes special tools and unobtainable parts for old machines. The DPW employs three blacksmiths.

Born in Scotland, Ferguson is only 5-feet-4 and weighs just 155 pounds.

"You don't have to be big to be a good blacksmith," he said. "What you need is strength and skill."

"Those you get through hard work. I guess that's why they are having trouble finding blacksmiths today."

Ferguson says, however, he would not recommend his trade to young men. "If I had to do it over again I would stay away from the anvil."

Division of Health Cures Red Faces

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Workers at a hardware making plant can take a drink of beer after work again without turning a cherry red — thanks to State Health Department experts.

The department was called in after eight workmen complained that if they drank alcoholic beverages after work their faces and arms would turn red, they were troubled with rapid heart beat, nausea and general discomfort.

It was found the workers were breathing fumes from a solvent known as trichloreythlene, used to clean hardware fixtures, and a compound called pyradiene, used to prevent rusting. A toxic reaction to the compounds was triggered by drinking alcoholic beverages.

Industrial specialists solved the problem by isolating and ventilating the area where the cleaning solvents were used.

Feather River Project Started

Largest Dam in World Is Planned in California

LOS ANGELES (NANA) — California is going to spend $1,600,000,000 to build the biggest dam in the world and a 585-mile aqueduct system to carry badly needed water to the mushrooming cities and parched farmlands of the southern third of the state

This expenditure, the biggest state - sponsored project in history, will finance the Feather River project and will bring water and power from the north, which boasts 70 per cent of the state's water, but only 10 per cent of the population, to the south, which has 60 per cent of the people, but only 2 per cent of the water

Legislative approval has been given for the first $25,190,000 It launches the first work for the key dam at Oroville on the Feather River, some 70 miles due north of Sacramento It will be spent clearing lands, relocating railroad lines and highways, preparing the way for what will be the largest dam in the world

THIS ENGINEERING marvel will stretch 6,780 feet between the wooded mountains at its top It will rise 730 feet above the present stream bed, 20 feet higher than Hoover Dam at Las Vegas It will require 14,000,000 cubic yards of concrete, 3 500,000 more than required for the Grand Coulee dam And its reservoir capacity of 3,500,000 acre-feet of water will create a 15,450-acre lake

These scenic attractions and recreational values, however, are but collateral benefits. The real benefits will be the halt of waste and destruction, the provision for adequate water for the southland in advance of the inexorably growing demand and the generation of some 1,750,000,000 kilowatt - hours of electric power annually

Virtually all of the present Feather River runoff, averaging 4,500,000 acre - feet annually, courses down the Sacramento River valley, through the delta lands east of San Francisco Bay. thence to the sea — wasted

In peak runoff years, reaching a maximum of 9,350,000 acre-feet, it brings flood disasters like the one last year at Yuba City, with damage running into millions, and misery and heartbreak which cannot be measured in dollars.

AND AT THE SAME time, the fantastic and unceasing influx of new population into Los Angeles, San Diego and elsewhere in the southern third of the state, and the industries that arrive or grow with them, each month increase the demand for water by more than 1,000,000 gallons a day

The great Central Valley, with 70 per cent of the state's irrigated lands, has perhaps even more immediate problems In Kern County farmers say $70 000,000 of their annual $200,000,000 agricultural output — it has become one of the nation's leading cotton producing areas — is threatened as underground water basins have been pumped down to mud

To meet these needs, the Feather River project, under present plans would provide 1 840 000 acre feet of water annually to Central Valley agricultural areas

Another 1,800,000 acre-feet would be supplied annually to the people, industries and irrigation lands of southern California, a continuous flow of 2,500 cubic feet per second

Phosphate Mine Work Started On Disputed China Sea Island

MANILA, (INS)—Filipino adventurer and businessman Thomas Cloma has announced development of phosphate mining in "Freedomland"

"Freedomland" is the name Cloma has given to the group of islands, reefs shoals and rich fishing waters in the South China Sea some 85 miles southwest of Palawan Island

The ownership of the area is being disputed among the governments of France, Vietnam, Nationalist China and private citizen Cloma who is a Manila lawyer, businessman and president of the Philippine Maritime Institute

Cloma, who says he has poured "a few thousand dollars" into his fight for ownership of "Freedomland" announced recently that actual mining of phosphate has been underway "for some time"

Ready for Shipment

He said a stockpile of the mineral—which is used primarily as agricultural fertilizer—totalling approximately three to four thousand tons is now ready for shipment to New Zealand where his business representative reportedly had concluded sales contracts

Phosphate is a surface mineral and ordinarily only shovels and wheelbarrows are needed to gather the raw material

Cloma, who has kept this mining activity in the atolls under wraps for some time, said it was necessary for him to make the announcement because of news stories from Taipeh that the Nationalist Chinese government had permitted private parties to make survey trips to the island

The chubby high-cheekboned Cloma notified the Formosa government, in a letter through the Chinese embassy in Manila, of the Freedomland" mining output and exact location of the areas of activity two days before his announcement to the press

He said negotiations for sale of his phosphate in Japan are still going on His samples had been assayed by the bureau of mines in Manila and in New Zealand and Japan

2 Ships Acquired

Cloma added that his New Zealand representative has acquired two ocean-going ships to transport the phosphate He has dispatched three groups of his men to New Zealand last month to form part of the complements of the vessels

The Philippine government has remained aloof from the Freedomland dispute, and the department of foreign affairs has not decided to lay formal claim on the islands either as part of the Philippine territory or as a protectorate

The Presidential Palace has maintained a cold shoulder on the matter in spite of Cloma s and the Foreign Affairs Association's pleadings to consider their requests The FAA an organization of foreign affairs students and former Filipino diplomats headed by one-time Ambassador to Spain Manuel Gallego, is a staunch backer of Cloma

High ranking administration officials however had privately advised Cloma that a trusteeship under the United States at this time is in order for his Freedomland

But before the trusteeship question can be taken up in the United Nations one member nation of the 80 nation forum will have to sponsor Freedomland s inclusion in the agenda for discussion in the U N

Governor's Plea Taken Seriously, Poet Resigns

CHARLESTON W Va (AP)—When Gov Cecil H Underwood called for the resignations of all state appointive officials Roy Lee Harmon took him literally

West Virginia s first Republican governor in 24 years Underwood asked the resignations to give him a free hand in reorganizing

Harmon, a Democrat, gave up a title he had held 17 years He resigned as the state's unpaid poet laureate

Crack Security Police Corps

Himmler's 'Elite Guard' Revived by E. Germans

BERLIN (NANA) — East Germany's jittery Stalinist regime is forming a carbon copy of Hummler's SS Elite Guard to handle growing resistance to Communist rule

The Soviet zone's "special troops" numbering around 35 000 men heavily armed with light weapons will be spread through the 14 Soviet zone governmental administrative areas

Only proven Communist fanatics are being taken into the new force About 18 000 have been accepted so far

The new force will be uniformed and its members will be empowered to make summary arrests

Plans call for these elite security troops to be trained for street and house-to-house fighting and be concentrated in state capitals and key industrial areas

THE SOVIET zone Communist security experts have made an exhaustive survey of the Hungarian uprising A party of Soviet zone security experts spent nearly a month in Budapest It was determined from this survey that an elite security force closely patterned after Himmler's original SS formation would be the most effective type of organization

The "alert police" will be controlled by a newly formed "chief administration for internal security," which has been organized within the ministry for state security Commander of the new force is General Lothar Gartmann formerly chief of the Soviet zone's eastern frontier police Heretofore the Soviet zone internal security has been in the hands of a Communist militia backed up by the East German armed forces and normal police

Hungary s revolt demonstrated however that neither that satellite's armed militia nor the regular armed forces was trustworthy The majority, in fact went over to the anti Communists The Soviet zone regime apparently has concluded that its own popularity with the masses is no greater.

PRIOR TO THE June 17, 1953 Soviet zone uprising, the Communists had stuck to the line that they were the majority party with mass support

After the 1953 revolt, East Germany's Communists switched their line They formed the armed workers' militia and began conceding, in their propaganda, the existence of dangerous opposition

Since the Hungarian revolt, Walter Ulbricht, the Soviet zone Communist boss, and other Red chieftains have been admitting, in a series of remarkable public statements and speeches, that East Germany s Communists are a minority party

Ulbricht, in speech after speech, has been telling East Germans, in substance, that the Communists are relying on Soviet tanks and guns to retain power

Proclamation of the new SS copy police force is interpreted in West Berlin as evidence that Ulbricht realizes that it is not feasible to maintain a government in power indefinitely with foreign troops

Emotional Irritations May Step Up Infection

LOS ANGELES, Calif (AP)—A psychiatrist reports that bacteria and other minute organisms find it easier to infect people who worry and fret

"A" organic diseases are influenced by psychological factors," said Dr Leo Rangell, clinical professor of psychiatry at UCLA, at a recent postgraduate seminar on psychiatric problems in general practice "Resistance to infection is influenced by the psychic state"

The psychiatrist said emotional irritations may be reflected in irritations of the lining of the colon or skin surface, which in turn invite bacterial invasion

Prison Authors Succeed In Their Writing Effort

JACKSON, Mich (AP)—Behind the bleak walls of Southern Michigan Prison, a convicted slayer and a forger are writing tales of the outdoors and children's stories

They re getting about 25 per cent of their stories accepted for publication Right now the team is working on an illustrated book for children, "Timothy, the Timid Tiger"

The inmate authors are William Marey, 22, serving life for murder, and Robert Dalt, serving 5 to 14 years for forgery They write under the pen name of Dale Morey

The two said most of their earnings go into art supplies to illustrate the new book

Lenten Casserole for Family, Guests

Fish Fillets With White Sauce Have Topping of Cheese Pastry

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

It's comforting to have a Lenten Casserole recipe that is delicious enough to serve both family and guests. The following rule — using fish fillets, peas and carrots and a well-seasoned white sauce — is it. Its added feature, a topping of cheese pastry, makes it super.

We tried this dish on half a dozen tasters and they all applauded. Plus its popularity, it has another virture — it's inexpensive.

LENTEN CASSEROLE

Ingredients: 1 package (1 pound) frozen haddock fillets (defrosted), ⅓ cup water, 1 cup finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas and carrots, 2 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, 6 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1½ teaspoons dry mustard, 1 small bay leaf, Lattice Cheese Pastry.

Method: Place unseparated defrosted fillets in a 1½-quart rectangular baking dish. Pour water over fillets. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until opaque through — about 20 minutes. Pour off liquid; drain fish well and flake; return to baking dish. Cook onion slowly in butter in small skillet, stirring often, until transparent. Cook peas and carrots according to package directions; drain. Add onion and peas and carrots to flaked fish. Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; spinkle flour, salt, pepper and mustard over surface. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Add bay leaf. Cook over hot (not boiling) water stirring constantly until thickened. Remove bay leaf. Pour sauce over fish and vegetables. Toss gently to mix. Top with Lattice Cheese Pastry. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 minutes. Place under broiler 5 minutes or until most of pastry surface browns. Makes 6 servings.

LATTICE CHEESE PASTRY

Ingredients: ½ cup sifted flour, 1 tablespoon instant nonfat dry milk powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons shortening, 1 can (1½ ounces) grated Parmesan and Romano cheese, 1 to 2 tablespoons (about) cold water.

Method: Sift together flour, instant nonfat dry milk powder and salt. Cut in shortening with two knives or pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Stir in cheese. Sprinkle water over mixture, a little at a time; toss mixture gently with a fork until pastry forms a ball. Chill. Roll out on lightly floured board to a 9 by 10-inch rectangle. Cut into lengthwise strips, about 1-inch wide. Place strips about 1 inch apart on top of seafood, vegetable and sauce mixture in criss-cross fashion. Trim edges; seal to edge of baking dish. Bake according to directions in Lenten Casserole recipe.

'Chiva' Travel Suggested for Panama Visits

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — If you'd like to see Panama as its ordinary citizens see it, take a ride in a "chiva."

That's the advice of a Dallas-based airline which can get you to Panama from the U. S. in a sleek airliner in four hours — but from there on its a noisy, bumpy but thoroughly delightful way to see the Isthmus.

A Chiva is a locally made wooden frame perched atop an imported chassis, decorated inside and out to please the driver.

A chiva may be painted bright blue with gay paintings of cowboys, mambo-dancers, parrots or other subjects on the rear—for the benefit of the car behind.

Strips of brightly colored plastic material are woven carefully around the straight bars across the windows or wave from the radiator cap or radio antenna.

Inside, yards of fringed balls (the kind used to decorate hats of Spanish dancers) are tacked around the windshield and windows. Over the driver's head, pictures of patron saints are mingled with movie and sports stars. There is usually a rabbit's foot hanging near the St. Christopher medal.

Most chivas are named—usually for a favorite senorita—and all radios blare constantly, making ordinary conversation impossible.

And it's quite a ride for a dime because you pay the fare at the end of the line, and the end is where and when you decide to get off!

Mrs. Harry Martin of south east of Ashley, was surprised with a birthday party at the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Paul in Center Village, Sunday night. Guests were present from Columbus, Ashley and Center Village.

Galion

The wedding of Ann Elizabeth Zeller and William Allen Downard was solemnized Saturday, March 2, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. The double ring service was read by Rev. Kenneth A. Hans at 9 a.m. and the Nuptial High Mass was observed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert M. Zeller of Galion, and Mr. Downard's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Downard of Mansfield. Sister Theonia was organist and the Childrens' choir of the church sang.

Miss Barbara Jean Zeller was her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Mary Christine Zeller, another sister, was bridesmaid. The flower girl was Mary Lou Kohls, Ring bearer was Stephen Jordan.

Mr. Downard had Joseph Vogel of Mansfield, cousin of the bride, for his best man; and the ushers were Robert Downard, brother of the bridegroom, Dick Reid, Charles Anderson and George Sprang. Approximately 100 guests were present for the reception in St. Joseph's School hall. Guests were served by Miss Jean Crider, Miss Joan Eidt, Miss Mary Katherine Durtschi, Miss Patty Holzworth, Miss Marion Stockdale, Miss Ruth Shumaker, Miss Jean Gregory and Miss Grace Vogel, with Miss Elinor Keefer in charge of the guest book.

The former Miss Zeller was graduated from Iberia High School, and was employed at The Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing Co. She has accepted a position in the Richland County Courthouse at Mansfield. Mr. Downard is an enameler at Ingersoll - Humphreys Co. in Mansfield. He attended Mansfield Senior High School.

St. Joseph's Catholic Church was the site here Saturday morning, March 2, when Marilyn Isabelle Cochran of Galion became the bride of Charles Robert George of Galion. Nuptial High Mass was celebrated, with Rev. Fred Gilbert officiating. The single ring service was used. The Childrens' choir of the church sang with Sister Theonia at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William Raypole of Galion, and the late Mr. Raypole. Mr. George is the son of Mrs. Lucinda Elizabeth George of Burlington, Vt., and the late Mr. George.

Miss Dorothy Pugh was the bride's only attendant. Richard Holtshouse of Galion was the best man.

The wedding party and relatives and close friends were received at the home of the bride's mother, following the wedding.

The bride was graduated from Galion High school in 1948. She is an X-ray technician, and received her training at Cleveland City Hospital. She is employed as office nurse for Dr. R. D. Campbell of Mansfield.

Mr. George is a licensed cable splicer for the Northern Ohio Telephone Company in Galion. He was graduated from Burlington High School and attended the University of Vermont until he entered service in World War II. He saw service in the European theater of war.

Twins Arrive in Time For Mother's Shower

DES MOINES (AP) — Because of a big snow, the baby shower at the Donald Kristufek home for Mrs. Carl F. Mahnke Jr. was postponed for a few days.

At the appointed hour, all the guests except the guest of honor were present. Her husband telephoned: "I'm terribly sorry about Shirley missing the shower but we're at the hospital now and the baby's on the way."

A little later, he called the party again: "Twins! A boy and a girl."

REASON FOR HOPE

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Transit Company, which operates in the city, carried 4.7 per cent fewer passengers in 1956 than 1955, but its report was encouraging. The drop was the lowest since the Korean war period and it hopes the levelling off point has been reached.

LEGAL NOTICE

Lester Mason, whose last known address was c/o John Hall, 341 East Santa Anita Avenue, Burbank, California, will take notice that on the 5th day of February, 1957, Reta Grace Mason, filed her Petition for Divorce against him in the Common Pleas Court of Marion County, Ohio, Case No. 33586, praying for a divorce on the grounds of Gross Neglect of Duty.
Said cause will be heard on or after the 21st day of March, 1957.

LEGAL NOTICE BY PUBLICATION

William Jack Osborne, whose last known place of residence is 911 Cecil Avenue, Louisville, Kentucky, an heir at law of Lucy Mae Loop, late of Marion, Marion County, Ohio, will take notice that William J. Loop, as surviving spouse of Lucy Mae Loop, deceased, filed his petition in the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, on the 29th day of January, 1957, alleging that the real property hereinafter described was not specifically devised and that he as surviving spouse desires to acquire said property as provided by law, and for that purpose elects to take said real property at its appraised value. That said Lucy Mae Loop died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate:
Being an undivided one-half interest in the following:
Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio and in the City of Marion, and bounded and described as follows: Being part of Lot Number fifteen hundred and eighty-two (1582) in Park Addition and bounded and described as follows: Commencing at a point in the north line of said lot number 1582 fifty-eight (58) feet east of the northwest corner thereof; thence on the north line of said lot to the northeast corner thereof; thence on the east line of said lot to the southeast corner thereof; thence west on the south line of said lot to a point fifty (50) feet east of the southwest corner thereof; thence in a northeast direction to the place of beginning.
That the prayer of the petition is that the said William J. Loop, as surviving spouse of Lucy Mae Loop, deceased, be permitted to purchase said real estate in accordance with the statutes in such cases made and provided.
The said William Jack Osborne will further take notice that he is made a party defendant to said petition and that he is required to answer the same on or before the 6th day of April, A. D., 1957.
WILLIAM J. LOOP surviving spouse of Lucy Mae Loop, deceased.
Case No. 21120.

1-B—IN MEMORIAMS

IN LOVING memory of our son and brother, Donald J. Newell Jr., who passed away 10 years ago.
You are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more.
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
Mother and Father,
Brothers and Sisters.

IN MEMORY of Mary Louise Seiter who passed away March 7th, 1952.
Silent her voice and vacant her chair,
Sweet are the memories that linger there.
We miss her and mourn her in silence unseen,
And live in the memory of joys that have been.

REX MORGAN, M.D. By Dal Curtis

WHAT IS MAL WILLIAMS DOING HERE AT THE HOSPITAL WITH YOU, MARTHA?
HE DROVE ME HERE WHEN DR. MORGAN BROUGHT YOU IN BY AMBULANCE, FATHER!
YOU MUST STAY AWAY FROM MAL WILLIAMS, MARTHA! HE'S BEEN TRYING TO POISON ME!
NO ONE'S BEEN TRYING TO DO ANY SUCH THING, FATHER! YOU POURED THAT WINE SPECIMEN INTO THE BOTTLE OF TONIC WHICH DR. SIMPSON PRESCRIBED!
WHY DIDN'T YOU TELL ME THIS, MARTHA?
I--I DIDN'T HEAR YOU COME IN, DR. MORGAN!

STEVE, POTBET'S BOYS WON THEIR FIRST GAME!... WHAT HAPPENS NOW?
TONIGHT THEY PLAY THE WINNER OF THE MILL CITY-OBERDEEN GAME!
MAY WE GO TO THEIR DORM AND CONGRATULATE POTBET WITHOUT JINXING THE TEAM?
THEY'RE PROBABLY TOO KEYED UP TO KNOW WE'RE NEAR!
I WANT EVERY MAN TO LIE STILL AS A STICK AN' SOAK UP ALL THE ENERGY THE CLOCK WILL ALLOW...
EVEN IF THE PLAYER I INTEND T'GO STEADY WITH IS THE FIRST T'MOVE-I'LL CHANGE MY MIND AN' BE AN OLD MAID!

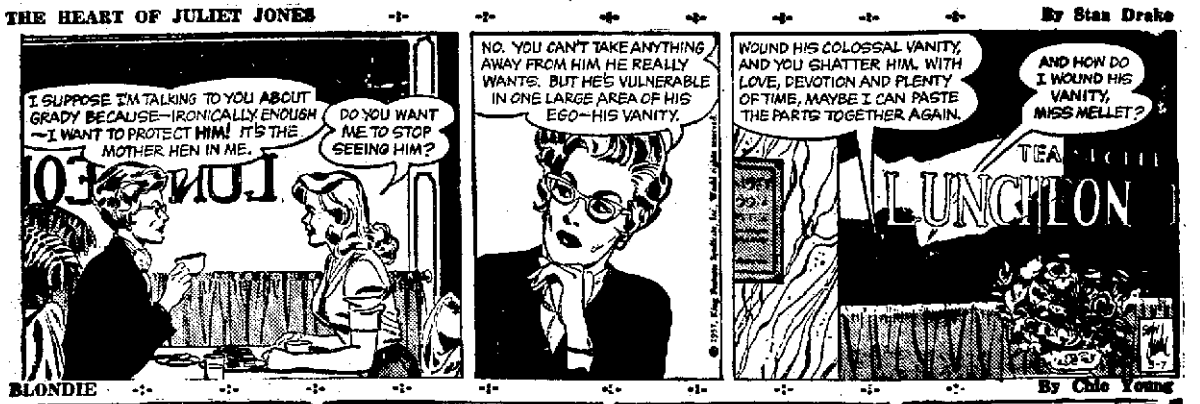
THE HEART OF JULIET JONES By Stan Drake



I SUPPOSE I'M TALKING TO YOU ABOUT GRADY BECAUSE--IRONICALLY ENOUGH--I WANT TO PROTECT HIM! IT'S THE MOTHER HEN IN ME.
DO YOU WANT ME TO STOP SEEING HIM?
NO. YOU CAN'T TAKE ANYTHING AWAY FROM HIM. HE REALLY WANTS. BUT HE'S VULNERABLE IN ONE LARGE AREA OF HIS EGO--HIS VANITY.
WOUND HIS COLOSSAL VANITY, AND YOU SHATTER HIM. WITH LOVE, DEVOTION AND PLENTY OF TIME, MAYBE I CAN PASTE THE PARTS TOGETHER AGAIN.
AND HOW DO I WOUND HIS VANITY, MISS MELLET?
